any-by, who seemed to have no knowledge that a hold-up was being staged near them.

None of the negroes was recognized, although it is stated that they were all very black and very tall—every one seemingly more than six feet in height.

Call Officers and Cody and Bullock were sent to the scene and made an investigation of possible places.

Within the last few months there have been a number of hold-ups, but this is the first time that a dry goods store has been victimized. The other places have been drug stores and cafes.

Charged With Sale Of Narcotics, Man Is Jailed in Macon

Macon, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) A. D. Faber, a former physician of Macon, who now claims Atlanta as his home, was arrested here late tonight by narcotic inspectors, who said they purchased, through an outsider, two drams of morphine from him and found two more on his person when they raided his room at a boarding house on Third street.

Dr. Faber's bond was fixed at $750, which he had not made at midnight. His preliminary hearing was set for October 12. The inspectors say the man they sent to Dr. Faber bought two drams of morphine from him, paying $25 for them.

Faber's name is not published in the Atlanta city directory.

The pyramids of Egypt are 28 in number and stretch for some 50 miles along the western reach of the Nile valley.

RETAIN MATHESON, TWO MORE MEN JAIL FOR PUCKETT KILLING

Trustees Meet Tuesday to Discuss Means to Keep Well-Known Educator at Present Post.

State-wide interest is centered in the meeting of the board of trustees of the Georgia School of Technology which has been called for Tuesday morning, at which the board will discuss the situation that has arisen with reference to an offer to Dr. K. G. Matheson, Tech's president, of the presidency of Drexel Institute at Philadelphia.

Dr. Matheson has not announced his decision on the offer, which would afford him more than twice as large a salary as he is receiving at Tech, and officials and those interested in Tech's welfare have been deeply stirred in their efforts to provide means to retain the services of Dr. Matheson.

They have drawn attention to the tremendous strides made by the institution under the direction of Dr. Matheson and have pointed out that his loss to Tech at this time would be a severe blow to the progress of the school. Heads of the board have appealed for strong action in retaining Dr. Matheson, and it is believed that every step possible will be taken to this end.

Notices of the meeting of the trustees have been forwarded to all members of the board with an urgent request that they make it a point to be present.

COUPLE ARE HURT IN AUTO SMASH

J. M. Willis, of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Myrtle Johnson, of Capitol avenue, were painfully cut and bruised when an automobile in which they were riding near West Pherson turned over after colliding with another car Saturday night.

Mr. Willis and Miss Johnson were taken to Grady hospital, where it was learned that their injuries, although painful, are not of a serious nature. Mr. Willis gave his address as a local hotel. The collision of the other automobile kept on going, although his own car turned completely over.

SHERIFF AND POSSE CLASH WITH KLAN

The paraders were gathering, having been told he could see the two men who were to lead.

The sheriff declared later they refused to give their names or to show their faces.

The sheriff demanded that the leaders remove their masks and give their names, or he would disrupt the procession, and someone's head would be cut off.

Then several shots rang out and the sheriff reeled as two bullets penetrated his arm.

KLAN TO GET REPORT ON SHOOTING IN TEXAS.

Officials of the Ku Klux Klan here Saturday night stated after an official report had been received of the details of the shooting in Texas, which led to the shooting, a statement probably would be given out.

Up to the present time, it was stated, while the Klan had received only a partial report, additional information was wanted at headquarters. A thorough investigation will be made, it is stated.

HEARING ON KLAN BY COMMITTEE.

Washington, October 1.—After a conference with Attorney General Daugherty, Chairman Campbell, of the house rules committee, announced today that public hearings by the committee on resolutions to investigate the activities of the Ku Klux Klan would be held Tuesday, October 11.

While Chairman Campbell declined to discuss the nature of his talk with the attorney-general and also with William J. Burns, head of the department of justice, he said the investigation, it was indicated, would be held Tuesday.

Formal notice will be sent William J. Simmons, imperial wizard of the order, and proponents of pending resolutions, calling for an inquiry by the house, to attend the hearings, with such witnesses as they might desire to present. In telegrams to senators and representatives yesterday Simmons asked for a sweeping investigation of the Klan.

Some opposition has developed among house members. It is said, to an investigation, on the ground that if one was deemed necessary it should be made by the department of justice. The rules committee will decide, however, whether action shall be taken by the house.

Investigation by the house judiciary committee of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, its officers, organizers and members, was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Dyer, republican, Missouri.

Two other resolutions providing for an inquiry into the affairs of the organization by special committees already have been introduced and it is expected the rules committee early next week will determine whether to go into the matter.

LIBERTY BONDS TAX FREE BANK STOCK

The full market value of all shares of said bank stock.

Contention in Case.

"The contention of the plaintiff in this case," reads a copy of the brief filed with Judge Hutcheson, "is that the tax sought to be levied by the state and county authorities is in truth and in actual fact a tax on the property of the bank and not a tax on the property of the bank as part of the property of the bank consists of United States Liberty bonds, that portion of the property of the bank is exempt from taxation under the provisions of the act of congress authorizing the issuance of said bonds and also exempt under the general provisions of the law making government securities exempt from local taxation."

Judge Hutcheson based his decision on a ruling of the United States supreme court in a similar case brought by the Home Savings bank of Des Moines, which declared that laws levying a tax on "shares of stock of state and savings banks and loan and trust companies shall be assessed to such banks and loan and trust companies, and not to the individual stockholders" could not be held applicable to Liberty bonds.

H. Warren Martin, president of the Lowry National bank, of Atlanta, in discussing the decision Saturday night, declared that it was one of vital importance to every bank of the state, and would be of nationwide interest on account of the question of taxation and the huge sum of money invested by the banks in Liberty bonds.

TWO MEN ARE JAILED FOR ATLANTA POLICE

New Orleans, October 1.—(Special.)—William Gilles and Charles Marks were arrested by Detective Maureau and Russo and Captain Hoyan, special agent of the Illinois Central railroad, as they got off a Southern Pacific train here last night and are being held as fugitives from justice from Atlanta.

When searched by the detectives a number of railroad tickets and hat tickets, several sets of dice, a put and take top and other paraphernalia for gambling were found. Both men said they were salesmen. They could not explain how they came in possession of the railroad tickets.

Atlanta police stated Saturday night that there was no record at headquarters of William Gilles or Charles Marks, arrested in New Orleans and held as fugitives from justice from Atlanta.

KU KLUX KLAN ANSWERS ATTACK

Asks Friends to Withhold Judgment Until "Full Reply Is Made to Malicious Lies."

Edward Young Clarke, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, in reply to sensational charges made against him yesterday in The Atlanta Georgian in connection with the collapse of the Atlanta Bible school and the Congregational Methodist Publishing company in 1916, gave out a statement last night asking friends of the Klan to withhold judgment until he can give "full and complete answer to the malicious lies that have been made against me."

Clarke meets the charge that he had been expelled from the First Congregational Methodist church of Atlanta, after trial on a variety of sensational charges with the statement that he has never been a member of any church but the Presbyterian. His statement follows:

"The additional personal attack on me by The New York World reproduced today in The Atlanta Georgian, does not surprise me. I am sure that the public has come to full realization that the purpose of The World in its untrue and low-the-belt personal attacks on me, are hoping by same to discredit the organization and trying to stir up interior dissension in the organization."

"I ask that the friends of the Ku Klux Klan withhold their judgment until such time as I personally or the organization gives full and complete answer to the malicious lies, both by inference and by direct statement that have been made against me. In the meantime as regards the latest attack it may be interesting for The World and The Atlanta Georgian to know that I have never been a member of any church, but the Presbyterian, which I joined when I was a boy, and to which I have held allegiance ever since. If one-tenth of the allegations made in The Atlanta Georgian of today were true, I would long ago have been in the penitentiary."

"So far as the people of Atlanta are concerned I am not at all troubled as to their attitude. I have lived practically my life here and the people of Atlanta know me through personal contact much better than any one else, and I am sure that the enemies of the Ku Klux Klan will not be able to make out their case against the Ku Klux Klan through bitter and malicious attacks on my personal character."

GAS TAX REVENUES RECEIVED SATURDAY

The first revenue resulting from the gasoline tax levied by the legislature last summer was received by Comptroller General William A. Wright Saturday in the form of two checks, aggregating $141,211. One check, from the Mutual Oil and Gas company, Savannah, was for $800.64, and the other was for $140,410.37, from the Campbell Oil company, Macon.

The amounts represented a tax of one cent per gallon on the gasoline retailed by the state since August 10, when the measure was signed by Governor Hardwick. Returns from other dealers are expected this week.

Comptroller General Wright estimates that the gasoline tax will net approximately $700,000 for the year.

PLAN MERGER RALLY IN KIRKWOOD MONDAY

Kirkwood's merger committee will hold a rally in the school house in Kirkwood at 8 o'clock Monday night, it was decided at a meeting of the committee Saturday night.

Citizens of the suburb, who voted against the merger, but who believe that the will of the majority should rule in the matter, are invited to attend as well as those who are favorably inclined to a union with Atlanta.

Talks will be made by leaders in the merger movement, and means whereby the attorneys representing the merger cause may best be supported will be discussed.

TRIAL OF HUDSONS SET FOR MONDAY

Difficulty Seen in Securing Jury for Trial of Couple Charged With Murdering Children.

Albany, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—When the case of the state vs. Glen Moore Hudson is called in Dougherty superior court Monday it is believed much difficulty will be found in obtaining a jury, and that the same thing will happen when Mrs. Beulah Hudson is arraigned for trial, the two being under joint indictment charged with the murder of the two children of Mrs. Hudson last July. Judge Bell has named W. H. Beckham and J. Welles Kieve, local attorneys, as Mrs. Hudson's representatives in the trial of her case. Hudson's family some time ago employed Claude Peyton to defend him, and under his advice Hudson has been refusing to discuss the case for weeks past.

At first both Hudson and his wife were very talkative. They discussed the case with many persons, but for weeks past the only expression that has come from Hudson was a card given out through his attorney about the case, in which he charged that he had been misjudged, and that repeated attempts to force him to make a confession had been made. Sheriff Tarver indignantly denied Hudson's charges, declaring there was not a word of truth in anything the accused man alleged.

Hudson and his wife are confined in separate parts of the Dougherty county jail, and he refuses to speak to her when the opportunity is presented.

JOHN D. WALKER REPORTED MISSING

Indictment preferred against him and Holmes jointly, but he has been advised that Walker's whereabouts cannot be ascertained.

Making Search. Efforts are now being made from this end to locate him. The attempts of the Hancock county sheriff to accomplish Walker's arrest are said to have been prompted by Solicitor-General Doyle Campbell, of the Ocmulgee circuit.

Friends of Walker in Sparta assert he will not be compelled to return under the indictment that has been preferred against him because charges against him being that he embezzled money and bonds from a national bank, state courts have no jurisdiction of the case because it is exclusively within the jurisdiction of the United States supreme court.

It is being further urged by Walker's friends that justice was used by those behind the Walker prosecution because of the present status of the case of Dr. R. C. Wiley and R. L. Merritt, bond commissioners, against the First National Bank of Sparta, Robert Holmes and the Third National Bank of Atlanta, which was decided at the present term of the court and which judgment was largely predicated upon Walker's testimony. In this case it was decided that Dr. Wiley and R. L. Merritt should recover from the defendants.

WALKER WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION.

All records of the old chain of banks operated in Georgia by John D. Walker, former president of the Walker Financial Company of Sparta, Ga., who was recently indicted by the Hancock county grand jury on charges of fraud and embezzlement, are in the possession of the attorney-general and will be placed in the hands of Hancock county officials if Walker is located and brought back to Georgia from Texas for trial. It was learned at the capitol Saturday. No hearing on the question of issuing requisition papers for the arrest of Walker has been scheduled by Governor Hardwick, but it was learned that attorneys for Walker will fight the granting of extradition papers. Walker, together with Robert J. Holmes, of Sparta, were indicted by the Hancock grand jury in connection with the operations of the Walker financial system, in which was involved the sale of municipal and county bonds and other securities involving more than $100,000. Walker left Georgia about five years ago. Holmes was former president of the Bank of Sparta, one of the Walker chain of banks. The sinking fund of the city of Sparta, amounting to about $20,000, was involved in the alleged embezzlement.

No Extradition Papers.

At the office of the governor Saturday it was stated that no extradition papers have been issued in the Walker case, and that no hearing on the question of issuing these papers has been scheduled. In statements issued through his attorney, Walker denied culpability in the alleged frauds. It was learned Saturday that an informal request for hearing in case requisition papers are sought has been filed with Governor Hardwick by relatives and friends of Walker.

Records of the operation of the Walker chain of banks was obtained by the state several years ago and are now on file in the office of the attorney-general. Some of the books of the Walker chain of banks are found among the records. It was learned.

25 PER CENT GAIN IN REALTY BUSINESS

cotton and the generally optimistic trend of public sentiment.

"In fact, we have advanced in our business—and I speak not only for our company's operations but the field as a whole from authoritative information—has been so significant that a 25 per cent increase during September over August and July is very conservative."

J. R. Smith, of Smith & Rankin, in announcing sales amounting to $118,150 closed during the week-end, stated that there had been a noticeable increase in transactions relating to investment properties.

"We never have had a general run of dependable business," Mr. Smith asserted. "We expect the coming months to show a decided progress toward normal conditions." Rentals showed an improvement in September, according to J. R. Smith, who there was an unusually good trend in the insurance field. "The building business has been property from Mr. Knox at 568 Marietta street, valued at over $100,000 and will establish a retail lumber company on the site."

was last year. And the same as it was last year, the building business was not so good as it was in 1920. When France demanded disarmament, contingents of all nations met in the city of Paris, and with all the energy I am capable of, the accusations of militarism that certain persons have brought against France.

"No one wants war less than France, because no one is so fit to live in peace as France. Germany practically is disarmed militarily, but there remains to be effected her disarmament in spirit."

There is no reason why both should not live in peace, for France wants in her security. Germany practically is disarmed militarily, but there remains to be effected her disarmament in spirit. In this spirit of loyalty and real patriotism that the French delegation is going to Washington to consider the naval disarmament, which in its way, has the same importance as the military disarmament. After declaring that France adhered without reserve to the proposals of the commission, M. Noblemaire continued: "France will propose that in the form and at the time accepted by the different governments the investigations conducted by the council of the league be practically and efficaciously. M. Noblemaire received an ovation on remaining in seat. The Belgian delegate, Paul Hymans, arose and expressed the profound impression which had been made by the French representative's speech. In this regard, A. L. Flahaut eloquently declared that the French speech of this assembly had produced nothing else than a great satisfaction. If this assembly had produced nothing else than a great satisfaction, the speech it would have justified its existence."

25 PER CENT GAIN IN REALTY BUSINESS

"In fact, we have advanced in our business—and I speak not only for our company's operations but the field as a whole from authoritative information—has been so significant that a 25 per cent increase during September over August and July is very conservative."

J. R. Smith, of Smith & Rankin, in announcing sales amounting to $118,150 closed during the week-end, stated that there had been a noticeable increase in transactions relating to investment properties.

"We never have had a general run of dependable business," Mr. Smith asserted. "We expect the coming months to show a decided progress toward normal conditions." Rentals showed an improvement in September, according to J. R. Smith, who there was an unusually good trend in the insurance field. "The building business has been property from Mr. Knox at 568 Marietta street, valued at over $100,000 and will establish a retail lumber company on the site."

Hardwick general manager of the Columbus railroad company, regarding construction work in this city this year, for the information of the home office of Stone & Webster, owners of various public utilities in this community.

The report shows a total of over $2,000,000 in new construction, but this includes about $2,000,000 of work begun last year and not finished until after January 1.

A wonderful amount of construction is now in progress in Columbus. A new river bridge, an underpass, street paving, sewer construction and three new school buildings comprise the major items of public improvement. Probably the residences are now under construction in different sections of the city and suburbs.

It has been decided to double the capacity of the six-story Swift-Kyle steel frame office building now under construction. The first unit of the building will be completed January 1 and the second unit will be started later.

The Dime Court apartment house, which has just been completed and the tenants are now moving in. It is a beautiful building, facing the public library, and with a view of the Chattahoochee river.

SERIOUS DAMAGE CAUSED BY 'QUAKE'

Buildings Are Wrecked, Mountains Riven and Land Slides Are Seen in Utah.

Salt Lake City, October 1.—Abandonment of all brick and stone buildings in Elsinore, a small hamlet 60 miles south of here, came today after three additional earthquakes shook this morning. Increased damage wrought by tremors Thursday and Friday. Additional shocks were recorded this morning at 8:27, 8:48 and 8:57. A school house upon which repairs were being made from damage wrought by Thursday's tremor was almost completely wrecked by this morning's shocks. Workmen fled from the building as the walls and roof began to crumble. Scores of dwellings were further damaged today.

Great white seams have been left in the nearby mountains by the fractured segments torn away from the high cliffs and flung in huge land slides to the canyon bottoms. All persons have been warned to keep out of the canyons. Streams from the mountains are said to be running blood red with oxidized shales from fissures by the successive quakes. At Richfield a near panic ensued. People ran from their houses, stores and offices. Chimneys were thrown down, windows were broken and cracks appeared in several buildings. One man was injured by falling bricks.

URGES ACCEPTANCE OF OFFER BY FORD

Washington, October 1.—Acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for the government-built Muscle Shoals (Ala.) nitrate plant and power project was urged in a statement issued here today by James A. Smith, of St. Louis, a member of the committee appointed by the Mississippi Valley association to investigate possible future uses of the Muscle Shoals properties.

Declaring that he holds no brief for the Detroit manufacturer nor any financial interests in his plan for operating the plant, Mr. Smith asserted in his statement that Mr. Ford was entitled to "a square deal" from the government and that "the United States can be relied upon to see that it gets it."

Just What Mastin's Yeast Vitamin Tablets Are—

Here is a simple test you will find well worth trying: First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Next take Mastin's VITAMON—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again and continue taking Mastin's VITAMON Tablets regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy.

By mixing with what you eat Mastin's VITAMON Tablets supply the needed vitamins which are lacking in your every-day food. They aid digestion and by acting in a natural way as a general conditioner of the whole system help to put on firm flesh, clear the complexion, correct constipation and increase energy.

Vitamins are wonderful health-giving elements found in many raw foods. There are three kinds of vitamins and all three are regarded as absolutely necessary for perfect health, vigor and proper physical development. By a special process of concentration a proper dose of all of the three known vitamins is contained in an active state in MASTIN'S VITAMON TABLETS together with other such valuable tonic ingredients as Calcium Glycophosphate, Nux Vomica and Peptonate of Iron.

What Vitamins are and why they are used as a basis for MASTIN'S VITAMON TABLETS

Yeast is rich in one class of vitamins—Water Soluble B. But most scientists say that yeast contains only one of the three vitamins Science has thus far discovered. There are two other known vitamins—Fat Soluble A—normally present in raw milk, cod-liver oil and certain plants—and Water Soluble C, contained in certain fruits and vegetables.

Mastin's VITAMON Tablets, containing all three vitamins, highly concentrated, are put up in convenient capsule form. They are easy and economical to take—they are in no way distasteful—Stores, Curtis Drug Store, Marshall & Penick, they will not upset the stomach—and they also keep indefinitely. Mastin's VITAMON Tablets are fully guaranteed in every respect and their thousands upon thousands of users can best attest to their health-giving value. If you are not entirely satisfied with the results in your own case your money will be promptly refunded. Be sure to remember the name—Mastin's VITAMON—on the original and genuine yeast-vitamin tablet.

There is nothing else like it, so do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON Tablets at all good drug stores, such as Jacobs Pharmacy, Cone Drug Store, Curtis Drug Store, Marshall & Penick, and delectable Drug Store, Light's Drug Store.

On Nameless Grave In Paris, Pershing Lays Medal Today

Paris, October 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—A battalion of American troops, the pick of the American forces in Germany, arrived in Paris tonight from Coblenz, virtually unnoticed, to act as a guard of honor for General Pershing, chief of staff of the American army, when he visits the congressional medal of honor on the tomb of the unknown soldier of France tomorrow morning.

The American soldiers and officers, 570 in number, also the guests of the French government, the enlisted men occupying the barracks at the French military school, while the officers are housed in the French military club at the school. Although this is the first time a large number of American soldiers have been in Paris since the victory parade of July, 1919, the arrival of the two special trains bearing them in a large, coal yard near the mill-tary school was void of demonstration of any kind. One French captain and four sergeants welcomed the American troops in the name of the French army. Tonight the Americans were given permission to see Paris. Virtually all of them accepted the privilege and the boulevardiers recalled vividly the sights immediately following the armistice.

General Pershing has pronounced the battalion as in every respect equal to the famous battalion, which accompanied him to London in 1919, and which military men in Europe proclaimed the finest drilled troops they had ever seen.

BOARD TO LINK ARMY AND NATIONAL GUARD

Washington, October 1.—Appointment of a board of officers to formulate policies governing "administrative relations" between the regular army service and the national guard during peace times when the state forces are not in federal service, was announced today by the war department.

Colonel Frank M. Rumbold, Missouri, and Colonel Frank W. Ward, New York, will represent the national guard on the board, both being on duty with the general staff in connection with militia bureau affairs. The regular officers assigned to the board and Lieutenant Colonel J. H. Bryson and John W. Gulick, and Major T. W. Hammond and J. C. Wilson, all of the general staff.

Announcing appointment of the board, Acting Secretary Wainwright said the department desired to emphasize every agency at its disposal to aid in the reorganization of the guard and development of "a close relationship and interdependence between the regular army and the national guard."

Parts of the board's duties will be to revise if necessary regulations governing recognition by the federal government of new national guard units.

Traveling by Auto. The president left Washington by automobile soon after 8 o'clock this morning and made the eighty-mile run without incident, arriving here shortly before 1 o'clock, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, Secretary Denby and Wallace, Brigadier General Sawyer, his physician, and Secretary and Mrs. Christian. They were met here by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, who had made the trip from Washington by airplane. Governor Westmoreland Davis, of Virginia; Major General Lejeune, the marine corps commandant; Brigadier General Smedley Butler, commanding the marines engaged in the maneuvers; Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of navy aviation; Chairman Butler, of the house naval affairs committee; and others.

A marine motorcycle guard met the presidential party twenty miles out and served as escort into camp, the president entering between lines of marines standing at attention while the salute of twenty-one guns added its din to the constant rattle of distant rifle fire from the battle lines of the maneuvering troops.

Ents at Mess. The party shared chow with the officers at their mess, using tin dishes and also their guests at dinner tonight. The president and Mrs. Harding spent tonight in a tent of several compartments, furnished with floors and other conveniences, which stood on the ground occupied by Grant's forces in the closing days of the civil war.

Among those whom the president took especial pleasure in meeting upon his arrival were several Confederate veterans who are holding a reunion at Fredericksburg and have been observing the maneuvers. And a number of Union veterans from New Jersey who are guests of the marine corps staff at headquarters.

Late in the afternoon after the maneuvers had concluded, President Harding went through some of the company streets and talked with the marines. Mrs. Harding visited the camp hospital and inspected its equipment with great interest.

After dinner the president and Mrs. Harding attended a motion picture show in a vast natural amphitheater lined with thousands of men who entertained them with songs. The night bombing experiments were then observed.

Forced to Sign Check, Doctor Calls for Help Despite Bandit's Gun

St. Petersburg, Fla., October 1.—Dr. T. H. Green, told the police to sign a check for $1,000, and made him start with him to the bank to get the money. When he reached the street, he said, with the man holding a pistol pointed at his head, the coat pocket, he yelled for help. A policeman responded and arrested a man after chase. At police station the man gave his name as Julian Phillips.

Weeks Asks Congress For Funds to Return Ex-Soldiers to U. S.

Barring From Moscow To Limit Punishment Of Gorky Committee

Riga, October 1.—The most serious punishment that will be inflicted upon the arrested members of Maxim Gorky's famine relief committee will be banishment from Moscow, according to American relief administration advisers from the Russian capital today. None of them will be executed, the advisers said.

SENATOR ATTACKS ORGANIZED LABOR

Nelson, of Minnesota, Blames Unemployment on Refusal of Labor to Readjust Wage Scales.

Washington, October 1.—An attack on union labor by Senator Nelson, republican, Minnesota, and a successful fight against a committee amendment which it was claimed would discriminate against American ships in favor of foreign craft marked senate consideration today of the republican tax revision bill. Senator Nelson declared that the workmen themselves were responsible for most of the unemployment over the country because they would not consent to a readjustment of wages. To the railroad workers he attributed part of the responsibility for present high freight rates, asserting that until there was a reduction in the high wages, and bonuses allowed during government control, the people could not hope to get cheaper transportation tariffs.

Referring to the threatened strike of railroad workers the Minnesota senator said he was getting tired of threats to tie up the transportation systems and thought there should be a show down.

He would call threat. "Let the people understand once for all what these men mean by threatening to strike," said Senator Nelson. "Let them understand that it means the stopping of food supplies and other essentials, want and starvation in our cities and towns and I venture the prediction that the American people will rise in their might and wipe these men from the face of the earth."

The Minnesota senator was opposing a house amendment to exempt the first $100 of income from investments of individuals in building and loan associations, which the finance committee struck out and which Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, moved to retain. The committee action finally was sustained. Senator Nelson said the slackness in the building industry was due almost wholly to high wages paid to workmen. If bricklayers, carpenters and other house building mechanics would "come down from salaries of $10 and $12 a day to $4 or $5 a day," the senator said, "it would be the greatest building boom that has ever been seen in this country."

Hefflin Replies. Replying to the Minnesota senator, Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, asked the senator why he did not take from the workmen now employed when some five million persons were out of work. He also urged that the republicans refrain from "taking the crumbs and tatters of last year's economy and the time of the Dives."

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, led the discussion of the provision of the committee bill, which would have exempted from taxation gross earnings derived by foreign shipping concerns from the operation of ships documented under the laws of the United States, which granted an equivalent exemption to citizens of the United States.

The Wisconsin senator contended that this would exempt foreign shipping companies from tax on their business done in the United States while American shipping companies would be required to pay a tax on their business. He also contended that it would deprive American shipping companies of the benefits of existing foreign trade agreements.

Denies Charge. Senator Smith, republican, Utah, for the committee denied that the section would cause American ships to change their flag and said that the best information of the committee was that the section would make it possible for uniform taxation of shipping concerns throughout the world.

Senator Underwood, of Alabama, the democrat, said that the only way to keep American ships on the seas was to meet discrimination with discrimination. "We cannot hope to keep our ships on the seas," he said, "by discriminating against them."

The senate accepted a contested committee amendment under which the head of a family would make a single return for himself and wife, irrespective of laws in her state, under which the wife actually owns half of the joint property of the marital community.

Senator Brodders, democrat, Louisiana, has an amendment pending to strike out the section containing this amendment, and this will come up later.

Voice of Capital Joins With Labor In Plea for Idle RESERVE BANK PAY

All Forces Unite to Push Emergency Program on Unemployment.

Washington, October 1.—Capital and labor joined forces here tonight, to give impetus to the carrying out through community organization of the emergency program for the immediate relief of the nation's idle wage-earners adopted by the national conference on unemployment. In an appeal to the business men and chambers of commerce of the country to actively support the program, Joseph H. Deftrees, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, declared that "business has a great responsibility in the situation, it must furnish employment."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a formal statement, expressed his confidence that "the trade union movement in each community will join energetically in the effort to assist in the task of providing work for the thousands who are idle."

Both Mr. Deftrees, and Mr. Gompers are members of the conference and assisted in drafting the emergency program.

Mr. Deftrees called upon the business men to offer the mayors in their communities immediate assistance in order to speed up the establishment of employment committees on national basis.

"The situation cannot be met without proper organization," he said. "It is primarily a community problem. The local business man through his organization, and individually should make every effort to meet the situation in their city. The existing unemployment presents a real problem, which must have immediate attention."

American labor, Gompers declared, would give its "wholehearted support" to the emergency program, which he said provided an opportunity for the co-operative action of all the agencies and institutions in each community to bring relief to the unemployed.

Gompers' Message. "Labor," he said, "will endorse every constructive feature of the report which the unemployment conference has accepted. Beyond question America can solve the problem of unemployment, if it undertakes the work in earnest. If mayors, communities, employers, manufacturers, dealers of all kinds and our people generally will undertake to put into effect the conference recommendations with the same spirit which they have manifested heretofore, the problem of unemployment will be solved."

Dissemination of the emergency program was undertaken today by the conference members. Many of them residing in nearby states have gone to their homes until the sub-committees begin the consideration of permanent unemployment measures next week and are expected to aid in the organization of the communities. Others from distant states are understood to be in communication with their local authorities urging the formation of the emergency committees and immediate initiation of relief measures.

DEMANDS DEFINITE MEXICAN SURETIES

Fletcher Is Quoted to That Effect in Reference to Recognition of Obregon Regime.

Washington, October 1.—Under-Secretary of State Fletcher was quoted by Representative Hudspeth, of Texas, today as saying in connection with recognition of the Mexican republic that "Mr. Obregon and his government must put down in black and white that all titles held by Americans shall be fully recognized and this must extend to states that have confiscated the lands of Americans for which they have issued state bonds that are not worth the paper they are written upon."

"The Obregon government has heretofore claimed that they have no authority over the states," the under-secretary continued, according to Mr. Hudspeth. "This is a misnomer. They have authority over states and must control the action of the states relative to American right. When we recognize Mexico, it is not for a day or month, or a year, but probably for many years, and we are not taking anything for granted, but everything must be reduced to writing, and must be recognized by the head of the Mexican government and its legislative body."

The Texas representative explained that he conferred with Mr. Fletcher on the general question of Mexican recognition, and received assurances that the Chamizal zone controversy has been kept "in mind at all times in negotiating with the Mexican government, and it is a part of the treaty stipulations." Commissioners will have to be appointed to settle it, he declared. The secretary had told him, adding that "if I control the matter, it will be settled right."

In reply to a question about the Mexican supreme court decision concerning the retroactive clause of section 2 of the constitution, Mr. Hudspeth said the secretary answered: "The supreme court decision only settles one matter and that one is that it recognizes the lease of the Texas company was prior to the enactment of this constitution; it is not precedent for other controversies of similar nature, such as our supreme court decisions are in this country."

No Bidders for Road. Nashville, Tenn., October 1.—Again there were no bidders when the Tennessee Turnpike, a road was offered for sale today under decree of the federal court and the sale was adjourned to December 1.

GREENSBORO WINS FROM WASHINGTON

Greensboro, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—Greensboro defeated Washington High school here yesterday afternoon in the opening game of the gridiron season by the score of 14 to 6. It was an interesting and closely played contest from beginning to end. Washington scored first when they bucked the ball across the local goal line. They missed goal. The Greensboro Tigers came back strong and scored a few minutes after when Lawton McCombs kicked left end for a 70-yard gallop across the chalked lines. Lewis boot of the oval through the bars. Alabama Senator Demands Probe of Big Salary Increases by N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank.

Washington, October 1.—A demand that the republican majority in the senate investigate increases made recently in the salaries of officials and others in the New York Federal Reserve bank, was made today by Senator Hefflin, Alabama. Reading from a list showing that $1,800, $2,400 and $4,000 a year salaries had been raised to $12,000, $15,000 and $25,000, Senator Hefflin told the senate it was an "outrage," that there should be such a "digging into the funds of the people," when a great army of unemployed "marched through the land."

Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, interrupted to call attention to salaries paid by the shipping board. He said there was a $150,000-a-year board of operations to tell an $84,000-a-year shipping board how to operate the government merchant fleet; that there were experts at high salaries to tell other experts what to do, and that there were highly-paid lawyers to tell highly-paid lawyers how to interpret the law.

Ship Board Advice. Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, told the senate he had received a request from a business man in his state as to the possibility of chartering a shipping board vessel to carry a cargo of freight from Texas to the United Kingdom ports, and he had referred the request to J. B. Small, a "$30,000-a-year director of operations."

He had been told, he said, that the inquiry should charter a British ship rather than an American vessel because the British steamer would give a lower freight rate.

Resuming his address, Senator Hefflin launched into a vigorous attack on the republicans, asserting that not one of them had protested against or demanded an investigation of the increases in the salaries in the New York Federal Reserve bank.

Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, replied that senators could not be held responsible for the increases and that there was no law governing the situation. He added that he had called the matter to the attention of the federal reserve board, and that undoubtedly an inquiry was being made.

Senate Seats Sold. Declaring that the senate would hear more of this and other subjects later, the Alabama senator went on with his attack, charging that Wall street was the "devilish source from which came republican campaign funds" and that "money flowed like rivers" in the recent senatorial election in New Mexico.

The speaker also charged that a seat in the senate had been "sold on the auction block in Michigan."

"I haven't time to discuss the case now," he said, "but go read the testimony and see if seats in this body cannot be bartered."

PACKER EMPLOYEES BALLOT ON STRIKE

District Council Secretary Announces Strike Vote to Be Taken on Wage Cuts Saturday

Omaha, Neb., October 1.—Packing employees throughout the country are to vote on the question of striking to prevent reduction in wages,

according to J. W. Burns, Omaha secretary of District Council, No.
of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America.

"The vote is going to be taken next Saturday," Mr. Burns said, "to find out if the men are willing to leave their jobs to protect their interests against lower wages started by Morris & Co. and which will be followed by the other big packers."

"OPEN SHOP"
ISSUE CLAIMED.
Chicago, October 1.—Strike ballots are being mailed to the organized employees of the larger packing plants of the country, but the vote will not be on acceptance of arbitration of wages, local union leaders said today. While reluctant to discuss the matter, they indicate that the vote would be on whether a strike should be called if it was found impossible to obtain the union recognition demanded of the packers who recently inaugurated an open shop system with a method of employee representation in the affairs of the companies. All of the "big five" except Morris and Company announced this policy some time ago.

Butcher workmen's union, at an international conference held here August 15, authorized its executive board to negotiate with the packers on an agreement with the employees and working conditions to take the place of the "open shop" agreement, which expired September 15, and to take such action as seemed necessary if negotiations to this end failed.

Union officials were unable to reach an agreement with the packers and the purpose of the balloting Saturday, Mr. Burns said, will be to find out what the rank and file want, before any strike order is issued by the executive board.

PLANS ANNOUNCED

The entire district, doing the heavy machine work several times a year.
This maintenance work by the state highway department will not only release the counties from upkeep of the state system of roads, but will also put this entire system in a passable condition 245 days of the year. It is estimated that about 68 per cent of funds derived from automobile license fees will suffice for state maintenance work, leaving 40 per cent of this fund for use of counties in matching federal aid appropriations.

According to figures of the state highway engineer, Georgia has at present 90,000 miles of roads, of which 5,000 miles are included in the state system, while the remaining 85,000 miles are roads of the various counties. While the state system is as regards mileage, but little over 8 per cent of the total roadways of Georgia, state roads, it is estimated, reach about 85 per cent of the people of Georgia. This, of course, makes traffic over the state roads correspondingly heavy,
with the result that maintenance work thereon has been a large item on road budgets of individual counties. With the taking over by the state highway department of this duty to upkeep, it is believed that country's ability to take care of the "feeder" systems of roads will be greatly increased.

It is frankly stated by State Highway Engineer Neal that maintenance is a hobby of his, and that he believes in keeping roads in good condition rather than developing new highways and allowing old ones to go to decay. Nevertheless, new construction has been going on in Georgia and will go on along with the maintenance program which will keep existing highways usable the year around for the motorist, the truck driver and the farmer bringing his crops to market behind a mule team. Just now state highway forces are winding up work on 200 miles of paving and 900 miles of sand and clay roads, as well as finishing many large bridges, both concrete and steel. This is the completion of the $2,000,000 program left over from the years 1918, 1919 and 1920, and it is expected that about the close of 1921 the state of Georgia will see the word "maintained" written to the preparation of the federal aid bill.

Under the Dowell bill providing federal aid for roads, $2,025,000 will be Georgia's share, one-third of which will be available immediately on passage of the measure, while the rest will be available during the months' time. Counties of the state have funds ready to match these sums from the Uncollected Tax for dollar. It is believed that the Dowell bill will become a law in the near future, so Georgia will be able to start the new year with a sum of $4,050,000 in round numbers for building roads during this period. Surveys and plans are ready for this work
as soon as the federal aid is appropriated, and it is believed that the new highway system of the state will be completed.

While Georgia is building and will build a number of miles of paved roads, the vast majority of the highways will always be dirt roads, Mr. Neal believes. For that reason, he thinks it behooves those interested in highway development to study out economical methods of keeping dirt roads passable every day in the year, winter and summer, dry weather or wet. The highway department, he says, is working out a definite plan for the upkeep of county roads at a minimum cost in this connection Mr. Neal cites the example of Wisconsin, where the highway department took over the road systems for maintenance about five years ago. The result has been that one can now drive his car in comfort over the entire 6,000 miles of Wisconsin roads.

Linking of Roads.
Another feature of the work of the state highway department is the linking of the state system up of roads in Georgia. While the department has done work in preparing every county for the state system, it has been done on a definite plan with a view to connecting up the highways into a continuous network. The effect of this policy can now be seen, said Mr. Neal, in long stretches of the state highway system. The linking of the state highway system is now being completed. By January, Mr. Neal believes, motorists can drive in comfort on the Dixie Highway from Tennessee to Florida.

Another interesting bit of road linking to which Mr. Neal calls attention is that from Atlanta to Asheville, N. C. A new road has been completed from Atlanta to Dahlonega via Gainesville, while a fine section has been constructed from Blairsville south to the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains, leaving a gap of about thirty miles from Blairsville to Dahlonega. He this gap has ceased to exist. Mr.
Neal says, there will be a continuous stretch from Atlanta to Atlanta, as the North Carolina highway commission has let contracts to construct the road from Asheville to the Georgia line.
The Asheville-Atlanta highway, it is pointed out, would be a favorite road for the tourist colony at Asheville to use in making motor trips to points farther south.

Construction of Bridges.
Great strides have been made by Georgia in the past few years in bridge building, declares Mr. Neal.
When the world war started, he says, it would have been impossible for the United States to have sent an army on foot across the state on account of the weak condition of the bridges across the three main rivers in the interior of the state, the Flint, the Ogeechee and the Savannah. The bridges were unsafe for ordinary traffic, to say nothing of an army with heavy artillery, trucks and tanks. Since that time, however, there have been constructed over all these streams large concrete and steel bridges, capable of standing up under the heaviest equipment of any army.

The state of Georgia has actually completed and under construction thirty bridges of permanent nature, nearly seven miles of these bridges having been constructed in the past year.
This, it is pointed out, is a measure of real economy. The biggest expense counties of south Georgia have been under is the maintenance of wooden bridges, it is the way Mr.
Neal puts it.

Georgia Ranks High.
Some idea of road work in progress in Georgia may be gained from the fact that the state is third in the union in money expended for federal aid. This includes the period from 1914 to 1920. In eighth federal road district, which includes the states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and South Carolina, Georgia has in round numbers, done as much work as any three of the other states put together.

"Fast or Feat."
On the subject of federal aid, Mr.
Neal states that the great merit of this plan is that it makes appropriations for road work by counties and states more systematic.
One of the things that keeps up the cost of highway work, in the opinion of the engineer, is the uncertainty of appropriations. Sometimes there is practically no road work done because no funds are available; then the stream of money is turned loose all at once and what has to be done as it were, on the spur of the moment. This system, or rather lack of system, tends to increase greatly overhead charges on road work, it is claimed.

State highway departments must keep engineers on the payroll who are idle because of lack of funds to prosecute work. The same applies to men who furnish materials for road building in the shape of stone, gravel or machinery. Quaries have to be shut down when road work is suspended for lack of funds, and re-opened again and fill rural roads when money for these undertakings is forthcoming. Gravel men and machinery makers are confronted with similar conditions.

It is estimated by Mr. Neal that as high as twenty per cent might possibly be saved in cost of road construction if appropriations were regulated with certainty and the prevailing regime of alternating periods of famine and plenty be done away with, so that overhead expenses could be reduced to a minimum.

The undeveloped state of America's chemical industry, due to the country's dependence on Germany for medicines, is said by experts to have cost 100,000 to 150,000 lives in the influenza epidemic, when the German supply of medicines was cut off by the war. American chemists have since evolved arsenamine, a treatment for pneumonia.

"Now," said the professor of chemistry, "under that combination is gold most quickly released." The student pondered a moment. "Marriage," he answered. "Marriage," said the professor, "is the only way to get the gold out of the mine."

WARREN HARDING WILL BE INVITED TO VISIT MACON

Macon, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)
An effort will be made to have President Warren G. Harding come to Macon for the second day of the Georgia State fair, on October 28.
The President will be in Atlanta on October 27 and committee are already at work to bring him here on the following day.

When President Harding passed through Macon just after his election, he was extended a formal invitation by the chamber of commerce to visit this city. In reply he expressed a desire, and a hope that he could come here sometime during his administration.

Should he accept the Macon invitation thousands of Georgians will be here to meet him. He would not be the first president to visit this city. Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft were the last to come here. Woodrow Wilson spoke here during his campaign for the presidency.

NEGRO CONFESSES COOPER SLAYING

Fires Four Bullets Into the Body of Prominent Gwinnett Farmer and Flees

Wesley Cooper, Gwinnett county negro, confessed slayer of W. A.
Cooper, prominent farmer and former president of the Bank of Grayson, is in jail at Fulton county today, where he is being held in custody, while sentiment in Gwinnett county, which was said to have become rather tense for a few hours after the shooting, has gradually subsided. The slain man met his death early Sunday morning at his plantation, just outside the city limits of Grayson.

Following the shooting the negro was pursued for over an hour by a quickly-formed posse, led by a sheriff. Bloodhounds were used in the hunt. He was finally captured near a number of years ago.
Immediately rushed to Fulton county to await trial for safe keeping.

The negro was a tenant on a farm belonging to Mr. Cooper and adjoining his plantation. The shooting is said to have been without provocation. With two bullets through his chest, Mr. Cooper was struck in the abdomen. Mr. Cooper died shortly afterwards at his plantation home.

Tenant Becomes Mangled.
The negro tenant is said to have been pulling corn on his farm when Mr. Cooper rode past in an automobile. Mr. Cooper is said to have suggested that the time was ripe to take the land from the negro early and remonstrated with the negro, asking him not to pull the corn.
The tenant then became enraged, reports state, and pulled out a revolver, firing the four bullets into Mr. Cooper's body, which was struck in the chest, abdomen and thigh. He fired the pistol to the ground a short distance away and fled, being overtaken later by the sheriff and his posse.

Cooper, the negro tenant, was well known in Gwinnett county, and was said to have leased the farm from Mr. Cooper for several years. His family is one of the largest negro families in the state, with sixteen children, three pairs of which are twins and one set of triplets.

Mr. Cooper, prior to moving to Gwinnett county several years ago, was a resident of Decatur. Last year he removed to Decatur, but early in 1921 moved again to Grayson. He was 52 years old at the time of his death.

Cooper, the negro slayer, is 50 years old and has been in Mr.
Cooper's employ for about five years. He worked for his employer while his home was in Decatur.
Surviving Mr. Cooper are his wife and four children. Funeral services have not been announced.

Frankly Admits Shooting.
The slayer, in jail at Fulton county, is stoically facing the situation. He frankly admits the shooting, but denies any motive.
In ordering him to "cease pulling corn and start picking cotton,"
he was unnecessarily harsh and that as he was being driven away, he thought Mr. Cooper was going after a pistol and would kill him.
The negro shot six times, the last four bullets taking effect in his victim's body.

Telephone reports from Grayson characterize the shooting as cold-blooded, stating that the slayer fired without a word of warning or intimation of his intentions, and that he had entered Mr. Cooper's backyard, raised his hands and asked the negro not to shoot again.
Nevertheless, reports said, the slayer shot and killed Mr. Cooper with a shot in the back and turning the negro dashed away into the woods.

TESTIMONY TAKEN AT TRIAL OF POPE

Witness Describes Events of Night When George Hickman, Theater Man,
Was Murdered.

Jacksonville, Fla., October 1.—
The testimony of Irwin Novitsky, material state witness, featured today's trial of John H. Pope, local actor, accused of murder in connection with the shooting to death of George H. Hickman by Frank Rawlins. The witness was on the stand during virtually all of the afternoon and the defense had not concluded its cross-examination
when the case went over until Monday.

Three witnesses testified at the morning session and, although their testimony related directly to the killing of Hickman and the robbery of the theater of which he was manager, opposing counsel were extending in the development of the defense the remark. He and his wife then went to the second performance of the theater and were witnessing the show when the killing occurred. Later, about 11 o'clock, he continued, Pope returned his car, but expressed surprise in learning of Hickman's death. A few minutes later, when he and his wife were alone, he asked why Rawlins had been shot and was replied: "I don't know." He was approached by Pope the following day after Novitsky had been summoned to the coroner's inquest, he said,
and told not to mention his name.

Novitsky was also the subject of the grand jury investigation that indicted Rawlins and Pope, but no action was taken and he has been held in jail as a material witness.
At the outset this morning the defense announced it had no witnesses. This statement followed State's Attorney Frank A. Wideman's denial that he had a written warning from Rawlins. Rawlins had implicated Pope in statements, he said. Repeated clashes between Madame and Assistant State Attorney W. A. Hallows, Jr., brought about a recess. The witness, who is the aged mother, recently betrayed by the death of her husband,
Darwin of London, son of Charles
Darwin, the great naturalist, and
Dr. Lucien March, of Paris, eminent French statistician.

ALLEGED SLAYERS RUSHED TO MACON
Officials Still Search for Negro Believed to Have Murdered Forsyth Man.
Bloody Shirt Found.

Macon, Ga., October 1.—George Clark, one of two negroes named by a coroner's jury at Forsyth today as the slayers of C. H. Winn, and three other blacks arrested in connection with the case, were rushed to the county jail here at 9:30 o'clock tonight to prevent a lynching.

Forsyth, Ga., October 1.—Officers investigating the killing of C. H.
Winn, a well-known white man whose body was found yesterday in a shallow pond, found today a bloody shirt concealed in a mattress and a bloody sheet among a pile of rags at the home of Maude McMurry, a negro woman. The woman and her daughter and Dudley Wright, a negro, are under arrest. Winn's body was found by Will Phinney, a negro, who they believe wielded the ax.

Winn's body was found by small boys who saw his arms extended above the surface of the water.
The body was crushed and the body enclosed in a crocus sack and weighed down.

Negro Shot.
Quifman, Ga., October 1.—Ray Newsome, a negro, was taken from the H. A. Woods farm, near Pinetta, Ft. Lee today, and was shown he as he was either turned loose or escaped from the car. He was accused of insulting a white girl.

Gives Recipe For Producing New Shakespeare

Forest of Arden Filled With 99 1-2 Per Ct. Pure Youths and Maidens All That's Needed.

New York, October 1.—Given a forest of Arden with 99 1/2 per cent pure youths and maidens, science can produce another Shakespeare.
"It is a case of geniuses are both born and made," said Dr. Frederick Adams Woods, of Boston, Friday.
"It's all a matter of physical and mental aristocracy. Take 'Who's Who,' the Hall of Fame, and royal families; all of them are geniuses because when the ancestry is traced you find a pure stock of exceptional people."

The second international congress of eugenics, before which Dr.
Woods is presenting his researches in genius, aims to find a way out of the forest of Arden scenery and make geniuses under normal, everyday circumstances. Scientists from Europe and America are conferring on the means of building up the mind of the human race by the aid of a little medicine and a little better breeding conditions.

Heredity, the bugbear of scientists, is up for complete examination. The eye is the museum of heredity," said Dr. Lucien Howe, of Buffalo. He has been experimenting with heredity blindness and hopes to find the secret of overcoming this human handicap. So far his experiments have been successful with rabbits.

The eugenists have not only investigated family histories and the peculiarities of rabbits, but also the tiny one-celled animals from which all life grows. One of the obstacles of life, according to Dr. H.
S. Jennings, of Johns Hopkins university, is the "unhappy environment." If we can overcome it, he believes, the race may become more efficient.

In his laboratory, Dr. Jennings has controlled hundreds of generations of one-celled animals. He believes he has changed the form of the offspring by changing the surroundings. If his experiments can be applied to mankind we might get ready-made chorus girls and handsome Apollos. "It will be a long time before we'll be able to do that," Dr. Jennings said. "But in the meantime we may be able to strengthen families and make them look better. Of course, by 'meantime' I mean within a few hundred years. It's no easy matter to change the form of a living organism."

Dr. C. C. Little, of the Carnegie institution of Washington, explained the changing of living organisms was easy. "But when it comes to man the influence must be all-powerful. There are so many other factors besides heredity that must be taken into consideration," he said.
The congress opened its sessions in international affairs. Among those present were Major Leonard
Darwin of London, son of Charles
Darwin, the great naturalist, and
Dr. Lucien March, of Paris, eminent French statistician.

Divorce Granted Wife of Shippey, Poet-War Worker
Kansas City, Mo., October 1.—
Mrs. Mary Wadsworth Shippey Thursday night "burned the funeral pyre of her love" for Lee Shippey, well-known poet, whom she lost to Madeline Babin, French girl, with whom she was billeted while in war work overseas.

Immediately after obtaining a divorce from Shippey late Thursday, Mrs. Shippey left the courtroom on crutches for home where she burned
the presents Shippey sent her from France, a blouse, which she declared was made by Madeline, her husband's "little love in Arcadia," who later followed him to America and became the mother of his child.
Shippey and Madeline are now living in Tampico, where he is secretary of the chamber of commerce.
"I kept the blouse as evidence," she said. "I will wear it as the funeral pyre of my love for Lee. I guess I won't live much longer
now."

$100 Monthly Alimony.
In addition to a divorce, Circuit Judge Johnson also gave Mrs. Shippey, a former Kansas City newspaper woman, custody of Henry Lee Shippey, the Shippeys' young son, and $100 a month alimony.
Oto Higgins, attorney for Shippey, objected to $100 a month alimony granted by the court, saying that Shippey's sight was impaired and he needed consideration because of that fact.
"If he is financially able to support another woman and a child, as the testimony has shown, he is able to pay $100 a month alimony," Judge Johnson replied.
"I loved my husband dearly and

GEORGIA
On October 11th, the University of Georgia puts on a campaign to raise One Million Dollars. The campaign closes on November 11th, Armistice Day, and is named in loving tribute to her sons who gave their lives in the great war.

The fact is appreciated that the State University is a child of state, but at the same time it is realized that on account of the financial conditions of the State of Georgia it is impossible to maintain the University on the appropriations of the University, to ensure that in order to carry out the functions of the University, to encourage and support the principles of religion and morality, to place the youth under the forming hand of society, that by instructions they may be molded to the love and virtue of good order, something must be done by the alumni to meet the growing needs.

To supply the most fundamental of these needs, the University of Georgia is asking its alumni and friends for One Million Dollars.

FIRE CHIEFS' MEET TO OPEN TUESDAY

Elaborate Preparations Made for Big Parade.
Social Features Inter-
perse Business Sessions.

Fred Houser's famous rallying cry, "Let everybody sing," has been changed for the nonce to, "Let everybody decorate."

Atlanta has special occasion and special reason for laying on thick the decorations in honor of the opening, during the week of Monday, October 10, of three big events,
which are as follows:

The annual convention of the fire chiefs of America, otherwise known as the International Association of Fire Engineers of the United States and Canada; the annual convention of the National Association of Railway and Millfire Commissioners, and the annual session of the Southeastern fair.

Speaking for the Atlanta Convention Bureau, of which he is secretary, Houser called attention Saturday to the fact that next week will be one of the biggest in the number of visiting people since Atlanta became known as the leading convention city of the south.

The fire chiefs' convention, for which all preparations have practically been completed, after an immense amount of detailed work by numerous committees, will open Tuesday morning, October 11, with a parade of fire-fighting apparatus.

March on Parade Lane.

Forming at the Anasay, which will be hotel headquarters of the convention, the parade will march down Forsyth to Marietta street, east on Marietta to Edgewood avenue, east on Edgewood to Gilmore street, and thence to the main entrance of the Auditorium, where the opening session of the fire chiefs' convention will be held at 10 o'clock.

Chief Beavers and an squadron of mounted police will head the parade, followed by a brass band in a monster automobile truck, then by Fire Chief Cody in his "red devil" car with Chief John J. Healey, of Denver, president of the association;
Chief Frank G. Reynolds, of Augusta, first vice president, and Chief
C. W. Rinker, of Minneapolis, second vice president.

Other fire chiefs who are officers of the association will follow in the automobile of the assistant fire chief;
then a long line of automobile fire-fighting apparatus representing an investment of nearly $250,000; then a car containing Mayor Key, of Atlanta; Mayor H. F. White, of Ann Arbor, Mich.; and Mr. M. Ashby Jones, who will deliver the memorial oration at the convention, and Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, who will deliver the invocation; Sherwood Brockwell, of Reno, Nev., who will deliver the address of welcome for the south, and Chief Peter E. Walsh, of Boston, who will deliver the response.

Following these will be a car containing the above named officials, and after them 50 cars containing prominent Atlantans who are to take part in entertaining the fire chiefs.

In Big Convention.

The fire chiefs' convention will be one of the largest and most important in a year signalled by 263 conventions already held and 21 yet to

TO ARGUE CASE OF TELEGRAPH COMPANY FRIDAY

Argument by a brilliant array of counsel will begin next Friday, October 7, at 10 o'clock, in the case filed by Judge John T. Pendleton on the suit filed by the Western Union Telegraph company against Brown & Randolph owners of the Transportation building, against the Transportation Life Insurance company, which has a judgment of $40,000 against the building owners, and against A. V. Gude and company, who have a suit for $250,000 against Brown & Randolph, to enjoin the defendants from selling the property.

The Western Union has a twenty-year lease on half of the building, and asks that the court stop the sale of the company for the satisfaction of the life insurance company and the Gude company, on the ground that a new purchaser could raise the rent or force them out as tenants. The Western Union says that the sale should not be made where the leaseholders' rights have been taken care of and contends that a sale can be made

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR S. B. CHAPMAN TO BE HELD TODAY

Assistant Fire Chief S. B. Chapman, who died at his home, 111 falling in a fire in a vacant building on West Peachtree street, Saturday, will be buried Sunday afternoon in West View cemetery. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock in the chapel of Harry O.
Poole, pallbearers will be Fire Chief Cody, Mayor Key, J. B. Cas-berry and J. S. Shaw. He is survived by his widow, and daughter, Mrs. Robert M. Reiser, of Superior, Iowa.

Mr. Chapman plunged to his death down the shaft while groping through the smoke on the third floor in an effort to find a window. He had rushed into the building with the first of the firemen.
He suffered a broken back, broken leg and fractured shoulder blade. He died two hours after being rushed to Grace hospital in Chief Cody's automobile.

A member of the fire department for nearly twenty-five years, Mr.
Chapman was considered one of the bravest and most reliable firemen in the city. He was not only widely known among the city officials, but also the love and esteem of the firemen in the fire department. Prior to his connection with the fire department, Mr. Chapman was connected with the Atlanta police department.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF CITY OFFICER IS BOUND OVER

Jim Davenport, the negro accused in the slaying last Friday of Municipal Marshal Howell Parker and who was arrested five days after the shooting, was bound over to the state courts at a hearing in recorder's court Saturday, on a charge of murder.

Two negroes were surprised shortly after noon last Friday, in the act of ransacking the residence at 310 East Linden street, Deputy Parker, in company with Deputy Marshal Grubb, were in the vicinity on duty and were notified that the negroes were burglarizing the home. They rushed to the scene and Parker was shot by one of them as they leaped from a window and escaped. He died two days later at a local sanitarium from internal hemorrhage.

HOW ABOUT YOUR STOMACH?

If Acid, Sour, Gassy, and You Bloat or Feel Stuffed Up After Eating Try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

The stomach may be rather sluggish in digesting the food you eat eat for breakfast and the delicious croquette and salad for lunch. On top of this a soda collection is apt to add to the indigestion. It is a good rule to follow each meal with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to avoid dyspepsia results due to eating and drinking. Should the stomach sour, with watery-brash, and the peculiar gasiness due to indigestion these tablets bring relief because they supply the alkaline effect to the stomach and thus offset the acidity of such dyspeptic conditions.

It is well to know this and not deny yourself the pleasures of the good things to eat and drink through fear of indigestion. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale in all drug stores at 50 cents a

Who Is "The Bat?" Thrilling Mystery Play Sure to Set Atlanta Guessing

SCENE FROM "THE BAT."

Mysterious, terrible, diabolical in his cleverness, devilishly ingenious,
"The Bat" furnished New York its wildest thrill.

A criminal of the most desperate type, who will kill without the least compunction and to whom torture is but a game, he kept the American metropolis guessing as to who he was? Where is he? When and who will be his victim? There are those who know, but they are keeping the secret—probably from fear of the consequences.

The same mystery that has had all New York guessing will give Atlanta a test for "The Bat," one of the great hits in New York. The play, which has been running at the Atlanta theater, beginning Monday, October 3, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Miss Cornelia Van Gorder, a wealthy spinster of New York, and all the members of her household will remember all their lives one terrible night, when thunder crashed and lightning flashed, the moaning winds enveloping her home like a deadly hand. That night "The Bat" struck.

Miss Van Gorder had rented the fashionable country home of Courtleigh Fleming, a banker, who was reported to have died recently in Colorado shortly after a deficit of $100,000 was discovered in his bank.
Jack Bailey, cashier of the bank, disappeared.

Then came the night of horror.
Miss Van Gorder and an elderly servant, Mrs. Rinehart, were alone.
Crazily, madly, Oujia manouvered over the board, and then started to run. She was sitting alone in the "bat." Miss Van Gorder picked up an afternoon paper and read in the headlines: "Police baffled by
"bat."

Dale Ogden, Miss Van Gorder's niece, came to the room with Dr.
Wells, a well-known young physician, who had taken her to a country club dance.

There was a sudden crash and the sound of broken glass. A stone threw through the window dropped at Miss Van Gorder's feet with a note of doom. "Police baffled by
"bat."

"Take warning. Leave this house at once. It is threatened with disaster, which will involve you if you remain."

The door bell rang and Billie, the Japanese servant, announced Detective Anderson. Wells pleads with Miss Van Gorder and Dale to leave the house, saying it was not safe, but Miss Van Gorder failed to be convinced. She said "good night," left the room.

As Dale stood with her back to the door, she slipped the matchbox out of her pocket. He then remarked that there was no match in the box. Dale offered to get him some.
No sooner had she left the room
than he ran swiftly to the terrace door and unlocked it. He was thumping back at the table when the girl returned.

After Anderson had started out to inspect his room, the missing bank cashier, her sweetheart, who was in the house in a hidden room and
he tried to locate it.

Dale explained why Miss Van Gorder had employed Anderson to come to the house. Bailey said the warning notes, which the spinster had received, meant that money was in the house in a hidden room and
he tried to locate it.

"Bully the Jan?"

"Yes," said Bailey. "May be the Jan?"

After Bailey had tipped out of the room, the missing bank cashier, her sweetheart, who was in the house in a hidden room and he tried to locate it.

door and Richard Fleming entered.
He found a blueprint in a case of papers and tried to find the hidden room.

Struggle in Dark.
A struggle in the dark. The blueprint torn. A revolver shot. Fleming fell dead!

"Oh, I didn't do it," cried Dale in an agonized voice as everybody came into the room.

Anderson picked up the revolver.
"Then, who did?" he demanded.
"And who is he?" pointing to the dead man.

"Richard Fleming. Some one shot him. Somebody on the staircase," Anderson insisted he had been all over the house and could find nobody.

The house phone, known not to be connected on any outside line, rang. Miss Van Gorder picked it up, surprised.

"The house phone," she said. "But we're all here . . ."

Sound of Groaning.
She answered the phone.
"Hello! hello!" she cried.
"It is terrible."

When Anderson took the telephone, he could hear nothing. He accused Dale of the shooting, on account of the empty chamber, on the ground that he had fired the revolver once.

"That Jan rang that phone," the detective insisted. "I do not agree with Miss Van Gorder that this murder culminated from a series of mysterious happenings."

Then what is the significance of the anonymous letters?" inquired the spinster. "Of the man Lizzie saw going upstairs?" Of the ringing of that telephone?

Terrorization.
"By whom?" from Wells.
"I imagine by Miss Van Gorder's own servant," he pointed to Lizzie.
"By that woman, who probably wrote the letters. By the man Lizzie saw going upstairs. By the Jan, who goes out and rings the telephone."

While the entire household was discussing the mysterious case, a hand slipped through the lower section of a French window. A knock sounded at the terrace door. Lizzie answered the door and staggered back fearfully.

"If it ain't human, it's dead," she wailed. "If it's human, we're dead."
"It" fell through the doorway.
The unknown stumbled into the room and sat down. He was a young man. On his forehead was clotted blood. A rope dangled from his wrists and ankles, indicating that he had been bound.

He appeared to be in a daze. While Miss Van Gorder, Wells, Dale and Bailey stared at the newcomer, Billy, the Jan, pointed, there, clear and distinct,
was a black bat spread on the door.

A systematic search of the house was begun. The hidden room and the million dollars were found. Also another murdered man, the murder occurring no earlier than that of Richard Fleming. They found the bat.

Dodging in and out, he eluded them for sometime. They knew he was one of their number and each was under suspicion. Finally despite his cunning, he was surrounded. Tighter, tighter, stretched the cord around the criminal. The "Bat" made a final effort to escape. "The Bat" was—

Roberts Rinehart has been able to transcribe is combined in "The Bat." Written by Mrs. Rinehart and begin a week's engagement at the Atlanta theater, beginning Octo-

There is one unwritten law about
"The Bat." Made a law by the request of the producers. That is that those who have seen the play: not tell anybody else who really is
"The Bat." That law has been faithfully obeyed by all audiences who have witnessed the play.

Who is "The Bat?" He may be Billy the Jan or Dr. Wells, or Anderson, or Bailey, or Fleming, or a lawyer friend of his—or the unknown.

Yes, who is "The Bat?"

New East Atlanta Engine House Will Open Wednesday

Contingent upon the city council's appropriation of the necessary funds,
the new engine house at Metropolitan and Flat Shoals avenues, in East Atlanta, will be opened Wednesday, with much ceremony. The whole community is expected to turn out and welcome the ten firefighters who will be assigned there for duty.

It was originally planned to throw open the doors of the house yesterday, but council has not yet acted on the financial matter. As Chief Cody decided that it must be postponed until after council acts.

The personnel of the house will number ten, five of which will be on duty at a time. Captain William Key, No. 12, will be in command and will be assisted by Lieutenant
P. L. Thurman, of No. 13. Driver
C. B. McWilliams was reared in the block in which the house is located, while John Fitch also comes from that community. The others will be Private Harry Vaughn, of No.
4; O. L. Jacobs, of No. 7; Brand
Simmons, of No. 7; and three others.

Prompt action of council upon the recommendation of the finance committee is expected when it convenes Monday afternoon.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR ESCAPED CONVICT

City and county police officials were notified Saturday to watch for T. R. Hanes, a white convict who escaped from the Spalding county chain gang early Saturday morning.
Hanes is 40 years old, is 5 feet 8 inches high, and weighs about 175 pounds.

News of the escape was sent to Atlanta by Sheriff Hall Randall, at Griffin. Hanes had served three weeks of a twelve-month sentence on the chain gang. Saturday morning he was sent to a spring about a quarter of a mile from where a road gang was working and failed to return. He wore stripes but no shackles.

Robert Thomas, a 50-year-old negro, of 41-A Trayham street, is at Grady hospital with a crushed head, and the police are searching for an unidentified negro who struck him with a brick early Saturday night.
The assault occurred in front of Thomas' home. No motive is known for the affair.

HERE IS WONDERFUL NEWS!

"For years I was a diabetic sufferer," says F. B. Pappas. "I could not eat and my eyesight began to fail. I was in a very weak condition. Now I can eat three good, square meals a day."

Like thousands of sufferers from diabetes, Mr. Papas had been taking treatments in accordance with the old, false theory of diet, denying himself proper food, starved his body and gradually becoming weak, nervous and hardly able to see. But when he heard of Mr. Richartz, whose free "Get Well" is doing so much for ers from diabetes. It tells all about the wonderful preparation which eases out all the food you need without completely exploding the diet. "I starve myself or die."

If you suffer or know of any one with diabetes, write for this free book and "Get Well." It will be sent to you, write, postpaid and absolutely free. Address: M. Richards, 220 W. 42nd St., R-27 New York.

Golden Opportunity For South's Athletes to Grab Immortality

Stars of Last Year Are Missing in Large Numbers—Fame Awaits the Successors.

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF.

If there ever was golden opportunity for a young athlete of aspirations to step out and win into himself athletic immortality it is presented by the football season that the south is now facing.

In a long career of observing southern football, I don't recall a notable player who has disappeared from the scene in which as many football striders of Dixie as this year, and it is just as certain that there are just as many niches to be filled in football's hall of fame.

Each year as the list of graduates grows, the realization becomes more and more fixed that there never has been and never will be a team whose football place cannot be filled. Each year the sporting writers proclaim a new man the greatest who ever pulled on cleated shoes. In the minds of some old-timers at Vanderbilt the names of the Browns and Crags, Manier and Stone may bring up fond memories. Sewanee can recall its Henry Phillips, Ormond Simpkins, Skinny Ship and Lanier. Bob Whorters, a name that is secure at Georgia, with that of Kid Woodruff, Everett Strupper and Joe Guyon are not altogether forgotten at Georgia Tech. Alabama still knows legends of Burke and Vandergraff, while the players of Auburn can conjure up Pitts and Thigpen, Harris and Bide, John Davis and Sisco. Lane and some can go back to the stone age of Dutch Dorsey, Tick Tichenor and Billy Williams. Clemson recalls Vedder, Sinton and Little Maxwell, along with the ferocious Haney. And so on interminably, but all these stars of yesteryear are dimmed by the memories of men who only last season dashed up and down the field.

Casualties of the Season.

Let's consider the casualties of the immediate season. Think of the University of Georgia facing a tremendous football schedule without Buck Cheever. Last season Georgia possessed as formidable a set of forwards as the south knew. Mediocrity in the backfield alone kept Georgia from reaching tremendous eminence. Two years ago, however, marked Georgia's year of uninterrupted victory. They were the Auburn and Alabama games, Georgia won each by a lone touchdown. Buck Cheever scored the deciding touchdown in each battle. There is fame ahead for the young man who fills the ample shoes of Mr. Cheever.

Back's Successor.

Then what a chance for some young gentleman at Georgia Tech who can become a new Buck Flowers or a revised edition of Bill Fincher! Last season he believed that Fincher was about two-thirds of Tech's team of 1920 and that Flowers was the other one-third. The other was a unanimous selection for the All-Southern team. Flowers scored for Tech against Pittsburg. He ran wild against the big Auburn team, while Fincher was just as pulsant an individual in a less spectacular way. Their jobs will take a lot of filling. But they will be filled, and the men who fill them will be remembered for many and many a year along with the rest of Tech's immortals.

Then consider that the Tiger line men who will take the places of Uncle Emmet Sizemore and Patsy Warren. Auburn rested its claim to fame on the work of these two elephantine juggernauts. They made the Plainsmen distinctive. The ponderous Auburn attack was built about them for three years. They are among the missing this year, and their absence means opportunity.

Opportunity at Alabama.

Nowhere though does opportunity shine so brightly as at Alabama. One lone season there presents the chance to athletes to become the successors of Riggs Stevenson, the all-southern fullback; O'Connor, the deadly drop kicker; Lenoir, the red-headed lightning streak; and Sessions, the center who probably had football spirit more highly developed than any southern player since Al Lomb used to play the same position for Georgia Tech.

And there is no limit to the possibilities of development to athletes at Vanderbilt. Dan McGough didn't have much last year, and he lost a whole lot of that when Berryhill became a benedict and quit school.

There's another fine chance at Tennessee from which Buck Hatcher has passed. Furman will have its own college buildings to pay tribute to a new Speedy Spider. The boy who can equal Johnny Knox's record at Oglethorpe can have the university.

Throughout the length and breadth of the section opportunity extends open arms. And in a week or two more we'll know the boys who will grab it.

Champ Batter Yet Unknown

Chicago, October 1.—The champion batter of the American league may not be known until the last game has been played this season. The race has settled down to a nip and tuck battle between the Tigers and the Detroit Tigers, and his hard-hitting outfielder, Harry Heilmann.

The Detroit sluggers, tied a week ago, are separated by 1 point, according to the average released today, and which includes games of Wednesday. Heilmann is hitting .391, while his boss has an ark of .386, the former having participated in more games than the Georgia peach. Ruth is trailing the pair with an average of .380, a gain over his mark of a week ago of 2 points. Heilmann dropped 3 points, while Cobb lost 4. George Sisler, the St. Louis star, suffered a slight falling off in his stick work, but retains fourth place with .373, while Tris Speaker, manager of the world champions, is holding fifth place, with .355, a loss of 3 points.

Ruth cracked out two homers since the last compilation of averages, and now has a season's record of 58. The big Yankee slugger is far the lead as a run-getter, having counted 176 times, while his 203 hits have given him a total of 443 bases. Besides his circuit driven, Babe has slugged out 44 doubles and fifteen triples.

Rogers Hornsby, of St. Louis, is making a strong bid to be the first hitter to finish the National league season with an average above the 400-mark since the days of Delahanty, who, while with Philadelphia in 1893, topped the batters with an average of .408. If the St. Louis star, who is hitting .406, maintains his place, he will enter the National league hall of fame with such men as Burns, Chicago, who hit .402 in 1876; "Cap" Anson, Chicago, who finished in 1875 with .407; Stenzel, Pittsburg, who averaged .409 in 1890; Duffy, Boston, with .428, in 1894; Burkett, of Cleveland, who held the leadership in 1895 and 1896, with averages of .438 and .419, respectively, and Willie Keeler, who, as a member of the Baltimore club in 1897, had a mark of .417.

Ed Rousch, of Cincinnati, has made a great spurt in his hitting, and has .381, while McFerry, of St. Louis, and Cruise, of Boston, have tied for third place with .349.

GRAND CIRCUIT MEET TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Cleveland, Ohio, October 1.—The 1922 meeting of the Grand Circuit stewards will be held in Cleveland on Tuesday, January 2, according to an announcement today by Secretary Win Kinnard.

It is expected that the same tracks that had memberships in the 1921 circuit will again apply for dates.

TIGERS HAVE HARD BATTLE

Princeton, N. J., October 1.—Swarthmore gave Princeton a memorable fight today when these two teams clashed in the Tigers' inaugural game. The Black and Orange varsity finally winning, 21 to 7.

Swarthmore started off with a rush, running back the kick-off to Princeton's own forty-five-yard line. An exchange of punts and several penalties gave Princeton the pigskin on her own five-yard line.

Garity, however, got off around the end and carried the ball forty yards before he was downed. Louie a minute later ran fifty-five yards for a touchdown. Princeton kicked goal.

Swively shot a long forward pass to Louie in the second period and the Princetonian carried the ball over for his second touchdown. Princeton kicked goal. The Tigers got their third touchdown in the third quarter when Newby skirted the field for a sixty-yard run to the goal.

Swarthmore braced up in the fourth period and scored a touchdown. Louie landed a punt on the Princeton line and an eighty-five yard run through the whole Princeton team for the Princeton only touchdown just a few minutes before the referee's whistle ended the game.

KILBANE GOT PLEASURE OUT OF FRUSH WIN

Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champ, got more pleasure out of beating Frush and knowing that his former manager, Jimmy Dunn, lost $1,000 on the Baltimore box, than he did out of the actual verdict. "I like to prove to Dunn that he don't know anything about what I can do. That's the reason I yielded to him and asked him if he was satisfied after I knocked Frush out. Kilbane and Dunn are avowed enemies.

BROWN KNOCKED OUT BY BILL M'GOWAN

Dublin, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) Aaron Brown, 167-pound challenger of Bill McGowan, local national guard light heavyweight champion, was knocked out in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout here last night. A hard right which landed flush on Brown's jaw, sent him to the mat for the count. Three splendid bouts between light and featherweights and a battle royal came in the way of preliminaries. Pa Stribling, Young Stribling and Kid Zeck were interested spectators and each took turns at refereeing a fight. A crowd of 500 paid admission.

CLEMSON COLLEGE LOSES TO CENTRE

Danville, Ky., October 1.—Centre college won today from Clemson college, 14 to 0, when Bartlett crossed the South Carolinians' goal line in the second period and "Bo" McMillan duplicated in the third period. Bartlett kicked both goals.

TENNESSEE LOSES TO MARYVILLE, 7-0

Knoxville, Tenn., October 1.—An early season reverse was threatened when Maryville college held Tennessee to a 7 to 0 score today. A blocked punt allowed the Volunteers to score. The consistent ground gaining of Acton, Maryville half, featured.

Scoring: Tennessee, touchdown, Clayton. Goal after touchdown, Blair.

Kilbane vs. Chaney.

Johnny Kilbane wants to meet Andy Chaney, the other Baltimore aspirant for the featherweight crown, now that he has succeeded in stopping Frush. Tex Rickard may stage the mill at Madison Square Garden this winter.

Events and Purses for Circuit Races at Lakewood Announced

Automobile Race Program Will Be Announced Later, Say Southeastern Fair Officials.

If the entry list can be taken as any indication for the Grand Circuit program which is scheduled to take place at the Southeastern fair, during the week of October 17 to 22, the fastest meet ever seen on the Lakewood oval is assured.

Purses totaling $25,000 have been hung up by Secretary R. M. Striplin, of the Southeastern Fair association, and in addition to this there are eight events with added money. For the six-day card twenty-four events have been arranged, with three Grand Circuit races and one event open only to southern horses who have as yet not started in the select society of the big line, to make up the daily program.

The entries for the late closing events do not close until Tuesday, October 4, at which time they will be announced. All the races will be on the three-heat plan and the National Trotting association rules will govern.

The program for the entire week follows:

AUTOMOBILE CLUB ORGANIZED HERE

Club Officers Are Named and Headquarters Are Established in Ansley Hotel Lobby.

Frank W. Jarrell and Ernest W. Willett, who have been successful in organizing automobile clubs in different parts of the country, have begun the organization of the Atlanta Automobile club. They are working through the various civic organizations here. These organizations, as well as the business men of the town, realize the need for such an organization, and it is believed that sufficient interest has been manifested by civic and business organizations here to make the completion of the club an early probability.

At a meeting attended by representatives of the various organizations, P. Thornton Marz was named president; W. Tom Winn, first vice president; William Chandler, second vice president; and Julian V. Boehm, secretary-treasurer. At this meeting a constitution and by-laws were adopted. The annual membership fee has been set at $10. With the line-up of officers and with the services of Messrs. Jarrell and Willett, as promoters, it is believed that a large membership will be lined up within a very short time, and that the club will soon function as other automobile clubs in the various cities.

It is conceded by all that such a club, when its organization is completed, and it is operating a tourist information bureau, will be a big asset to Atlanta.

SPECIAL OPEN BODIES ADDED TO MARMON LINE

To meet the demand for a touring car that combines at the out-set many of the accessories and items of special equipment that the average automobile owner adds to his car over a space of several years, Mordka and Marmon company have announced three special types. These are known as the Marmon "24," seven-passenger special; Marmon "24," four-passenger special; and Marmon "24," special speedster.

These are the standard open cars in every respect save for the extensive list of special equipment, which includes the following: Special color paint, special fabric top material, Spanish leather upholstery, nickel-plated radiator bar cap, nickel-plated motor meter de-luxe, nickel-plated barrel type headlights and tail light, nickel-plated Harford bumper, spotlight with mirror, cozy windshield wings, sunshade of same material as top, automatic vacuum-operated windshield cleaner, rear-view mirror on windshield, cigar lighter on instrument board.

Additional features for the seven-passenger special include a double tire carrier, one additional wire wheel (making two in all), two extra chains and tubes and two tire covers. Both the speedster and four-passenger carry the extra equipment of two wheels, two chains, two tubes and two tire covers. On the four-passenger, there is a trunk, trunk rack and trunk, with nickel bars on the back of the body to prevent the trunk from rubbing against the body. The tires are mounted on each side in special wire wheel carriers sunk in the running board. For the speedster the tires are mounted on the rear of the frame. An unusual combination of colors has been observed on these cars which are being produced in limited quantities.

One of the castles in Delphi, India, has decreed that any member using intoxicating liquor is to be beaten fifty times with his shoes. His mustache is to be shaved off on one side and a fine of 5 cowries is to be imposed.

New Light Seven-Passenger Reo Touring

This new seven-passenger touring car strikes a new note in body design. It is small and light, yet has ample room and seating capacity for seven persons. It will be the standard Reo touring car. The low price announced on this model, as well as the change in body arrangement, has brought favorable comment from those who have seen it at the showroom of the Reo Atlanta company.

Motors and Highways Department Maps And Logs Ready for Free Distribution

Reprint copies of the eighteen tours and afternoon drives published in the motors and highways department of The Constitution are available for free distribution. Additional tours and road information will be published in the near future. This service within a few weeks will be revived and a general tourist and road information service will be added, so that it will be possible to get the latest information on all trunk highways, as well as all Georgia roads.

A new Constitution road map and log will appear next Sunday, and each Sunday thereafter. A Packard Single-Six touring car has been fitted out so that this information may be compiled with the greatest ease and accuracy, and these maps will again be a regular Sunday feature. They, too, will be reprinted and available for free distribution.

The maps and logs now available are:

HANSON SEPTEMBER SALES INCREASED

The sales of the Hanson Motor company during September showed a decided improvement over previous months this year. Many large shipments were made to Hanson distributors in the north, east and west, and Grady Dean, Florida distributor, ordered another trainload shipment.

Mr. Dean several months ago handled through his retail organization and his Florida dealers one of the largest trainload shipments ever handled by any southern distributor.

Nash Distributors to Attend Service Meet October 5, 6 and 7

Distributors representing the Nash Motors company in various sections of the country will gather at the factory in Kenosha October 5, 6 and 7 to attend the company's regular fall service meeting. The distributors will be accompanied by their respective service managers.

One of the most costly far garments ever made was the ermine mantle presented to the late empress of Russia, by a gathering of nobles, and valued at $600,000.

BANKING INSTITUTE DRIVE IS OVER TOP

Atlanta Raises Its Quota in Nation-Wide Campaign for Members.

The membership campaign to recruit the quota of 637 allotted the Atlanta chapter of American Institute of Banking, has gone over the top, and is expected to reach the 700 mark soon, according to latest returns of the intensive membership enrollment activities being waged.

The Atlanta movement has been worked in conjunction with the nation-wide drive to increase the membership from 44,900 last year's membership to 54,000 for this year. Robert Strickland, fourth National bank credit manager, was appointed chairman of the national membership, and under the direction of his committee many of the 87 other chapters all over the nation have reported having obtained their quota. It is expected that remarkable results will result from this campaign tant ended Saturday.

Every employee of local banks has been seen by the committee headed by Henry Cohen, of the Citizens and Southern bank, and the subcommittee stationed at each banking institution in the city. Two classes daily, except Monday and Saturday, starting from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., will be held during the coming week.

In the Berrien building, where the following subjects are offered: Commercial law and negotiable instruments, taught by Professor J. S. Troutman, local attorney and professor in the Law school of the University of Georgia; elementary banking, E. P. Sutton, of the Fourth National bank; advanced banking by Professor Denison, of the School of Commerce of Georgia Tech; political economy, by Professor Libby, Oglethorpe university. Other subjects to be taught are: Public speaking and debating, credits and financial analysis, and auditing and accounting. Competent instructors are being engaged to teach these courses.

Harry Johnson is president of the Atlanta chapter. It will be necessary to provide additional classes to accommodate the large enrollment. The Atlanta chapter obtained a greater percentage of enrollment last year than any other chapter. Official cognizance of this fact was taken at the national convention of the A. I. B. in Minneapolis in July, when Atlanta was awarded the honor banner.

TOWER PRISONERS WATCH POLICEMEN HUNT FOR BURGLAR

It is seldom that the inmates of Fulton Tower are treated to as much excitement as they witnessed from the north wings of the jail about 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Fifteen policemen and fifteen detectives answered a burglar call to the Atlanta Milling company, on Butler street next door to the jail. Ten of the men entered the building to search for the culprit and the remainder surrounded the building.

In some manner the man who had been seen to enter the building escaped before the cordon of officers closed in on him. During the raid the windows of four floors of the Tower were thronged with prisoners who seemed to take much interest in the proceedings.

Strangely enough the venom of snakes acts on man and the lower animals only when it is introduced into the circulation, as by a bite or an injection into the veins. Snake poisons could be swallowed with impunity.

PROGRESS IS MADE WITH DRAFT CASES

Twenty-three Men Imprisoned for Short Terms—Other Cases Dropped.

Considerable progress is being made in the disposition of cases of delinquency made under the selective service act, according to Gordon M. Combs, assistant United States district attorney, who has been assigned to prosecute violators of the draft law in the northern district of Georgia.

Within the past few weeks 38 cases have been terminated. In this number 23 men entered pleas of guilty, and the remaining 15 cases were not pressed. Those entering pleas of guilty were sentenced to serve from one to four days in the Fulton tower. The sentences were light because none of the cases represented flagrant violations.

Investigations into the hundreds of complaints now in the hands of the district attorney are being rushed by Mr. Combs and his assistant, Miss Frances Carroll. When inquiry develops that there is insufficient reason for prosecution action by the government ceases.

Since beginning the prosecution of draft violators, Mr. Combs states, he has found a surprisingly small number of willful violators in this district, and only in rare cases are the defendants actual deserters. In the majority of instances, the alleged violation consists of failing to return a questionnaire or failing to report for medical examination. Scores of letters sent to alleged delinquents have brought a steady stream of men from all sections of the northern half of the state to Mr. Combs' office in the federal building. Sometimes owing to a mistake in records somewhere a man charged with being a delinquent was in the army, probably overseas, at the time his questionnaire reached his home. When an affidavit setting forth such a fact is furnished, Mr. Combs recommends that prosecution cease.

The case against Nicholas Longfeather, a full-blooded Apache Indian, who has lived in Atlanta for several years, was dropped last week after he had shown by the statement of a small girl that he was away when his questionnaire arrived and he failed to get it. Longfeather is a well-known Atlanta landscape gardener.

Scores of letters sent to alleged delinquents have brought a steady stream of men from all sections of

J. V. FREITAG OPENS ADVERTISING OFFICE

Joseph V. Freitag, who for the past three years has directed advertising for Eisenman's, "The Daylight Corner," has opened an advertising service agency under his own name, with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building. Mr. Freitag, in addition to directing Eisenman's advertising from his own organization, has been appointed advertising manager for two large manufacturing concerns in Atlanta.

It will be recalled that a short while ago the honor of winning first prize for the best direct advertising at the Rochester convention of the National Association of Retail Clothiers was awarded to Mr. Freitag. He was awarded this same honor at the 1919 convention, and is the only advertising man in the retail clothing field to bring such honors to a southern store in competition with advertising from some of the largest retail institutions of the country.

Several months ago, Mr. Freitag originated for Eisenman's their magazine, "Spruce Up," which has met with such favor in the retail clothing field that he has already been able to syndicate this magazine to representative clothiers in several sections of the country.

Mr. Freitag is one of the ten original members of the Lions' club of Atlanta and is also a member of the Advertising club of Atlanta. He has already made plans to bring into his organization advertising specialists which will enlarge the scope of the Freitag service in Atlanta.

Splendid Faculty For Sunday School Session in Atlanta

A splendid faculty of Sunday school experts has been secured for the Atlanta school of methods of the Georgia Sunday School association, which meets this year at the Second Baptist church, October 31 to November 4 inclusive.

Every phase of modern Sunday school work will be discussed, and courses will include lectures each day on "the teaching process," "a study of the pupil," the Bible as a religious education. Conferences will also be held each day for workers with cradle roll children, beginners, primaries, juniors, intermediates, seniors and adults.

The faculty has been chosen from many sections of the country and represents the best of Sunday school specialists. They are Dr. H. Traile of Philadelphia, training editor of the American Baptist Publication society; Mrs. M. M. Hughes, Birmingham, elementary superintendent; North Alabama conference, Methodist church; Mrs. Phebe Curtis, Chicago, former children's division superintendent Ohio Sunday School association; Dr. E. LeRoy Dabbs, Charleston, W. Va., chairman adult committee International Sunday School association; Mrs. James Wood, Birmingham, superintendent children's division Birmingham Sunday School association; Dr. W. A. Shelton, Emory university.

POSTPONE CONTEST OF SAFETY ESSAYS

Notice of postponement of the national safety essay contest from November 5 to December 10, was received Saturday by M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of education, from the bureau of education at Washington, D. C. The essay contest is to be conducted in grammar schools of the country. Pupils in these schools are eligible to submit essays on the subject "Safety." Prizes amounting to $1,000 will be awarded for the best essays.

John J. Tucker, commissioner of education, wrote that the contest is being held to turn attention of children to the question of safety, with particular reference to the automobile situation existing in some cities where traffic is heavy near public school buildings. First prize in the contest is $500 and a trip to Washington; second prize is $250, and third prize $200. The contest was postponed because of the disarmament conference to be held in Washington.

DELEGATES NAMED BY LOCAL CAMP TO U. D. C. MEET

Commander J. H. Tucker and First Lieutenant T. C. Battle were elected delegates to represent Camp Evans P. Howell, No. 1325, United Confederate Veterans, at the annual reunion of the Confederate veterans to be held at Chattanooga October 24 to 27 at a meeting of the camp held Saturday afternoon in the office of Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries at the courthouse.

Charles H. Richardson and A. C. Harris were elected as alternates. The meeting of the camp was attended by a large number of veterans. The principal address was delivered by Belvidere General A. W. Wise, commander of the North Georgia brigade. Delightful refreshments were served.

Captain J. Hill Tucker, commander of Evan P. Howell camp, delivered a short address in which he outlined the plans for attending the reunion in Chattanooga, and discussed briefly the history of the camp.

The Evan P. Howell camp was organized largely through the efforts of Captain Tucker and is the first camp to be organized in honor of a Confederate veteran's organization, being completed in July, 1920. It was named in honor of Captain Evan P. Howell, commander of Howell's battery during the war between the states. Under the leadership of Judge Tucker the camp has steadily grown.

Judge Tucker came to Atlanta twenty years ago from Girard, Ala., where he served as a judge of a court there and also served as trustee of the Peabody school district of Alabama. He is a member of a Confederate veteran, but also a son of a Confederate veteran.

Judge Tucker announced at the meeting that he has appointed Miss Curtis Clay, of Marietta, as his sponsor. She will accompany the delegates to the Chattanooga reunion. Judge Tucker announced also that he had appointed Mrs. W. E. Lomax, of Kirkwood, as secretary and he of honor. She will accompany the camp to Chattanooga.

Evening Classes At Commerce School Begin Monday Night

With a large number of persons already enrolled, the Tech School of Commerce will open Monday night, when the first classes will be organized at its rooms, 18 Auburn avenue. Many more students are expected to enroll Monday, and Dean J. M. Watters has issued a special call to all prospective students to take up the work by the opening of the term to avoid loss of much valuable material by registering after the classes have begun their work.

In addition to professors and instructors from Tech who will assume charge of classes, many authorities in the business life of the city have been assured for special lectures. New men secured especially for the commerce classes include F. W. Merriek, advertising authority, who will have charge of the courses in advertising and salesmanship, and Clay C. Duggan, formerly of New York university, who will have charge of the accounting department. Classes are open alike to men and women.

Owing to special provision which and laboratories, there still remains has been made in a tech shop room for more students who desire to take up the work of the Evening School of Applied Sciences, which likewise opens its fall term Monday evening. Recitation hours are from 7 to 9 o'clock. In addition to the class in pipefitting and pipe calculations announced previously, classes will also be given in applied mechanics, mathematics, physics, chemistry, architectural drawing and other subjects.

VETERAN PREFERS REJOINING ARMY TO PRISON TERM

Sergeant C. E. Purdue, holder of three honorable discharge papers from the army and the possessor of a service record during the war, is going to re-enlist.

On he told Judge John D. Ham-

phires, of Fulton superior court, Saturday when the judge suspended a twelve-month sentence for alleged violation of the prohibition law. The judge gave him the chance he asked to re-enlist, and also to visit friends.

Sergeant Purdue had made in Chamblis during his service, at Camp Gordon with the 57th division.

It seems that Purdue, having been discharged from the army, was called here about five months ago to testify in a federal liquor case. While here, according to the evidence held by the government for Purdue's testimony, he was caught with liquor on his person and jailed. He has been in jail since that time pending trial.

So when he was called up Saturday morning to enter his plea of guilty, he stated his wish to re-enter the service. The judge considered his case briefly and finally told him to go ahead, that the twelve-month sentence was suspended if he would rejoin the colors. Purdue left, ostensibly for a recruiting station.

And Now! A New Light 7-Passenger Car at $1685!

Here is the most important announcement Reo ever made.

—for this is the greatest value Reo has ever been able to offer.

—and this is, we believe, the most advanced model ever turned out by any factory.

—this new light seven-passenger Touring Car will revolutionize design and set a new standard.

—and finally—its price establishes a new low level of prices and creates a new standard of values.

How has this been accomplished?—is your natural query.

How, in a car whose over-all dimensions are but little longer than those of its predecessor, have we been able to obtain so much more seating room?

For this most desirable result the Reo builders have actually accomplished.

How?—Why, by converting waste space into passenger capacity.

You will have to see this new Reo to fully appreciate the study, the ingenuity and the clever craftsmanship by which this has been accomplished. And when you do, your enthusiasm will know no bounds.

How often have you wished for a car that would, on occasion, hold seven?

Yet you would not buy a "seven," because up to now, a car of that capacity was an overgrown, cumbersome, unwieldy affair whose first cost was excessive and whose upkeep was prohibitively so.

There has been a great need for a car of moderate length, of light weight and hence of reasonable upkeep—yet with plenty of power and room for seven.

You have wished for such a car.

Reo dealers have asked for such a car.

Reo craftsmen have sought long and diligently for the solution, and striven unceasingly to produce such a car.

Finally, as a happy inspiration, it came.

And now the long sought, ardently desired, is available to you—at a price that not only is within your reach but which conforms to your idea of values—"The Gold Standard of Values."

It is logical that this advanced model should emanate from the Reo shops.

Pioneering is natural to "The Reo Folk."

Reo has long been known as the "School Master" in the trade.

Just a few instances of Reo pioneering—all of which, received at first in doubt and some with derision, finally became the standard:—

Side door entrance—One Lever, Center Control—Interlocked Clutch and Brake, Electric Starter:—

—Many methods and special machine tools that have revolutionized manufacturing were first used in the Reo shops.

And—Reo was first to put pneumatic tires on a truck—result, that mighty Speed Wagon which has revolutionized transportation and rendered practically every other type obsolete.

That Speed Wagon—which "Fits Every Business" and dominates the field regardless of carrying capacities—was just such an innovation as this.

History will repeat itself.

See this new Reo—you will be delighted with this light, snappy, flexible, beautiful 7-passenger car.

Size makes it ideal to handle on narrow roads or streets, or parking in tight places.

Upkeep and operation costs will be less than heretofore have been possible in a car of 7-passenger capacity.

Need we say this is a quality car? Being a Reo, it must be that. The very terms are synonymous.

Built for the connoisseur—for that select Reo clientele who appreciate and demand the best—this Reo possesses all the inherent quality—the "hidden beauty"—for which the Reo product is famous.

This is the handsomest touring model that ever came from the Reo shops.

Body design conforms to the very latest mode. Long, slightly-curved lines sweep gracefully from radiator to extreme rear—edges beveled, doors flush.

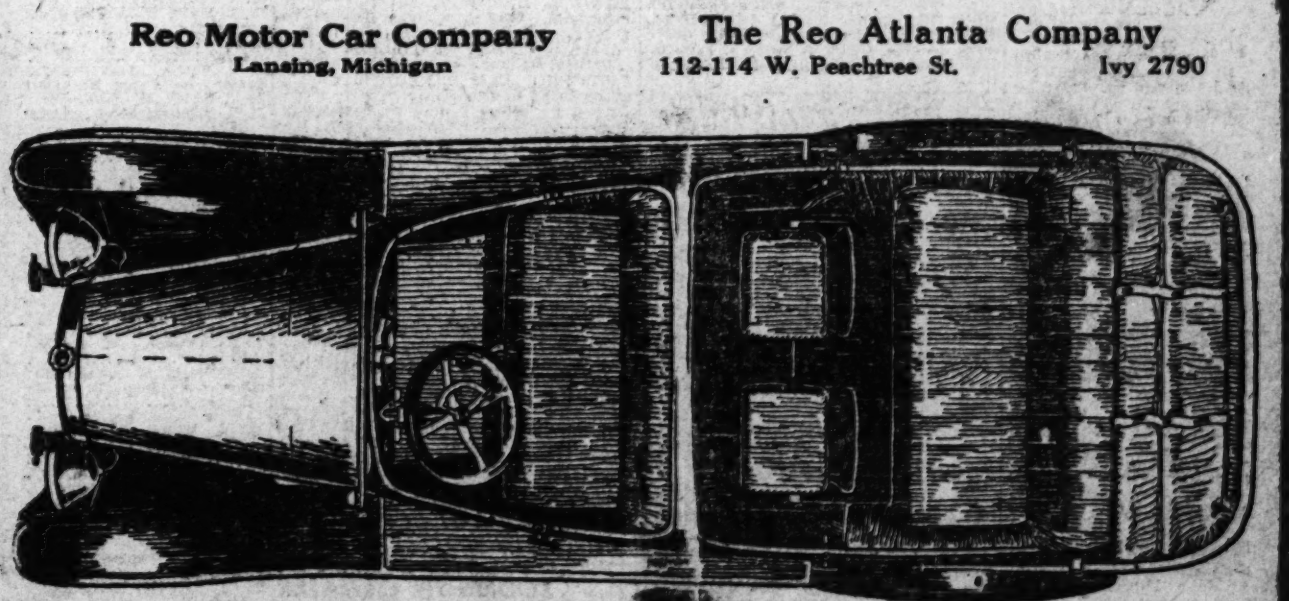

Power and speed and endurance radiate from this new Light Reo.

Viewed from any angle, it looks the lithe, sinewy, swift running thing it is.

A car of singular grace and irresistibly inviting. Ideal for its purpose—long, cross-country touring, camping—"Gypsying" with the entire family.

In a word, this latest example of Reo pioneering is the epitome of Reo experience, and pride of two decades of Reo achievement.

In confidence that it will meet with your enthusiastic acclaim, we present for your approval this New Light 7-passenger Reo.

"The Incomparable Six—the Six of 60 Superiorities"

Now Color Psychologists Design Our Sport Costumes

Want to Win That Tennis Match? Wear Bright Stripes—To Play Golf Like Chick Evans Wear Bright Green—Orange Is the Color for Football Players.

By Marjorie Wilson
Illustrated by Dan Rudolph.

Now comes the ubiquitous psychologist again into their own, that being the captured province of giving expert advice to us less-knowing ones about ways and means of adapting our human and susceptible selves to our problematic world.

"By color," they enunciate to us now, "shall ye win games."

"Wear orange to excel in football, garb of yellow to win the chess tournament. Don green for golfer's temper, white or sand for baseball, stripes for tennis, fish colors for diving, golden brown for billiards, ash-gray for bowling, blue-green for skating, scarlet for crap shooting. Nerve yourself to endurance and self-control; stimulate courage, energy, speed, mental activity; or quiet your human behavior." Let not your psyche attempt to evade it.

Coch Robert Zuppke, of the University of Illinois football team, started the new movement for a scale of colors for sports. He conferred with the Illinois psych pros. "No," they said, "the color of a team's uniform is the subject of the effect of different colors on the minds of football players, without them with the startling information that by all means the Illinois football players should wear brilliant orange jerseys instead of dull blue, as in the past." The psychology is to regulate the color of Coach Zuppke's team's sweaters. Orange for courage, for daring, for speed. Coach Zuppke's men should turn out to be ferocious little tiger lilies.

The University of Illinois having started the movement, other universities followed. The University of Cleveland has announced to a world waiting open-mouthed, that yellow, the intellectual color, the color of light, intensity and clarity, should be worn by ambitious chess players.

A Cleveland man now steps forth to take exception to the Cleveland color. He says, "where the best minds of Cleveland soar over chessboards innumerable to a rarified plane of thought from where the mind of a non-city club member would fall fainting, if ever chance it chanced to reach the storehouse of the Cleveland color, the point. Says he, 'Yellow is no color for chess. I would say, rather, a color in some sleeper tone. A shade that would lull the mind far away from actual physical surroundings. The City club has consulted the leading color experts and they have decided that the color of our chess boards have red, brown, chess and checker boards have red and white or red and black checks. We were assured that checks of gray and green would be easiest on the eyes and much less distracting than any other colors. The boards are of gray and green for this reason.'"

Other voices raised on the subject of colors for sports have been those of Tris Speaker and Fred Zimmerer. Zimmerer, who has been a professional baseball player for 15 years as well as possessor of a reputation as one of the greatest designers of scenery and costumes in this country, holds for sand and earth colors for baseball. Blue for chess. "I'm not much for bright colors, you know," he says. "I like a color that is located. If there was ever a game in which color would be out of place it is baseball. Complete absence of color would have the best psychological effect I could think of. Put me down in favor of white. Color all the time being of the modern decorative school, has decided on a brown the color of sand or a gray the color of earth as baseball's color tone. 'Take the color scheme of the sandlot, of the earth itself,' for your baseball uniform, he insists. Four players mind must be concentrated, poised, freed from all things extraneous to the game. An artist skilled in imaginative creation, Zimmerer was asked the other day what he thought of the Illinois football coach's idea of making his men better players by arming them in orange.

"That coach has a reason," declared Zimmerer. "I could think of nothing more effective in the game of football than orange. For golf there is but one color, in my mind, green. For tennis—stripes, up and down and colorful. Football is a game in which courage, spiritiveness, brave energy and determination are required. Orange, for movement, with a dash of yellow, is the color for the football player."

Stripes, up and down, for movement, with a dash of yellow, is the color for the football player.

Orange for the average football star; green for the glitzy elite and refinement of the game.

should wear bright colors to add to the pageantry, the picturesque, the gala look of the game, as well as to exhilarate the boys in the excitement and variety of color. The costumes should speak vividly of the holiday spirit of their wearers.

"I don't know whether archery is indulged in much around Cleveland. For that matter, archery would be fitting, perhaps even and gold.

"For an intellectual game like chess, there's blue. Blue for calm rationality. The chess player might provide himself with a blue robe to throw on over his ordinary attire when he sits down to the board.

"For gymnasium work, why not scarlet to rouse the phlegmatic to exercise? Blue for those who are too energetically nervous.

"For riding, habits of nature's green, of light-heartedness. A gum game is always a poor game and ineffective. The right color, chosen for their reaction on the mood of the player and for their symbolism, will be the best. The color of a game, to give all the benefit possible.

"Colors stimulate. Colors calm. Used rightly, they should provide the proper mental atmosphere for any sport. Zimmerer holds, billiards, a game requiring cerebral coolness in the extreme, Benjamin Franklin, art critic and editorial writer for The Constitution, has figured out golden brown as being fitting.

By buying a slugging-slug game where cart-horse qualities rather than those cal stripes to express an upwardness, a certain dancing energy. I would choose yellow and black, yellow for light and sunshine and black, purple the color of royalty.

"For basketball, on the other hand, a game played indoors, by two opposing teams in a comparatively small space, I would like to see the color of the team's uniform. The colors on the two sides should wear opposing colors to express their idea of competition. One team red, the other green. One purple, the other yellow; one blue the other orange.

Choose your own fish and model your swim-touch of color, blue or green. "If one prefers to take a sunbath on the beach, or jump the breakers, he or she tion are necessary. Orange is an inspiring color, a combination of the primitive colors, yellow and red. It excites.

"A flash of it down the field carries better than the yellow of a coward's cowardice. It would be the color to follow in the heat of the chase. Coach Zimmerer, by clothing his men in orange, will rouse his opponents to furious action, too.

"Orange is a color that cheers. It will bring a smile to the face of the most depressed and cheering on the sidelines.

"In contrast to football, though, consider patience, self-control, intelligence as well as skill. It is played on the green grass under the open sky. Green is its color, a bright green, bespeaking control and calm. A color that would react against nervousness and self-consciousness and loss of temper, faults fatal to good golf. Green also has a living quality. It is the color of life, of growth, of the links now, lack. By all means, the green costume for golf.

"Take tennis. Quickness, movement, litheness, snap, dash, a rubber ball elasticity, are necessary. I like the idea of wearing verticof the printer are essential, an anti-gray. So Zimmerer's color scheme is a free-for-all colors to sports goes on. It's a free-for-all. College, professor, athletic coach, artist, writer—any sort of a pseudo—may count himself incompetent enough to put forward his own theory.

and his own theory. "I don't know whether archery is indulged in much around Cleveland. For that matter, archery would be fitting, perhaps even and gold.

Here's an Explanation for the Nod

When the mother or father animal fed its young a morsel of food, a quick forward movement of the tiny head, with the mouth open, showed that the little creature wanted more. When it was no longer hungry it kept its head down and moved the head from side to side, thus giving the parent from. Even today it is natural for us to cough and sneeze a few times after we have eaten a few months' slightly when we nod "yes," "no," "perhaps" or "I don't know." It is the same as those our mother thrany where we mean "yes."

CONFESSIONS OF a PARIS GUIDE

Quill, and attractive Police Gray, contributor to Pagan and brilliant conversationalist. There were Roynsky, the pianist; Mayo Wedder, violinist; Zee Buckley and her husband, Joe Gollomb; Horriett Marsden, the dancer from New York; Henry Altman, the writer; Paul Swan, the dancer; Barney Ouliant of the Village Inn; Laurence Yall, and scores of others from all sections of the United States.

Then I led them to another champagne American in the Latin Quarter—a pathetic figure. Let me call her Mrs. Pittsburg, for Pittsburg is where she came from fifteen years ago when her eyes first rested on the bright lights of gay Paris. She was a wealthy housewife, so they all say.

Poor "old lady Pittsburg"! She spends most of her time drinking whisky in the cafes of the quarter, doing what she calls "travel the straight and narrow path." She is a missionary work among the gay living models that these Montmartre. There is a cafe we found her surrounded by model.

"Travel the straight and narrow path," she says. "Travel the straight and narrow path. If you want to be happy, my dear, she was telling them over and over again in her parrot-like refrain.

And the models laughed and shrieked with her and all sat down and had a drink together.

For fifteen years, I told them, "Mrs. Pittsburg" has been reforming people—only she hasn't reformed anyone in the Latin Quarter yet, not even the gay old Californian college professor, who has been here supposedly doing research work, but so far has been too busy having a fine time to do anything else.

All this time, I had shown them the sights of the Latin Quarter and babbled on cheerily about the interesting people—and not a word had been said about compensation. They were pleased, I could see, but how pleased I never tried to imagine till the older gentleman took out his wallet as we stood bidding each other goodby and pressed a 100-franc note into my hand. They also asked for my address.

One hundred francs! I was rich again. I, the amateur guide, had made 100 francs. What should I do to celebrate? Then and there, for once themselves, the students had joined them and the whole party would like to see the sights all over again. Would I come?

I returned that night from my second guiding party with 150 francs in new money, determined to become a professional guide. Not at once, not in a day or a week, but slowly and systematically, I achieved my ambition.

I began by showing my Americans around friends of the night before, some of whom had joined them and the whole party would like to see the sights all over again. Would I come?

This looks sufficiently innocent. And it is. But—My Dear! you should see the fountain at the time there were attend the ball go out to duck themselves in it.

regulated whatever smoke and aroma they could find in the school, and with these as protection against the morning breeze and the glances of the industrious people then on their way to work, marched easily off to the Cafe des deux Margots for breakfast.

Tired and frightened, I returned to my room and slept. Late that afternoon I was awakened by a letter from my Chicago friends of the night before, some of whom had joined them and the whole party would like to see the sights all over again. Would I come?

me to show them about other parts of the town, so I made it my business to find out about these other places. I studied the characteristics and characters of notorious Paris harder than I ever tried to study art, and it's proved to be a paying game.

Usually it is an American fellow citizen who says the bills, but he finds it worth while, for in return, I show him all the real intimate views of the gay, artistic bohemia, yes, even the wicked life of this strange, pleasure-seeking population, which together, forms Paris.

For Paris guarantees absolutely to live up to the reputation which musical comedies, bedroom farces and sensational novels have given to her. She anticipates, she fulfills, she exceeds.

the gods," so the managers of her hotels, restaurants and cabarets plot together, or singly, on ways and means for giving the tourist what he expects to find. Meanwhile the guileless tourist who wanders along the boulevards or supas in one of the luxurious restaurants where he gladly buys champagne for every pretty woman who flirts with him, thinks he is seeing something typically Parisian, whereas he is seeing a Paris cut and made to fit his expectations.

Sounds funny, perhaps, but those are the important identification marks of the shopkeeper, hotelkeeper, or street walker, up to the reputation which musical comedies, bedroom farces and sensational novels have given to her. She anticipates, she fulfills, she exceeds.

Now do I manage it? Simply when the party I offer to show the host of the party they aren't over, over, "Just make plain, whereas it really is to see the sights, and to see that they have not been underaged, then before retiring, I send in my bill.

Naturally if I were to cut Paris tomorrow never to return, the managers of the hotels and restaurants along the boulevards, the Cafe de la Paix, Cafe Americain, would be looking for a replacement. But, thinking you may be certain—the day the tourists come to Paris, South American tourists, dominating all these places will be found out of existence.

GENERAL TRADE SERVICE DEPARTMENT

THIS department has been established by The Constitution to assist buyers in locating supplies, and to help manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers to get in touch with prospective purchasers. Buyers should be careful to give specific requirements on the nature of their wants, and sellers should explain as fully as possible exact details concerning their offerings.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

The last week in September found trade conditions in Atlanta and its supporting territory in good shape. Wholesale houses were busy in every line, the road business being better than the house trade, but both much above the average for the past few months. Manufacturing lines, especially in ready-to-wear and men's goods, were unusually active with more orders coming in than could be comfortably handled. As a study in human nature more than anything else, it is worth noting that along with the return of business that begins to look like normal there was some gloom. Cotton was at the bottom of it. Cotton is the good old glad-hander and also the kill-joy when no other reason is handy. And why the gloom? Just because a lot of money has not started circulating in the 1919-20 season.

With the recent advance in cotton a lot of people got it into their heads that money was going to at once start running down the gutters—that silk shirts could be immediately brought out of the back end of the closet and donned again—and that the "good times"—the fake good times of the inflation period—were to be heaped on us once more. These people have been disappointed.

The increase in the price of cotton has meant more than one hundred million additional dollars to the people of the south, but there are a lot of debts to be paid when the money really gets in circulation, and there is no doubt that the common sense of the southern people will see that the debt paying is done before any foolishness is indulged in. Business is on a good sound basis and we will be kept there.

Are We Achieving Normalcy?

One of the best suggestions that has gone out to the commercial world recently is contained in a bulletin being mailed to merchants over the country by the J. K. Orr Shoe company, which reads as follows:

"Sixty days ago the anxiety was keenly felt that the south was facing the lowest price in a decade—barring only 1914 when war was declared and when we had a record crop. The short crop predictions have been repeated, but the price has been mitigated to a considerable extent by an advance in the price to about double the price which underlying conditions seemed to promise."

"Everybody and his neighbor have gone into debt, and this condition not only militates against the normal return to normalcy which President Harding holds out as our only salvation, but it also makes it impossible for the individual and the merchant to liquidate his debts. Therefore, it would seem that every rational consideration not only favors but demands the speediest possible liquidation of these debts on the part of the individual and the merchant; the individual first because until he pays the merchant the latter is helpless."

"An individual here and there may profit by holding cotton or if it goes higher—but the community suffers infinitely more than the occasional individual gains at a time like this. Cotton held now is 'frozen capital' on the other hand, its ready liquidation into cash and the corresponding liquidation of debts flowing therefrom would go far to restore normalcy and restore normalcy to anything else imaginable."

"The tonic effect on every character of enterprise would be inconceivably beneficial."

"We are sending this to our friends and customers whether they owe us or not in the hope that it may stimulate their own efforts, not only, but possibly be made to carry some appeal to those who owe them at a time when not even the smallest means should be neglected to place our section on a sound and comfortable basis."

Retail Merchant Has His Own Troubles.

Traveling salesmen may have their troubles these days, but that the retail dealer in the smaller towns have more than their share is the opinion of Arthur Whitteyer, one of the "sleazebags" of the John Silvey & Co. sales force.

"When we tell a dealer that certain lines will advance, or that they are on the upward price trend, he knows that we are giving him information that is for his benefit," says Mr. Whitteyer. "But let the local merchant tell one of his customers that something is likely to advance in price and he might just as well go out and wave a red flag in the face of a wild-eyed bull. People are sore on prices of every and any kind. One merchant told me recently that he was afraid to raise his prices any more, that unless he had something that could be sold at an actual bargain price he put his best lies in on selling the quality of the goods and letting the price talk go."

"All during the period of advance prices people got so used to being told that the price would be higher next time that when the peak was reached and prices began to slide they felt that they would never have to hear the old song again. The awkward situation now is that while deflation went to bed, there are others that have not got down where they belong. This irregularity is what has the public guessing. So the lot of the retailers these days is not an easy one. Price matters have to be treated gingerly, but frankly, fairly and honestly, and this is what the retailer is trying seriously to do. Such is my belief from daily contact with the retail trade in my territory."

Scientific Aid Assures Greatly Expanded Trade

Accurate and Timely Information Now Furnished by Bureau.

BY JULIUS KLEIN,

Director of Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

The United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce now is in a much better position than ever before to meet the demands of the foreign trade community for accurate and timely commercial information. Its Washington office, so pathetically undermanned in the past as compared with the field service, has been transformed by the creation of a strong group of commodity and technical experts.

In addition to the commodity divisions, the service of the bureau has been materially improved by the establishment of special offices to cover such important subjects as foreign commercial laws, transportation, communications and commercial practices. The demands for ready made upon these divisions for information indicate how badly this sort of technical assistance has been needed, especially because of the confusion which now prevails in many export fields.

Service Being Expanded.

The older divisions of the bureau are by no means being minimized. The commercial intelligence service which is concerned especially with the preparation of classified lists of foreign imports is being expanded. The regional or geographical divisions dealing with the Far East, Near East, Latin America, western Europe and eastern Europe are in process of reorganization. Ready made upon these divisions for information indicate how badly this sort of technical assistance has been needed, especially because of the confusion which now prevails in many export fields.

The better staffing of the home office and the strengthening of the bureau's district agency and cooperative offices throughout the country will insure a more scientific distribution of the bureau's work, and will make it possible to maintain a more consistently scientific and practical direction of the work of the men in the service abroad. If the corps of field men of this department is to be maintained at its present level, it is necessary to broaden the scope of the bureau's work, and to make it more scientific and practical.

Idea Born in the South.

"We could spend out lives advertising bread without ever selling the bread," said an experienced baker, giving, scientifically pure production, the power of a board of twelve practical bakers, selected from the enforcement of regulations.

It is indeed, a very ambitious undertaking and association leaders of many trades will be interested in the progress of the bakers' association, the pleaser bakers as well as the grandstand bakers.

The bakers started by changing their name from the American Association of the Baking Industry to the National Bakers' Association. They then covered a wide range in simplifying their efforts to better the industry. Their program, which was in the form of a new constitution, was the storm center of much attention while the regular convention program was pushed aside. Such trivial personages as national officers, the governor of a great state and the members of a large city's chamber of commerce were for three days kept cooling their heels while this matter was threshed out.

Some Bakers Affected.

So we have an understanding of just how much serious thought was given to the step to regulate the affairs of 10,000 bakers in this country. Many so-called small bakers were opposed to this attempt to subject them to drastic rules. Many so-called large bakers were in opposition to the whole idea of the association. With a little vertebrae front, they now plan not alone to advertise bread as the products of individual bakers, but bread as it is made by methods tending to "wholesomeness and purity."

"We could spend out lives advertising bread without ever selling the bread," said an experienced baker, giving, scientifically pure production, the power of a board of twelve practical bakers, selected from the enforcement of regulations.

It is indeed, a very ambitious undertaking and association leaders of many trades will be interested in the progress of the bakers' association, the pleaser bakers as well as the grandstand bakers.

The bakers started by changing their name from the American Association of the Baking Industry to the National Bakers' Association. They then covered a wide range in simplifying their efforts to better the industry. Their program, which was in the form of a new constitution, was the storm center of much attention while the regular convention program was pushed aside. Such trivial personages as national officers, the governor of a great state and the members of a large city's chamber of commerce were for three days kept cooling their heels while this matter was threshed out.

Some Bakers Affected.

So we have an understanding of just how much serious thought was given to the step to regulate the affairs of 10,000 bakers in this country. Many so-called small bakers were opposed to this attempt to subject them to drastic rules. Many so-called large bakers were in opposition to the whole idea of the association. With a little vertebrae front, they now plan not

WONDERS IN WASTE.
When one scientist warns us of the world's fast dwindling coal supply—that in something less than a quarter million years from now coal will have vanished from the earth—another holds out the hope of cooking and house-warming with sunlight.

Science proposes to make our aging luminary do a thousand and one great things to benefit this little old earth for millions of years before he gets in the dead star class, just as science is doing with what has long been considered waste products in the earth's unregarded material.

When one hope gives out as to various things which contribute to make life pleasant "down here," another comes to light, and we "keep going." There's really no end to the good things in store for us; they only await discovery and application to human needs.

The apparently worthless waste of waste products, and that flourish in sight of many a doer have yielded unusual properties of

When there was a dearth of dye stuffs, and in other important ways.

When occasion arises the farmers of the prolific west burn corn for fuel; and a corncob fire is not unknown "down south." But some years ago the corncob showed signs of "coming into its own" in other respects than pipe-making; and now it comes to the rescue of the dye and chemical trade.

In a Washington dispatch to The New York Tribune it is stated that:

"Department of agriculture chemists, in their efforts to find a use for the lowly corn cobb, succeeded in the first instance in developing from it a binder in the manufacture of fiber board and wall board. One of the analysts undertook some experiments with the residue left after the paste had been developed and discovered that it contained approximately 10 per cent. of high-grade furfural. Furfural is one of the basic needs of the immense chemical industry in the manufacture of the whole vast range of coal-tar products, ranging from dyes to photographic laboratory materials."

It is pointed out that chemical development in this country was retarded during the war "because of the German control of furfural," but that "through the discovery of the corn cob as a source for this chemical the American chemical industry will be able to manufacture it cheaply."

That is good news, indeed—of bringing waste to such worth in the world's work!

And it will be the same with other scrap-heap things as time goes on. Science is going to work world-material for all it is worth, making "every edge out."

That is the way it is going to be: We have still to discover the earth upon which we live!

TO MAKE "CHIPS FLY."
The only way to relieve the unemployment situation in this country is to create more demand for labor by increasing production.

If the Hoover conference, which has just adjourned its sessions in Washington until October 10, predicates its activities upon that broad assumption, then works to bring together and harmonize all of the various elements entering into production upon a give-and-take basis the chances are good that it will have accomplished something worth while.

As The New York Herald sees it, "there are two troubles, and only two, with this country today: inordinate taxes and prohibitive costs," which is largely true, and so long as this remains true it is idle to expect capital and labor and the buying public to get together upon a program of increased production, for, as The Herald goes on to say—

"Put the taxes higher and pile seven or eight billions of dollars more of running costs on the country and its whole industrial and business structure will go up in smoke. Then it will be more unemployment, not less; you might say nothing but unemployment."

But, says The Herald—

"If labor will work for a fair wage, if it will do a good day's work for its pay, if the government tax mills will stop squeezing the producers dry, if employer and employee shoulder to shoulder will get prices down to the consuming public—and they can go down only by getting costs down—there will be no unemployment problem, industrial deadlock and business stagnation. Under the irresistible economic laws all the productive wheels will begin running again. No other thing is needed. Get down to that brass tacks basis to day and tomorrow watch the chips fly!"

Here is a common-sense, practical, solution to the whole "unemployment problem"—the only there is no mistaking the swinging of the pendulum toward more conservative thought and action, and toward a greater amity among citizens, not only in political, but in all channels of life.

For many months the pendulum has swung far the other way.

There has been a fire of racial, creed, party and personal hatred burning in America such as never known before. It has been fanned by those of designing motives, and fed by the alignments of secretiveness and mystery—

But light is breaking through the darkness of prejudice! A better day is dawning!

Life and government are practical things; and in the plain, simple Golden Rule, the most practical of all the Biblical Sign Posts that mark the straight and narrow path, the people have a decree that means happiness and contentment, here and hereafter.

Let us hope we shall have more of it in government, and in civic life; and less bitterness, partizan-ship, strife and personal hatred and animosity.

PROSPERITY "AT HOME."
Editor Herrin, of The Tifton (Ga.) Gazette, says that the recent regular meeting of the Eleventh District Press association, at Pearson, was a revelation of home prosperity which surpassed all optimistic estimates.

These meetings are held three times a year, and they are getting larger, on average, of profit and pleasure to newspaper men, even from other districts, who take advantage of the occasion.

to get better acquainted with a mighty fine lot of genuine south Georgia folks."

Aside from the business transacted at the meetings, Editor Herrin well says that "the man who stays at home and does not circulate among his friends and fellow-citizens in neighboring towns is missing a lot of the good things of life."

A few items of evidence of home prosperity with which the city of Pearson greeted its editorial guests on the occasion referred to, are pleasantly enumerated by the Tifton paper—

"Huckleberry pie!
"Fried chicken!
"Roast turkey!
"Cake like mother baked!
"All things that go sweet!
"Huckleberry pie, in quarter sections!
"Home-plenty of every description!"

"Apparently," The Gazette adds, "there was no end to everything—home-supply prosperity was 'on dress parade!'"

And though the city of Pearson had the place of honor on the notable occasion, "Home Prosperity" is the word throughout all southwest Georgia.

The abundant and varied crops there will make it possible for the people of that section to live more than ever "at home;" home-money will not have to leave home another year for things the home-olives will be home-supplied, and great will be the selling surplus.

And that is the way it should be all over the splendid farming sections of the state—something of everything and plenty for all.

And, getting "better acquainted" with the prosperity—there is, by "visiting around," is an incentive to renewed effort for a still greater future home-supply.

HOW LAUGHTER HELPS.
When Charlie Chaplin scored with a wonderful home-coming reception the English newspapers gave various reasons for it, but all of them were well agreed that, aside from "personality" with his friends over there, the country was paying the debt it owed to the man that had helped the world with laughter.

In its early welcoming words to this universal favorite fun-maker, The London Times called him "A Clown of Genius," and said editorially—

"According to some standards it may be a small thing to have caused more laughter than any living man, though the business of laughter-making was not beneath the creator of Hamlet and Othello. Fabulous boots, indescribable trousers, ludicrous and wayward actions, have all, no doubt, their vulgar associations; yet, not so long ago, in the dark days of the war, they used to bring merriment to a world that stood in sore need of it."

Another English newspaper said in another way: "It was merry-making that sent men smiling to the battle-front."

"For that," says The London Times, "we owe the man more than the coins so many of us have spent in order to witness his varieties."

Great indeed is the world's debt to laughter—

"Rose-lipped daughter of Joy, whose every wayward wave drowns some fretful fiend of Care."

Asked what he liked best in "Hamlet," which he had witnessed for the first time, a pleased provincial replied, "That old gravedigger! He was a good one. He made us all laugh!"

Laughter is the great world-medicine—the prescription to "laugh and grow fat" never fails; and what chance would Trouble have with "Laughter holding both his sides?"

That's why a pleasant, smiling face means so much in this care-battered old world. It is like the good morning of the sunlight after a night of shadows.

And the more bright, smiling faces, the merrier life is for all!

We can't laugh through life, for it has times and places for tears; but neither need we go sighing through it; for there is the light of April laughter, whose very memory brightens life's "gray Decembers," and sets the heart a-singing on the way.

Population and Decrease in Great Britain in Grave
A Worse Situation Than That Period, Simonds Declares.

By FRANK H. SIMMONS.
 (Special).—The figures for the latest have just been announced, serve to emphasize them which population now poses for the statesmen a time when unemployment has reached millions and the European world, has been brought to realize a be no swift and easy recovery from the difficulties of the census figures for Great Britain reveal the fact that immediate and the secondary losses due to war, there has been a loss of nearly 2,000,000 in British population, and that human beings now live in England, Scotland and Wales.
 conditions in Ireland have made census-taking impossible, but at a point to a figure slightly above 4,000,000, thus making 10,000,000, the number of inhabitants of the British Isles.
 The population, almost half of that of continental United States, in an area of slightly more than 121,000 square miles, but Ireland, 42,767,580 inhabitants dwell on just about 88,000 square miles, which is only twice that of Pennsylvania. And despite the ravages of the war, this population has increased by only a little more than 100,000 in the past ten years, this increase, to be sure, due to a suspension of emigration consequent upon the war.

As at the political side of the coin of population, and the economic and henceforth, we shall be able in no time to explain British policy towards Germany, towards France. For it is the situation which has created the 100 million pounds in the narrow channel, Scotland and the North Sea. And, therefore, we shall be able to get a glimpse of the possibilities in transportation services. There was, next, the steadily mounting income derived from British capital invested abroad, for there had been in the past a surplus accruing to the British people after they had paid for their own food and raw materials. This surplus they had invested abroad and on it received interest, dividends, etc. At the moment when the war broke the British had made a big hole in the world and this was an important factor in their equation of existence.

But the war at one stroke wiped out more than half of the foreign investments. It did more than that, however, for it led to the virtual loss of the remaining half from remunerative enterprises in the Americas and elsewhere to the war loans of Britain's allies, which up to the present moment have been unremunerative and probably will remain so. And in addition, Britain was compelled to borrow, herself, from the United States on a vast scale, both governmentally and privately, until the sum total of these borrowings today stretches over $800,000,000. It may be that the balance of British investments abroad will yield enough to meet this new burden of foreign debt, but even this is doubtful and as an item in paying the annual foreign and raw material bill it is disastrous.

appears. In the situation substantially different in the case of the merchant marine. True the German fleet has disappeared, but the United States has in the meantime constructed a merchant fleet which ranks second to the British and must prove a competitor all over the world. It is true that we have lost millions of our ships, it is also true whether we shall be able to make a go of the enterprise under present conditions, yet the fact remains that our ships are carrying passengers and cargoes which otherwise would have fallen to British bottoms.

A second circumstance, however, has proven far more disastrous to the British shipping than the loss of the fleet. In the aftermath of the war has been an enormous contraction in the available cargoes. Despite the submarine campaign the end of the war saw in existence or on stocks more tonnage than had been available in the years before. One of the worst of the results of the war has been a great shrinkage in the purchasing power of nations which had hitherto been importing countries. There could now be no more there were thus only a limited number of opportunities for British shipping to carry on a return and heavy shrinkage in returns from British shipping which were available to the United States for food bill.

George and his associates at every international conference seeking in every known and possible way to promote peace. If the war were to break out, the League with the Soviet Russians, dealings incomprehensible even less to Americans, the League at least. Britain alone cannot afford to neglect even the slightest chance of averting the war between the Russians for the British Isles. At British policy backs Germany, and it is not clear that it can without order in central Europe there will be no market for British goods. In the event of a war, a fresh invasion of France by Germany or Germany by France, the contemporary European trade will go down with a crash and the British Empire, which Britain will be more unemployment.

Problem Simple To Outline.

The real problem is simple in statement, there is starvation at one end and a return to pre-war conditions at the other. The only other way out is emigration and emigration by the thousands is being undertaken to the time of folk wanderings. The pressure due to lack of food is beginning to tell. It is clear that not more than half of the existing population of Germany can be sustained in the present territory unless in some fashion not yet discovered new markets are found for the food materials stored for their products and thus their food supply can be restored.

On the continent the reparations provisions of the treaty of Versailles have not alone abolished the British blockade of Germany, Belgium, in Italy, but in addition promise to impose upon Germany the financial development to pay her debts. Germany will have to make her ten times as dangerous a competitor as she was in 1914. The German people's share in the German payments, she can only share by consenting to the destruction of her own industries, she manufacturers and sells and her own factories must stand idle in the future.

Today one has only to read the London press to realize the agitation for economy which is going on throughout the country. Millions of

But there is another circumstance to be reckoned with. Before the war the British laborer was underpaid by comparison with the American and English workmen. He was contented with the German. Actually a class war is being fought in England, and the progress of the war has been retarded with difficulty postponed in the critical days of the conflict. The British laborer is being expelled by the government to make vast concessions to labor in the heights, and the hours of labor were reduced. There was no longer any question of competition with foreign countries, the whole of the product of British industry was required to meet the needs of the British Empire, and the problem of price did not arise.

But when peace came the old question came again. Unless labor were willing to forego most if not all of its increase of income, it would be impossible for the British products to compete with those of other nations in the world. The laborer was not and is not willing. He has no more sense than the slaves we have had, the government has no more sense than the monarchies. In the case of coal we have had a long and bitter struggle. The cost of the miners' strike to come back to even remotely something approaching the miners' demands was so great that the strike, the compromise settlement laid a heavy burden on the backs of the nation, brought wages down to the old levels or restored British advantage in the coal trade.

And wholly fortuitous circumstance added to the difficulty. One may recall that coal is, after all, one of the chief items in British foreign trade. And going to the aid of the treaty of Versailles and the reparations settlements, it had compelled the German to surrender the Sarrre mines to France. And now, under the terms of 1,000,000 tons of coal to France annually as well as large amounts of coal to Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Rumania, the three countries were the chief customers for British coals, there has been a considerable percentage of British exports. Finally, the United States, profiting by the great depression, has been able to out-contrast with American coal production, has become a competitor in

Faced With Decline in Coal Sales.

For a time the British endeavored to vary various devices to regulate the flow of German coal to the nations receiving it on the reparations account. In the market for coal, the French and the British demand seems lost indefinitely. Moreover, the situation given the comparative costs of raising American and British coal, it is not surprising that the British coal is sold at a reduction in British prices as is it on all calculations in Britain again compared with the American coal. On the contrary, the threatened with a steady decline in the sales of coal abroad.

If one considers the present situation in Europe it is to be seen possible by the sheer strength of the combination to impose peace on the world. The return to business not only eventually, but with comparative promptness, will be assured. Our course since Paris, and many of them unmet, it is a fact, has been such that the present suffering is due to the postponement of the return to settled conditions. It is our refusal to act with them or more to the affairs of Europe. If there is any reason to believe that which expresses the Englishman in terms of unemployment, it is in our mind, due in no small degree to our refusal to act in the councils of the world and in fact nominees disfigure the picture. In the last few years, it is estimated that Russia is lost to world trade for a decade at the least, and it is plain that the British situation has in it something of the same. If one believes that within a few months a new disturbance may break in Europe, a French-German conflict, or looking eastward, a struggle between Japan and the United States, the consequences and derailings of the trade and commerce of the Far East again the picture of the world is confused. It is puzzling the

...of Germany, in that of Japan.
...owing for differences in degree,
...whether the situation of the world

emigration. On the outbreak of the world war the foreign trade had managed to keep pace with the extraordinary expansion of population. In England alone, the population in 1891 was just under 30 million. At the time it had, as we have almost touched 39,000,000 and the great emigration, especially from New York State, in 1890, had become almost a single going business. The very large colonies were, therefore, in a position to take advantage of the opportunities of a change the extent of which is hardly to be measured even yet.

At the same time, in the native colonies, the population was increasing so fast that the colonies were facing difficulties.

India Refusing To Buy Goods.

In India, the discontented have had resort to the weapon of the boycott, and they are deliberately refusing to purchase British goods and the effects of a severe depression have been felt in the British Isles. Thus, the need of markets is so acute. These, at one time, were the main causes of the disturbances in the native colonies and the increase rather than the diminution of the number of people employed to swell rather than reduce the demand for goods. It is not to spend upon feeding those who

and otherwise starve or migrate. The United States and there seems to me a wholly fallacious estimate of the position of Great Britain as she emerged from the world war. The extent of territory gained, the demarcation of spheres of influence, the marine, all tended to build up the prestige of the British lighter than before. Of other nations, however, the extent to which the war had increased their military power was exaggerated. The industry organized British trade and at that time threatened the existence of millions of people in the East Indies. We thought then, we think now, perhaps, too much in terms of victory and economic side permitted only industry. At Washington, in the presence of the conference, there will be much discussion of the Far Eastern and Siberian markets. But the bottom fact is that Japan has been in competition with other nations in the Far Eastern market she cannot afford to neglect. I am confident, I do not believe that in fair competition without political advantages can secure.

Thus British and Japanese policy is dominated by the question of food, purely and simply. France, for example, can feed herself. Her population is small, her resources are while she had recently acquired 600 square miles, much of it the most fruitful in Europe. Blessed with abundant sunshine and fertile soil,

We are nearly three years from the beginning and more than two from the technical phase. But for the last three years have been, on the whole far more terrible than the first three years. At this prelime moment the changes in the immediate future are almost more dramatic than the changes in 1917. The German submarine blockade has been broken. Food can now be imported in great quantities, but up to the present hour the British industry cannot pay for that food. The blockade is still produced by the struggle, is still being produced by the struggle, is still being produced by the struggle, saying that food which does not in the end yield a productive return.

And the world is right back at immediate value as emphasizing

British problems and as explaining British policy. The Washington conference will be beyond all else for the first time a meeting of men talking about Anglo-American partnership, the business of this partnership to promote and even ensure salvation of the world and to hasten return to normal business. Failure to achieve this will count a disaster in British reckoning, success will mean something approximately salvaging of the world and averting reduction in the enforced migration which threatens the greatness of Britain at home.

And How Proper Marketing Methods Made One Crop Worth

$10,000,000 to Georgia Farmers

THE GEORGIA SWEET POTATO is coming into its own. This year's crop, at present prices, will bring $10,000,000, and every dollar of that enormous sum will be a tribute to the brains and resourcefulness of the men responsible for the development of the industry.

This tremendous increase in the value of a crop that has only been regarded as a real revenue producer for a very few years is LARGELY DUE TO AN INTELLIGENT SYSTEM OF HANDLING AND MARKETING.

Scattered throughout the state are THREE HUNDRED CURING PLANTS, SIXTY of which have been established during the PAST YEAR under plans furnished by the State Bureau of Markets. In these plants the green potatoes are so treated that they may be kept indefinitely, and shipped to whatever point offers the best market.

A market expert employed by the state bureau is ARRANGING SELLING AGENCIES IN NEW YORK, CHICAGO AND OTHER CENTERS, and it is confidently predicted that GEORGIA SWEET POTATOES will soon be SOLD ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES IN QUANTITIES and at PRICES THAT WILL COMPARE FAVORABLY WITH THE PRICES WE HAVE FOR SO MANY YEARS PAID FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES SHIPPED INTO GEORGIA FROM OTHER STATES.

What is being done with Sweet Potatoes can be done with many other Georgia products. ALL THAT IS NEEDED TO FREE GEORGIA FROM THE DANGERS OF A ONE-CROP SYSTEM IS AN ADEQUATE SYSTEM OF MARKETING that will enable the farmer to plant crops other than cotton—and have some assurance that he will find a cash market for what he raises.

The Atlanta National Bank congratulates the people of Georgia upon the development of this phase of the agricultural industry of the state, and confidently predicts that the moral and actual effect of it will be shown by the increased production and better marketing of ALL DIVERSIFIED CROPS.

POLA NEGRI HERE IN "ONE ARABIAN NIGHT"

Metropolitan Theater Presents Famous Star in Her Latest Production.

A dream of Arabian Nights magnificence and romance brought to life.

That, in a phrase, describes "One Arabian Night," which will start an engagement at the Metropolitan this week.

Pola Negri is the star of this production and because of the popularity which her former pictures have won for her, Manager Patterson is making preparations to handle large crowds.

The Madame Du Barry of "Passion" and La Carmencita of "Gypsy Blood" takes the part in this picture of a wild, whirlwind dancing nymph of the desert, for love of whom men fight; in turn, herself loving with beautiful than Du Barry, more artful than La Carmencita, a composite of both and yet suggesting neither. She has been endowed with a role more appealing than any in which she has ever been seen, and her talent as a dancer has been given free rein.

In her dance before the Sheikh, in whose harem she is later installed as the favorite wife, she performs gyrations which probably have never been equaled on the screen, for she formerly was a member of the famous Russian Imperial Ballet, which produced the greatest dancers in the world.

"One Arabian Night" presents some of the most gorgeously artistic sets ever presented in the photodrama. An entire Oriental city, with the palaces of the Sheikh, bazars, bridges, streets and lanes, was built for the production and the exteriors are almost as beautiful as the interiors. The harem and throne scenes, especially, are works of art, and the groupings of beautiful women, their costumes and the magnificence of their surroundings are startling in their exquisite allurement.

Ernst Lubitsch, the master director who produced "One Arabian Night," likewise plays the principal male role, that of a hunchback clown, head of a traveling troupe of players of which the dancer is the chief asset. The clown loves the dancing slave girl to distraction, and the suffering that he undergoes, when she rejects him for a royal suitor forms one of the most tragic incidents of the play, and Lubitsch's interpretation of the part stamps him as one of the best screen players of this age.

C. Gardner Sullivan, premiere scenarist, has renewed his contract with Thomas H. Ince.

Buck Jones in Big Thrill Not On the Program

One would not ordinarily cultivate the habit of falling off the Woodworth building.

Neither would Buck Jones. But, Buck took a drop of equal height, although not quite so perpendicular, during the filming of a forthcoming Fox picture, "Riding With Death."

Director Jacques Jaccard was shooting the picture and, in order to obtain the most realistic effect in a "chase" scene, he selected a spot on "Lookout Mountain," to the west of Hollywood, where the cliff drops down through the brush, almost sheer into the canyon below.

Jaccard placed his cameramen so that all angles of the ride would be taken and then called for action.

He got it. Buck, the partner of all his picture adventures, had picked up a stone the day before and had gone home. He used a new horse for the ride, and the animal was not camera-wise.

Once cameras had been placed in the brush right at the point where the cliff was the steepest, and as the horse dashed past it, he shied, and the bank crumbled beneath him.

Despite Buck's superb horsemanship, man and horse went over the edge. There was a rush of directors, actors and cameramen to the edge, but all they could see was a cloud of dust and an avalanche of dislodged rock.

The horse arrived at the bottom in time, but Buck was not on him. A man was lowered by ropes and found Buck wedged in the fork of a holly bush, half-way down. Buck was raised to the top. He was dazed, but grinning.

"How's the horse?" he asked. "All right," replied Jaccard. "But how did you get out of it?"

"Oh," retorted Buck facetiously, "I decided the horse wanted to get down first, so I just stepped off him and let him have his way about it."

Directing Corinne. Charles Maigne, one of the best known and successful directors in this country, is directing Corinne Griffith in her newest Vitaphone production, "Received Payment," starring completion at Vitaphone.

The play is the work of John Lynch, and again Miss Griffith bears one of her reputation of being "the best dressed woman on the screen."

It is a society play, with much of the action taking place on the New York stage, and presents the star in an entirely different type of character than in "The Single Track," her latest production, which is now nearing release.

RUPERT HUGHES STORY ON SCREEN AT HOWARD

Picturization of "Dangerous Curve Ahead," Heads Week's Program.

In the usual story and picture format, the ending comes with everybody happy, with the lovers in a close embrace and the story happily forever afterwards prominent.

Rupert Hughes in his latest offering for the screen, the picturization of "Dangerous Curve Ahead," which will be the principal offering of the entertainment month at the Howard theater all this week, starts his story with the honey-moon and has proceeded to show that it is much easier to get married than to stay in that state.

So the picture is a picture of a young man who is a playboy and a young woman who is a playboy's playmate.

He has painted Phoebe Mabey as the kind of girl any man could fall in love with. She is pretty, lovable, and able to bear her share of the burden of a husband's life. He has given her as a husband Harry Jones, a young man just starting out in life, who has already set his foot firmly on the lower rung of the ladder of success, and he has seen to it that he is clear and straight.

And then he has shown the dangers which come into every marriage without either husband or wife realizing the situation which is slowly developing. He has made the wife love her home, the husband love his business, and come so devoted to it that he takes it as a matter of fact that he should spend the most of his time in his office and that he should devote only a small part of his attention to his wife, with the inevitable result that she seeks pleasure elsewhere and they are on the verge of a divorce.

The cast is one that is splendidly suited to the play. The husband and wife are played by Harry Jones and Phoebe Mabey, the best matched and one of the most popular couples in pictures; for the woman, Phoebe Mabey, is a beauty, and the man, Harry Jones, is a handsome young man. Others in the cast include such stars as Kate Lester and "Lefty."

In addition to the big picture a number of other entertaining features will be shown, not least of which is the superb Howard orchestra led by Enrico Ledes.

Excellent Program This Coming Week At Savoy Theater

Viola Dana, in "The Off Shore Pirate," the opening attraction for the coming week at the Savoy theater. It is a tale of love piracy in Scott Fitzgerald's best vein, and gives Miss Dana ample opportunity to display on the screen her unusual ability as a companion picture Monday, "Hoe She Led," a gay comedy, will be shown.

Tuesday brings William Hurlbut's unusual drama of the Parisian Latin quarter, "Body and Soul," as the headline feature of the program. Alice Lake is the star and appears at her best in this stirring production. Bobby Vernon, in "Seven Bald Pates," is the added attraction.

On Wednesday, Wanda Hawley appears in "Her Beloved Villain," a comedy brimming over with clever lines, funny situations and many laughs. Teddy Sampson, in the comedy, "Assault and Flattery," is also on the Wednesday bill.

For the balance of the week Mahlon Hamilton, in "Half a Chance," will be the attraction. Thursday, Fannie Ward, in "She Played and Paid," on Friday, and Norma Talmadge, in "Ghosts of Yesterday," on Saturday.

Little Barelegged Girl. Alice Calhoun realizes a long cherished ambition in "Rainbow," her latest Vitaphone production just completed at the Brooklyn studios under the direction of Edward José. Since she became a star, more than two years ago, Miss Calhoun has portrayed a variety of characters, from a farm house "help" to a society debutante, but never until now has she appeared as a little girl.

In her new picture, written especially for her by Harry Dittmar, the earlier scenes show her as a care-free youngster, short-skirted and sometimes bare-legged. And then the guest cast to be a young but not entirely conventional girl of society. But Miss Calhoun has had her wish, and those who see the picture will be glad with her that she has.

Lydia Knott will play the mother role in the Rex program production of "Turn to the Right."

Impressive Scenes In "The Great Day" Coming to Forsyth

From the point of view of architecture and interior decoration one of the most impressive scenes in "The Great Day," which will be shown at the Forsyth theater tomorrow, is the representation of Sir Jonathan Borwick's palatial residence on the grounds of which he gives a big reception.

An interesting point in connection with the furnishing of this scene is that some of the furniture came originally from Blenheim, the great palace which was erected in the early eighteenth century and presented to John, Duke of Marlborough, in recognition of his services in breaking the power of Louis XIV.

Blenheim palace was delayed by Sir John Vanbrugh, famous as architect, dramatist, theatrical manager and soldier, and according to the inscription over the entrance to the great hall, which was built between the years 1705 and 1722. Two of the magnificent gilt and tapestried chairs and the stool, which now adorn the drawing room scene in "The Great Day" were originally part of the furniture in one of the three state rooms at Blenheim.

In "The Great Day" the part of Sir Jonathan Borwick is played by Arthur Bourchier, the eminent English Shakespearean actor. Others in the cast include Bertram Burleigh, Marjorie Hume, Meggie Albanesi and Mrs. C. Hayden Coffin.

Good for Madge. Madge Bellamy, one of the most attractive girls in screen circles, has been engaged for the feminine lead in Jack Holt's first star picture for Paramount, "The Call of the North," from the book, "Confessions of a Housewife" by Stewart White, and the play by George Broadhurst. It is being directed by Joseph Henabery and supervised by Rollin Sturgeon.

The company is now on location in the mountains, where they will remain for some time before returning to make interior scenes. Miss Bellamy is a fourth cousin of Sam Houston, of Alamo fame, and was educated in San Antonio.

CRITERION TO SHOW "GARMENTS OF TRUTH"

Garth Hughes, Star of 'Sentimental Tommy,' Has Stellar Role.

Garth Hughes, the young discovery whose rise to fame since his role in "The Chorus Girl's Romance" brought him the starring honors in "Sentimental Tommy," will be seen at the Criterion the first three days of the week in his latest studio vehicle for Metro. The story, "Garments of Truth," is by Freeman Tilden, and it was first published in the Pictorial Review.

In this production the imaginative Garth runs riot. He lives through the romantic and bucolic experiences that any dreamy youth is likely to picture to himself, from thrashing his rival and winning the hand of his best girl and basking like a hero in her eyes to venturing forth single-handed against a whole army of villains, and finally returning in safety from a host of heroic exploits that would rival the experiences of Don Quixote.

But the role is just the kind best suited to this versatile player who has spent practically all his life on the stage. In the production he is ably seconded by Ethel Grandin, one of the loveliest girls who ever graced the silver screen, and a prime favorite who has not been seen in productions for two years.

In addition to the feature the Criterion will present another of those Potemkin comedies. This time it is "The Skipper's Fillet," and those who have seen it declare it is a riot of fun. Kinogram will open the bill.

Long on Country Clubs

Witold North should know all about country clubs when he has finished with the production of "Lucky Carson," the Earle Williams picture, which he is now directing in California. Country clubs figure considerably in this picture, which is from a novel by Aquila Carter. Country club perches, courts and golf links form conditions exact in certain parts of Southern California and the problem was the selection of most appropriate. Betty Stone appears opposite Earle Williams in this production.

Directed by E. Mason Hooper

This picture begins with a marriage—a marriage of two such young people as started their great adventure next door to you this summer. It's a powerful photoplay that turns the spotlight on just such experiences as you have had or will have. A drama of the family, decidedly clever, vigorous, dramatic and funny. And don't forget, it is by Rupert Hughes, who was responsible for the great "Old Nest." We personally recommended the "Old Nest." We personally recommend "Dangerous Curve Ahead." See it tomorrow.

LOVELY BRIDE

Centering the interests of hosts of friends, the marriage of Miss Maud Barker Cobb and Louis Lester was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Maud Barker Cobb, on West Peachtree street. Rev. C. R. Wilmer, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church, performed the ceremony, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Decorations. The home was elaborately decorated with handsome foliage plants, palms and ferns grouped as a background for baskets filled with roses, arranged with swansons.

The ceremony was solemnized in the spacious reception hall before an improvised altar of palms, the center featured by a candelabra with eight candles. On either side were floor baskets of ivory filled with stately swansons. Back of the altar hung the portraits of Mrs. Cobb and her father, the late T. R. Cobb. Seated at one side of the altar were her grandparents, Mrs. Howell Cobb, of Athens, and Mrs. C. F. N. Barker, and Mrs. Lester, grandmother of the groom.

Little Miss Mary Catherine Elkin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arch Elkin, was the flower girl and wore a dainty costume of pink silk tulle, with trimmings of ribbon bows. She carried a basket filled with Ophelia roses, the handle tied with a large tulle bow.

Howell N. Cobb, twin brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. Swell Day sang "At Dawning," accompanied by Professor Lindsay on the violin.

Lovely Bride. The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Cobb, was radiant in her wedding gown of white satin, beautifully draped and trimmed with lace. Her tulle veil was caught to her hair by a coronet of orange blossoms and the veil reached the end of her long court train. Her bouquet was of orchids showered with valley lilies.

Mrs. Cobb's gown was of pale blue chiffon, draped over tulle, and her corsage was of roses and swansons.

During the reading of the marriage ceremony little Miss Jacqueline Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, played an accompaniment on the Italian harp. The ceremony took place at the hour, and on the same day of the month as was the marriage of her mother, and the late Thomas R. Cobb, of Athens. The bridal pair knelt on the same white satin cushion as was used by her parents, and to add further sentiment to the occasion, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown.

The wedding ring used was that of her grandmother, Mrs. C. F. N. Barker. A plain gold band bearing on its worn inner surface the date, January 7, 1889. When it was removed from her finger to be placed upon that of her granddaughter the ring had been worn by Mrs. Barker continuously for more than a half century.

Informal Reception. Anticipating in receiving at the informal reception were the group of the Order of Old-Fashioned Women of which Mrs. Cobb is a member, including Mrs. Robert L. Foreman, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mrs. William H. Elkin, Mrs. William D. Ellis, Jr., Mrs. Julian Field, Mrs. Morris Brandon and Mrs. Weston Arkwright. A handsome silver tea service was the gift of this order to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester left for Lakemont, Ga., where they will spend two weeks at Cherokee Cove, the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr. Later they will go to Arkansas to reside.

Mrs. Cobb's gown was of pale blue chiffon, draped over tulle, and her corsage was of roses and swansons.

During the reading of the marriage ceremony little Miss Jacqueline Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, played an accompaniment on the Italian harp. The ceremony took place at the hour, and on the same day of the month as was the marriage of her mother, and the late Thomas R. Cobb, of Athens. The bridal pair knelt on the same white satin cushion as was used by her parents, and to add further sentiment to the occasion, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown.

The wedding ring used was that of her grandmother, Mrs. C. F. N. Barker. A plain gold band bearing on its worn inner surface the date, January 7, 1889. When it was removed from her finger to be placed upon that of her granddaughter the ring had been worn by Mrs. Barker continuously for more than a half century.

Cobb-Lester Wedding Is Social Event at Home

Centering the interests of hosts of friends, the marriage of Miss Maud Barker Cobb and Louis Lester was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Maud Barker Cobb, on West Peachtree street. Rev. C. R. Wilmer, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church, performed the ceremony, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Decorations. The home was elaborately decorated with handsome foliage plants, palms and ferns grouped as a background for baskets filled with roses, arranged with swansons. The ceremony was solemnized in the spacious reception hall before an improvised altar of palms, the center featured by a candelabra with eight candles. On either side were floor baskets of ivory filled with stately swansons. Back of the altar hung the portraits of Mrs. Cobb and her father, the late T. R. Cobb. Seated at one side of the altar were her grandparents, Mrs. Howell Cobb, of Athens, and Mrs. C. F. N. Barker, and Mrs. Lester, grandmother of the groom.

Bridal Party. Miss Marie Lester, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and wore a beautiful gown of pale green tulle, the skirt fashioned bouffant with trimmings of silver. Completing this toilet was a shower bouquet of roses and swansons.

Little Miss Mary Catherine Elkin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arch Elkin, was the flower girl and wore a dainty costume of pink silk tulle, with trimmings of ribbon bows. She carried a basket filled with Ophelia roses, the handle tied with a large tulle bow.

Howell N. Cobb, twin brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. Swell Day sang "At Dawning," accompanied by Professor Lindsay on the violin.

Lovely Bride. The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Cobb, was radiant in her wedding gown of white satin, beautifully draped and trimmed with lace. Her tulle veil was caught to her hair by a coronet of orange blossoms and the veil reached the end of her long court train. Her bouquet was of orchids showered with valley lilies.

Informal Reception. Anticipating in receiving at the informal reception were the group of the Order of Old-Fashioned Women of which Mrs. Cobb is a member, including Mrs. Robert L. Foreman, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mrs. William H. Elkin, Mrs. William D. Ellis, Jr., Mrs. Julian Field, Mrs. Morris Brandon and Mrs. Weston Arkwright. A handsome silver tea service was the gift of this order to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester left for Lakemont, Ga., where they will spend two weeks at Cherokee Cove, the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr. Later they will go to Arkansas to reside.

Reception for Mrs. V. I. Masters.

Monday afternoon a lovely reception was given by the ladies of the Woman's Missionary society and the Sunday school of the Kirkwood Baptist church to Mrs. V. I. Masters, the retiring vice president of the society. Mrs. Masters leaves in a few days for Louisville, Ky., to make her home. She goes to join Dr. Masters, who is editor of The Western Recorder, the Baptist state paper of Kentucky. The reception was held in the junior Sunday school room of the church, which was prettily decorated for the occasion. Quite a number of friends were present to bid her farewell. Mrs. J. L. Jackson, the chairman and gracious hostess, gave an opportunity to each guest to express her esteem for Mrs. Masters and her appreciation of the splendid service she has rendered in the different departments of church work. One after another responded, telling of Mrs. Masters' years of splendid service. Mrs. W. T. Williams, spoke of her work as vice president, of her nine years of untiring and able service as an officer of the society.

Mrs. T. P. Cornell expressed her appreciation of Mrs. Masters as an adviser, stating that she invariably responded gladly and willingly when called on for help and counsel.

Her faithfulness in all things was emphasized by Mrs. John Tibbo, and Mrs. A. J. Brannan talked of Mrs. Masters' ability, which is evident in everything she undertakes to do.

Mrs. Masters' work as superintendent of the junior department of the Sunday school was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Sullivan, who called attention to the wonderful growth and expansion of this department under the supervision of Mrs. Masters.

As a co-worker in the Sunday school, Miss LaRue Johnson gave Mrs. Masters praise for her kindly help and sympathy, and Miss Nell Bowen added a word to express her appreciation of Mrs. Masters as a former teacher.

Her qualities as a friend were brought out by Mrs. Jackson, and Mrs. J. J. Bennett spoke of her attributes as a neighbor, saying that she was the best neighbor one ever had. Many others present testified to their affection for Mrs. Masters.

In behalf of the society and Sunday school Mrs. Jackson presented Mrs. Masters with a lovely silver bowl as a token of the love and esteem in which she is held, expressing the same time the deep regret of her countless friends over her contemplated move to Louisville.

Y. W. H. A. to Celebrate Third Anniversary.

The first fall meeting of the Y. W. H. A. was held on Thursday evening at their club rooms at the Jewish Educational Alliance. A large and enthusiastic membership was present to help formulate plans for the club's activities for the coming year.

Professor Willis A. Sutton, supervisor of the Atlanta public schools, was present, and gave the girls a stirring and forceful talk on "Personality," which had his audience spellbound. Among other things, he said that intelligence and character give value to personality. He urged upon the girls to be sincere, to keep promises made, to always tell the truth, to be friendly to people, even though they are not of the same social start. The knowledge of people, he said, is worth more than book knowledge. He encouraged them to have the high ideals and splendid qualities for which the women in Old Testament were revered.

Miss Edith Smith, the talented young violinist, who is home from Chicago, where she has been with the best teachers of violin, played "Romance," by Debussy, and "Carmenita," by Schumann. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Hazel Wood, who also ranks well among the rising violinists of the city. Miss Lota Walker, who is in charge of the Opportunity school under the direction of the public schools, invited the girls to avail themselves of the privileges offered by this school, to equip themselves better, along any of the several lines which are necessary to be a success in office work, as sales lady, etc. All instructions are free, and the school is open from 7:30 a. m. to 6 p. m., during which hours competent instructors are in charge.

There were large enrollments for the following classes at the Y. W. H. A.:

Millinery, in charge of Miss Mae Bailey; gymnasium, in charge of Miss Helen Leadman; expression, in charge of Mrs. Nathan Siegel; knitting, in charge of Mrs. Hyman Jacobson.

There will also be classes in civics, French, mandolin and parliamentary law.

Other classes will be formed later. The monthly publication of the Y. W. H. A., The Rabbit Foot, is circulated among the members, and is always happily received, a list contains items of interest to girls.

Among the interesting announcements made were that a Junior Y. W. H. A. will be formed on Sunday at 4 p. m. Girls from 12 to 16 are eligible. Also that the third birthday anniversary of the organization will be celebrated on October 5, with Japanese party at the Alliance when the members and their men friends will be the guests of the club. Admission by invitation only. Members to bring their membership cards. Mrs. Victor H. Krieshaber, president, presided.

Confederate History Class to Meet Thursday.

The Confederate history class, led by Mrs. Thomas Peters, will hold its first fall meeting Thursday morning, October 14, at 10 o'clock in the library. Any new members, who are interested and wish to join, will be welcome.

Woman's Auxiliary Wesley Hospital.

The woman's auxiliary, Wesley Memorial hospital, will meet at the hospital on Wednesday morning, October 5, at 10:30 o'clock. All members urged to attend.

Concert Given At Edison Hall.

The 200 guests, who attended the first concert of Atlanta All-Star artists, complimentary to the Edison shop, on Thursday evening, from 8 to 9:30 o'clock, were most appreciative and exceedingly attentive in their interest of the program which was rendered. C. R. Norman was in charge.

The re-creations rendered on the New Edison combined with the local artists' selections held the audience in rapt attention and the interest shown was manifested by the quietness of the audience which was one of the best that has been seen in Atlanta.

Mrs. Morgan Stephens gave two beautiful songs on the violin: sonata, "A" major and Hungarian Gypsy air, by Kaefer-Bela.

Mrs. E. V. Sutphen, of Agnes Scott college, accompanied Mrs. Stephens on the piano.

Cliff Durham, operatic tenor, sang with unusual expression and tenderness the favorite selection, "Be-cause."

Miss Madeline Hautt, of the Grand Opera studio, sang with most pleasing personality and wonderful technique a selection from "La Traviata" and "Carmen," from Rigoletto. Miss Hautt always wins the hearts of her listeners.

Signor E. Volpi presented Miss Nix Allen, soprano; Miss Genevieve Ketcham, mezzo soprano; Cliff Durham, tenor, and W. Van Goidtsnoen, baritone, in the Rigoletto quartet. Signor Volpi presided at piano.

These recitals will be given once a month on Thursday evening, and cards of admission will be sent. The usual program on every Thursday from 8 to 9 o'clock, will be free to the public, and a cordial welcome is extended to all.

The "Sextet from Lucia" was to have been given by Signor Volpi, but owing to the illness of one of the sextet it was postponed for a later date.

The "Lyric soprano and bass soloist, of the Brenau studios, were to have appeared, but due to illness and business it was impossible for them to be present. For further information address The Editor: Shop, 132 Peachtree street.

Lunches and Dinners Served at St. Luke's.

The members of St. Luke's guild will serve daily lunches and dinners at the parish house, on Courtland street, from 2 to 12 o'clock. Mrs. Chesler B. Howard is chairman of the guild, and plans to make this a permanent undertaking. All the lunches and dinners are home-cooked, and are served at the nominal cost of 25 and 50 cents, with an invitation extended to the public.

Mrs. C. B. Wilmer is in charge on Monday; Mrs. Frances Kamper and Mrs. R. B. DeSaussure, on Tuesday; Mrs. John M. Slaton, on Wednesday; Mrs. H. R. Bates and Mrs. Edgar Neely, on Thursday; Mrs. Barbour Thompson and Mrs. William Horne, on Friday; and Mrs. Van Goidtsnoen, on Saturday, and Sunday there will be no lunches served.

Flood Knight Pastels Displayed This Week.

A selected group of the pastels of Floyd Knight, eminent Atlanta artist, will be displayed during the week at the Goodhue-Tompkins galleries on Peachtree street. Admirers of Mr. Knight's art and the art-loving public are invited to inspect the exhibit at their leisure.

Mr. Knight, whose lovely pastels have been a feature of the art life of Atlanta for years, is one of the most gifted wielders of the brush in the south. Working almost entirely in the medium of pastels, he has created an individual style that is highly prized by connoisseurs for its delicacy and beauty of perception.

As a token of the position which he has achieved, the Atlanta Art association has recently purchased one

Heads U. D. C. Chapter

MRS. HOWARD STAKELY.

Newly-elected president of the Robert Edward Lee chapter, U. D. C., Colville Park, Ga. She succeeds Mrs. Bryan Collier, who resigned at the September meeting.

Mrs. Stakely is a charming and brilliant woman, coming as she does from South Carolina's famous families, the Carletons and Burches. As Miss Louise Carleton, Mrs. Stakely won distinction in Cox college and later spent one term as a student at Columbia university, N. Y.

of his canvases for the permanent collection now being assembled by the association.

The group which is to be revealed to the public for the first time next week will include six examples of landscape work. One scene of particular interest depicts a mountain cabin in the mountains of Georgia, where the atmosphere of loneliness, so characteristic of the mountain habitation, is graphically seized. Other subjects deal with trees, whose individuality Mr. Knight seems able to catch with unerring instinct.

This exhibition is the first of a number of similar exhibitions from Atlanta artists which will be a fea-

Y. W. C. A. Conference For Girl Reserves.

The setting-up conference for the Y. W. C. A. Reserve cabinets of Commercial High and Fulton High schools is being conducted this week-end at a private home in Decatur, Ga. The purpose of the conference for the "teen age" girl reserves is that they, with their club advisers, may work out their reserve program for the coming association year. Those in attendance are Miss Maryna Grace, Y. W. C. A. (Girl) Work secretary; Mrs. J. C. Brown and Miss Isabel Dow, advisers of the Fulton High school girl reserves; and the reserve cabinet of the school; Sarah Elizabeth King, president, and officers: Signe Matson, Blanche Griffin, Mary Gilbert, Alice Bates and Mary Knott.

The advisers of the Commercial High school reserves are Mrs. P. R. Brooks and Mrs. David Highgate. The Commercial cabinet of reserves consists of Elizabeth Volberg, president, and officers: Clara Hummoldt, Ruth Palmer, Mary Frances Turner, Rosalee Allen, Thelma Bowman, Lilly Groble and Maybelle Russell.

Program.

Saturday afternoon the opening conference session was held. Elizabeth Volberg led in devotion. A discussion, led by the school girls, was held on the purpose of the constitution of the girl reserves and how the teen age girl reserves may make the purpose a part of their personal life.

Following the session there was a period of recreation, after which the conference discussed "Quadrants as applied to a girl reserve's personal, school, and club life." Also the high standard of life a reserve must follow if she is to win a girl reserve ring.

Ways of earning money for a reserve conference were also discussed, followed by supper; after which the girls and their leaders went thoroughly in to advise reserve club progress to be followed this year at their weekly meetings at the Y. W. C. A. After a period of recreation Elizabeth King led the devotion for the night.

Sunday's Program.

From 9 to 10 o'clock Miss Maryna Grace, Y. W. C. A. Girls' Work secretary, will speak on "A Greater Vision for Girl Reserve Work." From 10 to 11, Miss Edith Thompson, secretary of the Associated Charities, will speak on "Needs of Our Country and the World at Large. How the Y. W. C. A. is meeting such Needs, and How the Atlanta Y. W. C. A. Girl Reserves May Meet Them."

Following noonday dinner, an installation service will be held for reserve officers, that will be conducted by Mrs. J. C. Brown. The Y. W. C. A. has over 300 girl reserves in the city grade and high schools. Each reserve group meets at the Y. W. C. A. Peachtree Arcade, every week for one hour after school. Their purpose is in having good times, talking, etc., in finding infinite possibilities in handicraft, in being ready for all emergencies, first aid; in reading only the best literature for school girls, in recreation, in studying the needs of the community, in every effort to make girls happy, in reaching out for the best in life, in each day doing some kindness, and in rendering service for all by making baby kits, scrap books and in helping others.

New Era Club.

The first fall meeting of the New Era Study club was held Wednesday with Mrs. E. H. West in Innan Park.

After a business session the afternoon was given to the study of Tennessee and Browning.

Mrs. R. J. Pritchett read a paper on Tennessee's life and philosophy. Discussion, led by the school girls, was held on the "Ring and the Book," was given in a most beautiful style by the president, Mrs. James D. Rhodes.

Most of the members were present and stated the work with much enthusiasm.

Needlecraft Circle.

The regular monthly meeting of the Needlecraft circle will be held Wednesday, October 6, at 3 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. T. A. Spilak, 112 La France street. All members are urged to be present, as important business is to be transacted.

Adelphian Club Dance.

Of interest to the members and friends of the Adelphian club is the announcement of another informal dance to be held at the Roseland hall, Thursday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock, with jazz orchestra furnishing the dance program. Former visitors desiring cards should communicate with Mrs. G. F. Cox, West 51-W. Admittance by card only.

News From Wesleyan.

The last Sunday evening vesper service was conducted by the members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. After a short devotional service led by Miss Irene Sewell, a special number was given by the cabinet. "Follow the Glean," one of the Blue Ridge conference favorites. Each member of the cabinet told of the purpose and plan for her year's work.

The members of the cabinet for 1921 are: Irene Sewell, Luther-ville, president; Esther Kim, Korea, under-graduate field representative; Sara Beauchamp, Jackson, secretary; Elizabeth Benton, Monticello, treasurer; Elma Sanders, Mill Haven, chairman of the world fellowship committee; Irma Swain, Lyons, and William Budd, Mobile, Ala., chairmen of the social service committee; Etta Steed, Senola, chairman of the publicity committee; Bruce Ciesler, La Grange, chairman of the social committee; Helen Owen, Waverly Hall, president of the Student Government association; Leona Letson, Grantville, leader of the student volunteer band.

The past week, known as sophomore week passed with all of its humiliating discipline for the freshmen, who now have a new prospect-ive on "dos and don'ts" of Wesleyan. Mother and Dad wouldn't have known their daughters in their ridiculous, imposed costumes. The rule and regulations, which all had to respect, knocked all the surplus dignity from the new-comers. The week ended with an unique "Indian Peace Park" given by the sophomores to the freshmen in the gymnasium Saturday evening. Each sophomore was dressed in an Indian costume. The hatchet was buried, and the smoke from the peace-pipe, as it was passed from sophomore to freshman dispelled all feeling of enmity between the two classes.

Miss Virginia Garner, with Mr.

and Mrs. C. H. Kittrell and daughter, Leah, of Dublin, motored to Atlanta Thursday, where they attended the executive meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Miss Garner is chairman of the division of literature of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Kittrell is president of the twelfth district.

The series of lectures given by Colonel O. A. Park on "Constitutional Government" and "Citizenship," at the chapel hour are proving both interesting and instructive.

The Methodist Sunday school class was reorganized this week with an enrollment of 116. Miss Julia Morgan, president of the class, gave the welcome address.

In the absence of the pastor, President W. F. Quillian conducted the services at the Mulberry Street Methodist church Sunday morning and evening.

The first edition of The Wesleyan, the monthly magazine, will appear October 20. The publication of this magazine is in the hands of a staff consisting of seniors and juniors with Miss Lillian Cooper as editor-in-chief. During the year each class will be represented in one issue.

Steinway

THE purchase of a Steinway for the home means the selection of the ideal piano, tone and workmanship being of the first importance.

It is the price of the Steinway which makes possible its supreme musical qualities, but you will find that the Steinway costs only a trifle more than many so-called "good" pianos.

Style V, the new Upright, and Style M, the smallest Steinway Grand, offer a special advantage in price. They embody all the distinct Steinway features, but, being of reduced size to meet the requirements of the modern home or apartment, are offered at a very moderate price.

We shall be glad to send you, free, illustrated literature. Liberal terms if desired.

POPULAR IN ATLANTA SOCIETY

Three charming young matrons of society are in this group. The first at the upper left is Mrs. Stanley Kennedy, of Honolulu, who is the attractive guest of Mrs. Charles Moon, who is seated in the lower picture on the page, and who has been entertained at many social affairs during her visit in Atlanta. Mrs. Kennedy was formerly Miss Martha Davenport, of Chattanooga. In the upper right is the picture of Mrs. Norwood Holden, who will leave soon for Augusta to join Mr. Holden, where they will in future reside.

Furs and Football Mark Opening of Fall Season; Many Events on Calendar

The first cool weather the real beginning of fall, proved particularly favorable to football yesterday, the first "pop" in the air communicating itself alike to husky players and the world of spectators, while the feminine "rooters" could wear their new furs, not just because they have them, but with real comfort.

Georgia Tech and Oglethorpe furnished the sporting interest for Atlanta, and many thousands of enthusiasts wore the old gold and white or the old gold and black.

Indeed, the opening of the autumn season finds Atlanta people more interested apparently in the big movements; in the collective events that are marked with red letters on everybody's calendar than in that side of the social life which looks to entertainment for its own sake. The Southeastern Fair, which looms up in the near future—it is dated for October 13-22—is attracting general attention. Even the debutante is selecting that particular little volume among her gift memorandum books which will best match the costume she will wear to the races, for engagements must be met promptly, and if one goes to the races there must be some way to record it if one takes a harmless "fryer" on what looks like a "sure thing."

Also in October will be the Women's Southern Golf association meet and tournament at the East Lake Country club.

Scott Hudson, president of the Athletic club, and Doris Lowndes, president of the Southern Women's Golf association, have invited the Misses Leitch and Miss Doris Chambers, of England, now playing in this country, to attend, and the Athletic club has made the English visitors members of the club for the period of the tournament. The Misses Leitch and Miss Chambers are now making a tour of country clubs, playing in exhibition matches for the benefit of the fund for devastated France.

Music a Part of Social Program.

The approach of a concert season very rich in good music is manifesting more than ever before the interest of the social world. Atlanta's growth in that substantial love of music which is proven in patronage of good concerts is a matter of national note in music. A part of this patronage comes from the local world of society, which is turning to the concert season an interest scarcely less keen than their former established interest in the annual opera season. The first event of the concert season is a concert on October 23 at the Auditorium by the beautiful Sophie Braslau, of the Metropolitan Opera company, while appearances here with that organization, however, have been rare. Miss Braslau is to be presented by the All-Star Concert bureau. The series of the Atlanta Music club will be inaugurated with a concert by Ely Ney, an Italian, who has been the sensation of Europe for a year, but will be brought to America for the first time this fall. She is a granddaughter, by the way, of Napoleon's first marshal.

Railway Commissioners Meet To Bring Prominent Men.

Then there will be the gathering in Atlanta the week of October 10 of prominent men from all over the country for the convention of the National Association of Railway Utilities commissioners, leading men in their sections who will be extended a typical expression of Atlanta's brand of hospitality. Among these will be O. O. Calderhead and E. V. Kuykendall, of Olympia, Wash.; A. S. Hill and H. C. Spurr, of Washington, D. C.; A. L. Walker and E. R. Hughes, of Oklahoma City; George P. Bell, Raleigh, N. C.; James B. Walker, Boston, Mass.; Sherman T. Handy, Lansing, Mich.; H. V. Osborne, Trenton, N. J.; William F. Rhea, Richmond, Va.; Thomas Yapp, St. Paul, Minn.; E. D. Lewis, Charleston, W. Va.; Paul A. Walker and Campbell

Russell, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; J. H. Calderhead, Bismark, N. D.; Frank W. Shealy, Columbia, S. C.; J. W. Raleigh, Pierre, S. D.; Carl D. Jackson and Lewis F. Gettle, of Madison, Wis.; A. R. Heywood and wife, of Salt Lake City, Utah, all of whom will be at the Georgian Terrace.

Piedmont Driving Club Dinner-Dance.

The dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club last evening was one of the most delightful ever given at this popular clubhouse, and assembled quite a company of dancers and diners. The tables were daintily with baskets of early autumn flowers and foliage in bright colorings, and an orchestra furnished an unusually attractive program of dance music. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dargan entertained in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carter, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mikell and Mr. and Mrs. Ulric S. Atkinson completed the party. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Price, of Miami, Fla., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Witham.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bettes were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dodd. Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Harrison entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Lowndes and Herman A. Allyn, of Norfolk, Va.

William H. Kiser's guests were Miss Margaret Witham, Miss Mary Cohen, Arthur Hard, of New York, and Rawley Penick, of New Orleans. Dr. Newdigate M. Owensby entertained a small group of guests. Dudley Cowles and others entertained.

Sculptor and Critic Discusses War Memorials.

An outstanding event of the week last was the visit of George Julian

Zolnay, a leading American sculptor and art critic, with its resulting stimulation of the art spirit, and the rapid crystallizing of Atlanta's vision of art advancement, due to this same stimulation.

A fine harmony of purpose was made manifest on the occasion of Mr. Zolnay's brief stay, the members of the Art association all showing a united desire to merge their individual ideas with those of the majority, while the Art association and the art committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, both live organizations, having different programs, but both looking to the same general object—Atlanta's best interests in art—united to welcome Mr. Zolnay, to lead on his encouragement, and to profit by his practical suggestions.

One of the most striking of Mr. Zolnay's comments on art subjects in general concerned the character of America's World War memorials.

"Few of these memorials are taking the form of monuments in the restricted sense of a piece of statuary to the individual soldier, the particular hero," he said. "The American people are, on the contrary, erecting memorial buildings or founding great welfare movements to perpetuate the memory of our sacrifices."

"And this is as it should be. It is a little hard on the sculptor, maybe. Many small sculptured monuments would be more profitable to us. But I am willing to lose the business for the sake of art in America and the appropriateness of the other course."

"In the first place, the individual monument would often mean sculptured sculptures as an initial to the real advancement of art as some of the awful travesties on art which memorialize the heroes of the confederacy."

"For the rest, the world was one which exploited the process, not of the individual. It created few personages. Rather was it a psychological war—a contest between spiritual forces and materialism, the latter embodied in a great machine."

McDaniel—Marshall Wedding To Be Event Wednesday.

A wedding of social distinction will be that of Miss Harriet McDaniel and Charles Rembert Marshall, of Nashville, which will take place Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders McDaniel, on Pace's Ferry road.

The wedding company will be limited to the relatives with a few close friends, a recent bereavement in the family of the bride having changed her original plans for a wedding of greater elaboration.

Miss McDaniel's only attendant will be little Miss Laura Maddox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, who will carry her train. Walker Gil, of Nashville, will be Mr. Marshall's best man; and Bishop H. J. Mikell will perform the ceremony.

shall, of Nashville, Tenn.; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Marshall; Miss Helen Marshall, of Fort Valley; Miss Louise Walker, Miss Mildred Roberts, Paul Felker and Harry Arnold, of Monroe, and others.

Dinner-Dance Honors College Football Teams.

Old Gold and White and old Gold and Black, which struggled on Grant field so lustily on Saturday afternoon, were united in peaceful sociability last evening when the football teams of Georgia Tech and Oglethorpe were guests of honor at a beautiful dinner-dance given in their honor by the woman's board of Oglethorpe university.

The ballroom of the Capital City club, was charmingly decorated in the colors of the two colleges and a number of young ladies were invited to dine with the heroes of the gridiron.

Mrs. Lee Ashcraft, president Oglethorpe woman's board, presided and a number of excellent speeches were made expressive of the good feeling, and friendly rivalry between Oglethorpe's worthy young aspirants for football honors, and its splendid big brother, Georgia Tech.

Dancing was enjoyed after dinner. The details of the dinner were ably arranged by Mrs. George Frost, Mrs. Glenn Byman, Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Eugene Black, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carter Welcomed in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carter, of New York, are at the Georgian Terrace for a week's stay. Mr. Carter is an officer of the Royal Insurance company, frequently visits here, and they have many friends who are giving them a cordial welcome.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dargan entertained in their honor at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club, and tonight Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peters will entertain at dinner at the Driving club.

Yesterday Mrs. Ulric S. Atkinson entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Carter at the Capital City club.

Metropolitan Star Visiting in Atlanta.

Miss Marie Tiffany, Metropolitan Opera singer and interpreter of songs, is the guest for the week at Miss Nan Stephens, her visit, and Miss Stephens, Mrs. Ewell Gay and Mrs. Rucker McCarty motored with Miss Tiffany last week to Athens when she gave a recital at Lucy Cobb institute.

Items of Social Interest

About Well-Known People. Mrs. H. P. Hermance and Miss Helena Hermance, of Toronto, Canada, are being cordially welcomed during their brief visit in Atlanta as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashcraft. Mrs. Hermance, who has always been keenly interested in the advancement of Oglethorpe university, and was last week made an honorary president for life of the woman's board, came with her daughter, all the way from Toronto to attend the first football game of the season, in which the Oglethorpe team look part, the game yesterday between Oglethorpe and Tech. Mrs. Hermance and Miss Hermance will return on Monday to Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Douglas have returned from a six months tour in Europe, and have gone into their new home on Peachtree road. Mrs. Douglas is one of Atlanta's pioneer and strongest club women, and many years chairman of finance of the Woman's club.

William G. Smith, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, who succeeds E. M. Williams as head of the American Express company in its southern department, has arrived in the city and is at home at the Georgian terrace. Mr. Williams left Thursday to join his family in New York, and he will go into business there.

Comer Howell and John S. Owens, Jr., of Atlanta, will sail from New York on the Aquitania on Tuesday, next, with a party of American boys who are entering Oxford university this month.

They will be in Hartford college, Oxford, England. Both were graduated from the University of Georgia last June.

Mrs. Archibald Davis Talks To Smith College Club.

To support the cause of education and to promote a desire for a genuine and more general acquaintance with the purpose of the Smith college club, which had its first fall meeting last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Albert Blanchard, on Gordon street.

The membership is made up of former Smith college students, whether or not they were graduates, and all members are asked to communicate with Mrs. Blanchard. At the meeting fifteen out of the twenty-one members were present. The feature of principal interest was a description by Mrs. Archibald Davis of the recent Smith college reunion she attended, which is the thirty-fifth at which she has assisted.

Those present were Mesdames Archibald Davis, Paul Gaylord, Frank H. Neely, Misses Sue Claffin, Margaret Culbertson, Ethel Allen, Alice Green, Dora Heyman, Mamie Branch Powers, Dorothy Paine, Constance Berry, Miss Glendinning and Miss Hale, of Agnes Scott; Miss May, of Fort McPherson.

Music Club to Begin Morning Musicals.

The first morning program of the Atlanta Music club season of 1921-22 will be presented Wednesday at 10:30 at the Georgian hall. Mrs. Charles Downman and Enrico Stabile will be the featured artists, and they will present the Greig sonata for piano and cello. The quality of musicianship possessed by these artists predicts a most interesting performance.

The music club also announces that while the sale of subscribing memberships closed yesterday, tickets for the concert series, times and club memberships may be had from Mrs. Rucker McCarty, 793 Peachtree street.

Florida Visitors In Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Price, of Miami, Fla., arrived in Atlanta yesterday and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Witham at their home on Peachtree road. They are motoring from North Carolina, where they have spent the summer, and are on route home.

Golden Wedding To Be Celebrated.

The golden wedding anniversary reception of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Alfred Carroll will be an event of social interest on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. M. Williams, on Peachtree road. The guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Beers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Beers, Miss Kate Carroll, Harold Beers, Jr., and Miss Julia Carroll Beers.

For Miss Hermance And Miss Smith.

Miss Helene Hermance, an attractive visitor, and Miss Ruth Smith, a charming bride-elect, were honor guests at the informal bridge-luncheon at which Miss Constance Carroll was hostess at her home on the Prado, in Ansley park, yesterday morning.

Throughout the apartments garden flowers were used to decorate the mantels, and following the game luncheon was served at the table and the dining room, which was lace-covered and adorned with a basket holding vari-colored flowers.

The honor guests were presented with French vanilla; the prize for top score was a book, and for consolation a deck of cards was given. Invited to meet Miss Hermance and Miss Smith were Misses Rebecca Ascherat, Edith Carpenter, Edith Coleman, Edna Horine, Lola Lam-

Miss Margaret Hallman Bride of Dr. Farrington

The marriage of Miss Margaret Hallman, daughter of Mrs. Addie F. Hallman, and Dr. Thomas Farrington, of Island, Miss., was solemnized Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother on Lombardy way, assembling the immediate families and a few intimate friends. Dr. Richard Orms Plinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The spacious living room, which was the scene of the wedding, was transformed into a bower of rich greenery, quantities of out flowers, stately palms and handsome potted plants being used. An impressive altar was formed of graceful ropes of smilax and against the green background stood in relief cathedral canopies holding burning white tapers. Tall white wicker floor baskets filled with Easter lilies were arranged on either side.

An orchestra rendered the musical program.

Bride and Groom.

Miss Susie Hallman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a becoming gown of dark blue Canton crepe, beautifully embroidered. Her hat was of violet-colored velvet and she carried a bouquet of opelia.

Luella Dougherty, of Valdosta, Ga., was bridesmaid.

People and Things of Interest to Women By Louise Dooly

Exhibits of Women's Work Rural Centers of Music At Southeastern Fair Developing in America

"Every inch of booth space in the women's department of the Southeastern fair has already been taken, and there are many applications which cannot be met. The exhibit of women's work will without doubt be the most extensive we have ever had."

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, general chairman of the women's department, thus describes the prospects for a great showing of the activities of the women of the Southeastern states at the annual fair at Lakewood which will be held this year in October.

"Women's specific interests at the fair will come under three main departments, and these will be headed by three women eminently qualified for these chairmanships. Mrs. Albert Thornton, who is chairman of public health nursing, Atlanta chapter, Red Cross, will again be in charge of the section of child welfare, which comes under the heads both of public health and child welfare."

"Mrs. E. W. More, who has had charge of the art exhibits since the organization of the fair association, will again head that department."

"Our only new chairman is Mrs. W. P. Anderson, chairman for plants and flowers. Her appointment, I feel already, was a most auspicious one, as she has organized her work in splendid form and has secured a class of exhibits which we have never before shown."

"The individual exhibitors are coming in rapidly. Applications indicate also that one of the best classes of exhibits will be that of clubs, these organizations both in Atlanta and many other cities, sending in collectively their hand-work and domestic science entries."

"Better Babies. The character of the work of the three departments is defined in brief interviews with the individual chairmen."

"Atlanta physicians and nurses have come generously to our aid for the better babies contest," declares Mrs. Thornton, chairman of that feature.

"The most important thing is to remind the mothers who entered their babies last year that the real value of the contest is both to themselves and to the general cause of child welfare, in so bringing back this year for comparison of the weights and measures and general conditions of last year and thus to find what progress has been made. The babies will also be awarded their prizes."

"Mrs. More, who has already contributed to this department an idea of the general character of this year's art exhibit, with a list of some of the most noteworthy exhibitors, is enthusiastic over the prospects."

"George Julian Zolnay, the distinguished sculptor and critic, on his visit in Atlanta the other day stated that America is positively the center of the world of art," said Mrs. More, "and that American artists are doing the greatest work that is being done anywhere."

"When I say, therefore, that the greatest of the American artists are sending their pictures to our fair, you will see that we are going to have an exhibition which could not be surpassed anywhere in quality. Other exhibitors have more pictures, but no finer personnel in the list of contributors."

"We hope to build up sales at the fair, too. Southern people can buy the finest paintings at the lowest prices, with less trouble and at much less expense than at the commercial galleries in the large cities."

"We sell pictures, naturally we can secure a greater interest among the leading artists, and the ending of their work to our exhibitions."

"Then, too, the fact that real artists—that is, those who are not content to paint that it is hard to get into the Southeastern fair exhibition is a great thing. It means that we have a real place, and that we stick to it. We accept absolutely none but original work—no copies—and are thus seeking to build up the standard of painting in this section. That we are succeeding is proven indisputably in the increasingly improved character of the local exhibits from year to year."

"A very ready response is being given me in the promotion of the exhibit of plants and flowers," said

Mrs. W. P. Anderson, who has been appointed chairman for that department, "and I believe the exhibit will reflect the greatest credit on a section which has climatic conditions ideal for the cultivation of the finest plants and flowers of the South."

"The commercial florists are showing a fine spirit of co-operation, and have come in with entries that promise one of the most beautiful exhibits the fair has ever had. They declare that they expect a strong rivalry from the women in this section who raise flowers, but they are eager and willing to compete."

"The fair association has provided better facilities than heretofore for watering and caring for the plants and there will be glass screens to save the plants from drafts of air from the pressure of crowds of people."

Interesting among the "atmospheric" developments which have followed upon the immigration to this country of most of the greatest teachers of music, and the newly formed custom of American students to "live at home," is the practice of these masters of the art of teaching of establishing themselves during the summer in some out of the way and therefore secluded spot where they can combine a healthful change from the city life of the musical season with continued teaching under practical warm weather auspices. Their pupils are invited to join them in these places, and the country refugees, a way is made by which the pupils may live comfortably with as little expense as possible and go on with their preparation for concert or opera or teaching or whatever may be their prospective career.

Acquires New Interest. Whitney Point, N. Y., provides such an instance. It used to be famous only as a center of the dairy industry, and it still holds that character, the Bordens having a plant there as well as the Jamens, and shipping trainloads of milk to New York and elsewhere every day.

Now Whitney Point has acquired another kind of interest. Miss Newcomb, pupil of Leschetitzky and an assistant in his teaching to that great teacher, has been living there and in the summer time her pupils follow her out of New York to form a little colony while they have their lessons and occasionally have the privilege of hearing her play.

Mrs. R. Wayne Wilson, a leading Atlanta teacher for many years, has just returned from a summer's study with Miss Newcomb and is enthusiastic over her experience.

Mrs. Wilson first knew Miss Newcomb in Vienna years ago when both were pupils of Leschetitzky, and Miss Newcomb also held the enviable position of assistant to the master.

"He intended Miss Newcomb as his successor," said Mrs. Wilson the other day in reminiscing about Vienna days. "I give you what I have never given to any other pupil," he would say when he would teach Miss Newcomb those pedagogic principles which made him one of the outstanding figures of his age in music.

"Because it is so well known that he did make Miss Newcomb the coadjutor of his theories, the following of which was responsible for more virtuosos than probably any other master plan, pedagogy has ever achieved, there is a tremendous interest in the book by Miss Newcomb which the Appletons will issue this fall—'Leschetitzky and His Method of Teaching.'"

Not Transcendental. Miss Newcomb prefers teaching to concert work, although last year she played with great success in concert, notably with the Detroit orchestra under Gabrilowitch, and the Chicago orchestra, under the baton of Whittier. She teaches only two hours each day, and in the evening she has classes, when the pupils are required to criticize each other. That it is not necessary even for an artist to be "transcendental" is illustrated in the case of Miss Newcomb, who is always courteous and kind, and does not limit a lesson to one hour if at the end of that time there is a special point to be elaborated upon. She is also most generous in her comments on the work of other artists.

"Once or twice a week she would play for us in the evenings and that was always a great treat. Her repertoire is marvelous. She has everything at her finger tips."

"She has pupils from every section of the country, notably the west and Canada, and that will mean that the teaching method of Leschetitzky will be given broad circulation."

Fanals of Mrs. Wilson have also Clark.

Mrs. Victor Cluis, of Atlanta, director of Volunteer Service, American Red Cross, who will take conspicuous part in the Red Cross national convention which will be held in Columbus this week—October 4-8.

A great picturesque feature of the convention, to be presented by Mrs. Cluis will impersonate one of the hand maidens of Humankind, these to be the dominant theme of the allegory.

Three thousand six hundred chapters will be represented at the convention, and among the personages of distinction in attendance will be President Harding, Field Marshal Lord Allenby, Mrs. August Belmont, Herbert Hoover, General Lejeune, Chaplain Duffy, Theodore Roosevelt, Dr. William A. Evans, Miss Mabel Boardman, Mrs. G. W. C. Dwyer and others.

The governor of Ohio, Harry L. Davis, has issued a proclamation extending his assistance and that of the executive department before and during the convention and urging a state-wide co-operation with its purposes.

"America's Obligation to Her Service Men and Women" will be the theme of the opening night's program, and every branch of the Cross activity will be illustrated and promoted in the week's plans.

The Heart of the World will be in Columbus for the days of the convention.

Harris will join Mrs. Perry in Mobile and spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam C. Watkins left Saturday for Atlantic City to attend the street railway convention which will be held at the Traymore hotel. From there they will go to New York and Philadelphia, for a stay of two weeks.

Miss Frances Roughton, of Macon, has returned home after the week with Miss Maggie Perry.

Miss Majorie James Cooper entertained a few friends Wednesday evening at a birthday anniversary dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Guber left Saturday for New York to spend several weeks with their son and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Guber.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore, of College Park, Ga., have returned from an extended trip in the west, visiting Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento, California; Ogden, Utah; Denver, Colo.; Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., and spent a few days with Mr. Moore's mother in Louisville, Ky.

A congenial party dining together were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bailey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gunter, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Tolbert, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Professor and Mrs. Simmons, Miss Ida Sewell, Mrs. Guy G. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Rhodes and daughters, Miss Harriet and Virginia Rhodes, will spend the winter at Colorado Springs, Miss Harriet Rhodes having entered the Colorado college for the fall term.

Mrs. George W. Forester, who has been visiting in Denver, Colo., will be the guest of Mrs. Ernest L. Rhodes in Colorado Springs before returning home.

Mrs. Mark Hightower is visiting her niece, Mrs. McAllister, at her home in Greenville, S. C., after spending several weeks in North Carolina. She will return to Atlanta on Wednesday.

Mrs. J. S. Fried and Miss Muriel Wood, of Lawrence, L. I., are at the Georgian Terrace, and a delightful entertainment is planned for their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McKee arrived yesterday from Lakewood, and will be at home for the winter at the Georgian Terrace.

Mrs. Clarence W. Harrison is convalescing at St. Joseph's infirmary, after a most critical illness of several weeks and a severe operation.

Woman's Club Will Teach Designing, Millinery, Cooking

Over a hundred women filled the art gallery of the Atlanta Woman's club Thursday and registered for the various Smith-Hughes classes which the home economics of the club is sponsoring for the third season. Mrs. Newton C. Wing is chairman of this department.

Many more telephoned but were told they must come to the club to register. In order that new classes could be formed to accommodate the numbers.

The following schedule of classes have been made: Class I in millinery (for those taking it for the first time) will be formed in two divisions in 1A division—meeting on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at the clubhouse and 1B division—meeting Wednesday and Saturday mornings at the same place. Class II, millinery (for those who have taken the course last year) meets: 1A division—Monday and Friday mornings and 1B division—Wednesday and Friday afternoons at the clubhouse. Chairman of millinery classes is Mrs. A. C. Plase, telephone, De-catur 258-W. The teacher is Mrs. M. Bailey, an experienced milliner. There are a few vacancies left in A division (beginners class, meeting Wednesday and Saturday) and in division 1B (advanced class—meets Wednesday and Friday afternoons).

Interest in Cooking.
Great interest has been shown in the cooking classes, which will be held in Girls' High school, through the kind interest taken in them by Miss Jessie Mease, the principal. The members of the cooking classes will have the use of the perfectly equipped domestic science department, which provides an individual table and gas burner, for each member of the class, and the best instruction possible, given by the head of the department, Miss Clara Lee Cone. These lessons are thoroughly scientific and up-to-date, and may be taken with profit by the experienced housewife. Classes in sewing are ever popular and were the first started by the home economics department three years ago. The classes this year will be given at the Girls' High school at the Commercial High, as formerly, and the teacher will be Miss Lulu Burch, a new teacher to the Woman's club classes, but with a splendid teaching reputation and very popular. This class will be particularly for beginners and should have a large enrollment, as few women wish to acknowledge they are utterly dependent upon others for their necessary sewing. A special feature of this class is that it offers opportunity to work on personal garments one wishes to make. All sorts of fancy stitchings and applied hand work will be taught in the sewing class, and that proved a very popular feature last year.

Grenada Club at Garber Hall.
An event which is arousing considerable interest among the younger club set is the opening dance of the Grenada club at Garber hall Wednesday evening, October 5. Murray Dixon, the president, wishes it to be known that this club's activities will consist chiefly of social and semi-monthly at Garber hall. The Bala-den-Goring orchestra of Jacksonville, Fla., will play for the opening. All the friends of the members of this club and the members of the other clubs are cordially invited. Others are requested to present invitation cards.

Writers' Club.
The Writers' club will hold their first meeting at Edison Hall, Monday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock. The purpose is to be a very important meeting and all members are urged to be present. At this time delegates will be appointed for the convention of the federated clubs of November.

Millinery Classes.
The millinery classes, both beginners and advanced, will start this week, beginning on Monday morning with division A of the advanced class. On Tuesday will come division A of the beginners class, and on Wednesday, in the afternoon, division B of the beginners class. In other classes, than the millinery will not commence until the week following.

Beginners in millinery will bring to the first meeting two yards of outing flannel, scissors, a spool of thread No. 40 or 50, needles, pins, thimble and a roll of hat wire (may be purchased at a ten-cent store). Buckram frames at $1. each will be sold at the class.

Members of advanced millinery classes will bring hat shape they already have or that they wish to remodel. A number of buckram frames will be on hand to select from. At this first meeting materials will be selected and amounts decided upon.

Class fees covering the course of ten lessons are only $2 for club members and $3 for non-members, always payable in advance. Anybody desiring to take these courses will please phone the respective chairman or Mrs. Norma Pool, West 557-J, the division chairman.

Ormeewood Park Social News.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ed DeNise had as their guests last week Mr. C. E. Hollis and son, Hugh Hollis, of Longview, Texas. Hugh Hollis will remain in Atlanta, having entered Georgia Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Eber Townsend announce the birth of a daughter to their home on Confederate avenue.

Miss Williams, of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Williams, of Greenville, S. C., have returned to their home after a visit to their sister, Mrs. C. G. Wells.

David Walker has returned to his home in Miami, Fla., after being the guest of his niece, Mrs. Marian Stephens.

Mrs. S. E. Ponder are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a little daughter at their home on Avondale avenue.

The members of the Mission Study class of Presbyterian university church held an all-day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. John L. Hudson.

Granger Hannell has returned from Asheville and will resume his studies at Emory university for the winter.

William Strange, of Rome, was the guest of his particular friends of Paul D. West. Mr. Strange will remain in Atlanta during the winter, having entered Emory university.

The Parent-Teacher association entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Andrews in honor of the teachers of Ormeewood school.

At Rich's--Where Things Happen in Atlanta!

Something's Going to Happen!

—There's a stillness in the air—
—High feeling of great expectancy—
—Thrill of impending good luck—
—Tip-toe and pink edge of great discovery—
—Pulsation and throb of high adventure—

Yes, Something IS Going to Happen!

—It's going to happen hard!
—We've done it again, only better.
—Remember that amazing Sale of Silk Hosiery last Spring? Who COULD forget it!
—We've beaten it!
—Very soon we shall tell you about the most amazing

Sale of Silk Hosiery

ever held in Dixie. A Leviathan of Sales. Enormous quantities. Extraordinary price. Finest qualities from the best of well-known makers.
—Keep your eyes glued to the papers.

Watch for It!

"I Made It Myself!" Stamped Bed Spreads with Bolsters, $3.95

—"Where DID you get that beautiful spread!" was the first thing Mrs. Brown said as she laid her hat on the guest room bed. "Why, I made it myself!" Mrs. Jones answered with a smile.
—And all day long the heart of Mrs. Jones sang a happy little song. She had tried to get something very pretty for her guest room without it costing so much—and then it was she found the stamped spreads in our Art Shop—and certainly she had succeeded! And then it took such a short while to do the work.

—There are more of them, so you may have one, too. Double bed spreads, stamped on a fine quality of unbleached domestic, to be embroidered in patch-work in floral designs. 100x90, complete with patches.

Pillow Cases, $1.29 Pair

—Cotton is steadily going up, but we were fortunate in making a purchase of pillow cases on the old low cost basis. They are regulation size, stamped in simple designs for embroidery on good, heavy pillow tubing.

Knitwear for the Early Autumn

—Knitwear is a most comfortable under apparel and it is a perfect foundation for the closely fitting outer apparel of today. It wears well, it washes well. You will find these items specially priced.

—Women's medium weight cotton vests with high neck and long sleeves, pants ankle length. Sizes 34 to 38. Regularly 75c, at 49c.

—Women's fine ribbed cotton union suits, with fitted knee, or wide knee, open style. Band top. All sizes, 40 to 44. At 85c.

—Women's fine ribbed cotton union suits with fitted knee. Band top. In sizes 34, 36 and 38. The price is 59c.

—Women's fine ribbed cotton vests, in extra sizes. White or pink. Well woven to last. The price is 39c.

These Excellent Corsets Are Sold at Rich's

—Once in a while someone says in a surprised manner—"Didn't know you sold C-B Corsets!" or Gossard or Lily of France, etc. Yes, madam, all these corsets are sold at Rich's, and furthermore, they are fitted by experienced, expert corsetiers.

—This corset selling of ours is, in reality, a service. The idea is that you may get a corset adapted to you, an individual corset, and we succeed.

Treo Girdles, $5 to $12.

Rengo Belts, $4 to $6

La Victor Corsets, $5 to $7.50

Regalite Corsets, $5 to $20

Lily of France, $5 to $16.50

Gossard, $3.25 to $25

C-B, $1.50 to $5

Thomson's Glove Fitting, $1.50 to $6.50.

In the Fall a School Girl's Fancy Lightly Turns to Jersey Jumper Dresses Special $4.98

—Why so reasonable? This is why! Our buyer now in New York was fortunate. It is a trick of hers, and one of the reasons why she works for Rich's is that she has that uncommon common sense in playing the lucky numbers—well, she found this special lot at a specially special price.

—Excellent wool Jersey—capable of withstanding the lively service of a girl—alive—of "tag," "many, many stars," "drop the handkerchief," and yet look dressy. —Not the least of its virtues is that it will readily shake chalk dust.

Jersey jumper dresses with sleeves and string belts. Navy, Copen, red and henna. Piped prettily and extremely demure with white linen Buster Brown collars. Sizes 8 to 12 at the exceptionally low price of $4.98.

—Worth more than $4.98—considerably more! The only drawback to the whole thing is, the number is limited.

In Our Baby Shop Infants' Long and Short Coats

—Little girls in blue fairly steal our hearts away in new Autumn coats of crepe de chine. While little boys in pink are atoms of dainty loveliness.

—The daintiest styles, the most exquisite materials for infant boys and girls and up to 2 years, is the standard of our Baby Department.

Silk Coats

—Of crepe de chine in white, pink and blue. Babyish yokes, shirred or embroidered. All silk lined, for infants, 6 months, 1 and 2-year-olds. Long and short. Priced from $9.95 to $17.50.

Wool Coats

—Of crepe, wool taffeta, cashmere, albatross and Bedford cord. White, long or short. Small or large collars. Some with belts, others hand-embroidered. Priced from $6.95 to $16.50.

Three Raes and a Tiger!

College Sweaters $8 to $12---Boys'

—Hello, old top, did you know Rich's is headquarters for college sweaters. Yes, sice, on the Main Floor!

—Boys of Georgia Tech, Tech High, Boys' High, Emory and Peacock can now find the correct color combinations and styles at a savings of $2 to $3 on each sweater.

—Go to see them! The buttoned coat styles are mighty good, but for me I like a slip-over with a small collar. You'll find what suits you best, though. Priced right—$8, $10 and $12.

Miss 2 to 6 Steps Out in Pantie Dresses, $1.25

—Pantie dresses are quite smart for the little maiden who is just 2 or 3 times 2. The dress is of chambray, and so are the separate bloomers. The skirt flares just a bit and is short enough to reveal the band knee of the bloomers, which, by the way, eliminate the necessity of a petticoat. Blue, pink, and green, braid trimmed. Bloomers have button-holed bands.

Metal Bands

95c Yd.

—4 to 12-inch metal bands. Black embroidered in gold, silver and copper. White with silver and gold, suitable for trimming evening dresses and dinner gowns. Values up to $3.

Sequin Bands,

$2.95 Yd.

—1 to 6-inch sequin bands. Black, white, opal, bronze, royal, jade and fuchsia. An exquisite trimming for your most becoming evening dress. $3.50 to $6.95 values.

Underwear of Voile and Crepe

—Voile and crepe underwear is a pleasant departure from the ever-present silk. A seemingly unlimited style choice in gowns, envelope chemise and bloomers in pink and white. Cut and stitched with precision, and marked at gratifyingly reasonable prices.

—At $1.19 striped voile envelope chemise. Strap styles in flesh and white.

—At $1.49 striped voile envelope chemise. Strap styles in flesh and white with embroidery spray across front.

—At $1.49 Windsor crepe gowns. Strictly tailored. Kimono sleeves. Flesh and white.

—At $1.98 figured Windsor crepe gowns. Floral patterns in pink, orchid and blue. Striped voile gowns in orchid, pink and white. Tailored styles.

—At 79c crepe bloomers. Rubber-run knee and waist. Flesh. Regular sizes.

—At 98c bloomers of batiste, aaten and crepe. Flesh and white. Regular sizes.

—At $1.50 crepe bloomers. Extra sizes with rubber-run knee and waist.

$20 French Made Hand Bags, $13.95

—Paris, while she may play in all gaiety and be frivolous and ultra-fashionable, works while she works! And the hand-made things that come from the fingers of the needle-woman of Paris are perfect—these beaded bags, for instance.

—Leave it to the French to blend the colors—to use the highest hues and the brightest shades—but harmonize them into a thing of rich beauty. The designs they follow in these beads are unique—and exquisite!

—There are some in solid black. Drawstring tops. Silk lined. Fitted with coin purse and mirror. They were specially bought by our Paris office and sent to us direct, hence the price is not $20, as would be the usual thing, but $13.95.

A Near Neighbor to Rich's, Called Paris, Sends These French Blouses

—To refresh the jaded and sated summer style-palate and rejuvenate wardrobes that they may carry-on into winter.

—They are exquisitely finished things. It is to be expected that such blouses would at times affect beads. But Paris draws a fine bead and her beaded blouses are different. These beads scintillate or they are somewhat somber after the manner of the Spanish under Moorish influence. An inspired designer has used cut steel beads in the medieval fashion, and yet in most unexpected ways. There are delicious overblouses and tuck-ins ever so delectable!

—A less bizarre but equally temperamental stroke brings jabot and ruffle front styles, with embroidery and hemstitching.

—Two groups that should have their names in the papers, so to speak, are:

—At $29.75 and $35 are beaded Georgette overblouses. Red, black and cut steel beads, threaded into imaginative designs. Short sleeves and round or "V" necks, with tie-back sashes. Navy, brown and black. Also navy and black models with tucks and hemstitching.

—At $5.75 to $29.75 are French voile and crepe de Chine overblouses and tuck-ins. Finished with that nicety expected in Paris things. Roll collars, jabots, ruffles, embroidery and hemstitching all vie for first selection. Short or long sleeves in pink, light blue, maize, orchid, flesh, rose and white.

Woolen Bulletin

—Tricotine, 54 inches wide, in blue, black and brown, is so highly desirable for Autumn wear that it won't last long at $3.49 yard.

—Tricotine, 52 inches wide. Navy, blue and black are the colors most in demand now. $2.95 yard.

—Tricotine, 52 inches wide. Navy, blue, brown and black, of exceptionally strong weave, at $3.95 yard.

—Coating, 56 inches wide. All the new wool coatings, for example, velvety, mousey, panvelaine, evora, gerona, marvella and amida in the latest colors, marabou, Byzantine, Volnay, Sorrento, Moroccan, black and navy. $10.95 to $15 yard.

Velvet and Corduroy

—Costume velvet, 36 inches wide. A beautiful quality in brown, black, navy, purple and gray. $1.95.

—Corduroy, .33 inches wide. All the new Autumn colors, ciel, brown, black, navy, light blue, green, purple, rose, jade, tan, taupe and white. 89c a yard.

"Cleaning Up" Odds of Silk Stockings At 50c Pr.

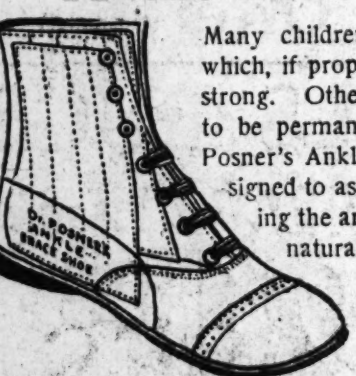

—Day after day we have been displaying silk stockings on the tables in our center aisle. Fingers upon fingers have touched them, handled them, and many pairs are left marked.

—Time after time we have sorted these damaged stockings out and put them in the big box labeled, "seconds." The box has been filled—almost to the point of overflowing.

—Tomorrow we are going to clear them away. There are thread silk stockings, semi-fashioned and full-fashioned, also a few glove silk nets. All colors and all sizes. Regularly $1.25 to $3—but cleared priced 50c a pair.

Georgia Tech Woman's Club.

The first meeting of the Georgia Tech Woman's club will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday, October 4, at the home of Mrs. William V. Skiles, of 308 Myrtle street.

Y. W. H. A. Dance.

An affair of interest will be the birthday celebration of the Young Women's Hebrew association, in the form of a Japanese dance at the Jewish Educational alliance, 20 Capitol avenue, on Wednesday evening, October 5, at 8:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be in costume of this charming Oriental country. Admission by card only.

Concert by St. Mark's Choir.

There will be a delightful concert given by St. Mark's choir under the direction of Mrs. Hoke, the organist, on Tuesday evening, October 5, at 8 o'clock, in the Sunday school room. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken for the benefit of circle No. 5. Everybody is invited.

Executive Board D. A. R. Chapter.

The executive board of Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., will meet Thursday morning, October 6, at 10:30 o'clock with Mrs. Charles A. Davis, chairman, 1125 Peachtree street.

Forget-Me-Not Club.

The seventh anniversary of the Forget-Me-Not club was recently celebrated at the home of Mrs. R. F. Knox, 60 Mansfield avenue. Mrs. Knox proved a most charming hostess, and the meeting was one of the most thoroughly enjoyed ever held by the club. An interesting program of music and readings, and a history of the club, read by Mrs. T. P. Lester, featured the meeting.

All the members took part in a most novel contest, and pretty prizes were awarded the winners. The home of Mrs. Knox was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants, and the color scheme of pink and white was carried out. Punch was served by Miss Georgia Knox from a huge bowl embedded in a great mass of flowers. The dining table, loaded with elegant refreshments, also held a birthday cake with seven candles, and the cutting of this cake was a most enjoyable feature.

Among the mothers of members who were present were Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Brown. Other invited guests were Mrs. M. L. Barnes, Mrs. Gordon Roberts, Mrs. C. F. Shepherd and Mrs. Jenkins. The club was also entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. E. Sams, at her home on Lake-wood avenue. An enjoyable contest featured this meeting, in which Mrs. W. O. Brown won the first prize. The invited guest was Mrs. Huls-ey Bray. Among the members present were Mrs. G. A. Thorn-ton, Mrs. E. P. Edwards, Mrs. H. C. Buchanan, Mrs. R. T. Kingston, Mrs. T. P. Lester, Mrs. W. O. Brown, Mrs. George Skinner, Mrs. C. C. Player, Mrs. Edgar Davis, Mrs. R. F. Knox, Mrs. S. D. Skinner, Mrs. W. M. Mitcham and Mrs. W. J. Miam. The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. S. D. Skinner.

Miss Adeline Hall entertained with a birthday party on her seventh anniversary Wednesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hall, in Clairmont avenue, Decatur.

The color scheme carried out in the decorations was pink and white. The centerpiece on the table was of French embroidery and clay lace with a silver vase of dahlias. The little hostess was gowned in ac-cordian plaid georgette with pink ribbons. Miss Alice M. Hicks, of Savannah, her aunt, for whom she was named, assisted with the serv-ing. The guests were Dorothy Ram-Loake, Cora Lee Royall, J. de White, Dorothy Smith, Nell Pattillo, Sarah Lillian Dean, Blanche Felton, Julia Dean, Sarah Strickland, Julia Hen-derson, Harriet Henderson, Caroline Ridley, Margaret E. Jey, Ruth Hun-nicut, Louise Honiker and Thomas Loake.

Club Women and Their Stand On the Defense of Moral Law

It was a kind of unintentional tribute to club women when a news writer, in his description of the scene which followed Thursday upon the dismissal of the charge of murder against Fatty Arbuckle and the substitution of the milder charge of manslaughter, stated that club women in the courtroom crowded around the comedian, patted him on the shoulder and congratulated him.

It was a tribute, in that the writer of the story, merely to make it more striking, picked out that element of American women who, on account of their traditionally conservative conduct, both as individuals and in organization, and the high principles in all things for which they stand, would be the class of women of whom the public would least expect such behavior as the Arbuckle trial story would fasten upon them.

The writer had some little evidence on which to hang his suggestion, in that the announcement had been made at the beginning of the trial that the clubs—a vague term which the casual too loosely attribute to any organization of women—had appointed a group of themselves to watch the trial in the interests of public decency and future action. Therefore, it was true that club women were present.

But when the press carried the after-statement that club women congratulated Arbuckle, a great protest must have gone up from club women all over the country.

Not for a moment could the club women of Georgia believe the report, but their indignation lay in the injustice of such accusations.

At once The Constitution, which represents through its official club page the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, sent through its club editor a telegram to the president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Aaron Schloss, of Berkeley, reciting what the news reports had stated, and asking if the California president could give The Constitution authority to contradict the statement.

The reply from Mrs. Schloss was prompt and emphatic: "Club women indignant at report. They did not congratulate Arbuckle."

As stated above, the accusation was an indirect tribute, but the club women resent a tribute so distorted. Their character of dignity and of high principles and the upholding of the moral law is very dear to them, and they would hasten to defend it.

In this reputation they have built up for the promotion of high standards of public sentiment lies much of their influence, and, therefore, they cherish it, alike for womanly pride and its usefulness.

On the same day which marked the statement by the California club women as to their stand in the Arbuckle matter, the press of the country carried a news story to the effect that one of the large film-producing corporations, with headquarters in New York, is going to include in its contracts with all actors and actresses a "morality clause," and this to bind the party of the "second part" to conduct himself or herself with due regard to the conventions.

Only public sentiment can change the character of public entertainments. And the kind of expression of public sentiment which can bring about the quickest results is an easy matter: it all lies in patronage of what is good in public entertainment, and the withdrawal of patronage from what is bad. The producers contend that they must be guided by the box office. Therefore, the way is clear.

Poetry Contest Rules Are Given By Mrs. T. C. Geise

Much interest is being shown throughout the state in the poetry contest being conducted by the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. Many poems have been submitted and letters of inquiry received by MRS. T. C. GEISE, chairwoman of the contest, is shown in the photograph above. She is the chairwoman of the contest, and is shown in the photograph above.

The chairman, Mrs. T. C. Geise, of Dawson, chairman of the department of fine arts, Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, who is conducting a poetry contest to be decided at the state convention.

In answer to questions concerning the contest, Mrs. Geise makes the following announcements:

"First, inasmuch as the object of the contest is primarily to create and stimulate poetry writing, poems entered should be written for the contest and may not be accepted if published prior to its entry."

"Second, the contest is open only to members of a federated club."

"Third, Poems should be submitted by the club to which the writer belongs. The prize will be awarded to the writer individually."

"Fourth, after prizes are announced rights to poems are released, returning same to writers, excepting prize poems, which will be read from the platform at the state convention and published in the club page of The Atlanta Constitution."

"Presidents of districts, presidents of city federations, presidents of all federated clubs, are urged to call attention to this interesting contest, but to become enthusiastic and boost it. A good suggestion is made that club presidents offer contest in local clubs for best poems to be offered in state contest."

Indian Woman Will Make Plea for Her People's Rights

Play-poets who saw "Strong Heart" some years ago with Robert Edeson in the role of the Indian youth who is sent by his own people to an eastern college for his education, and leads in football prowess as well as in scholarship, will remember with a smile the actress who played the role of the Indian girl, who is introduced to the world of the white man, and when she is introduced to the world of the white man, she is introduced to the world of the white man.

Cantilevers
The Shoes to Buy for Fall
When you select your footwear this season, will you buy the ordinary shoe and risk comfort and health; or will you change to sensible, efficient shoes that are good looking?
There's happiness in a good pair of shoes and as much damnation in a bad pair of shoes as in anything else of the same size except a vial of poison. The good shoe comforts your feet, eases your mind, invigorates your body, beautifies your disposition. The bad shoe can give you a nervous headache, a backache, a knee ache, beside many a foot ache; and the ultimate consequences may be serious enough to require long medical treatment.
Keep well and you will look well. Use good judgment when you decide on the type of shoes you will wear this fall. Give more thought to shoes than to any other article of your new apparel, because they can do you the most harm or the most good. Let us show you how we can straiten the Cantilever shoe, which has made so many women happy and will do as much for you. Its flexible arch, natural lines, offer you comfort, strength and ease. A Contrast—A Birthday Party—A Trip

Mrs. August Burgard, Macon, Director of Publicity, Georgia W. C. T. U.
NOW, LAST Wednesday my mother, 74 years of age; my son, just 21, and I went to the polls to vote for the first time. One hundred persons or more intermingled, and about the voting place—professional men and artisans, society leaders, housewives and business women.
There was a pleasant exchange of greetings between acquaintances and a lively banter among friends as we stood in line for our turn to perform this civic duty. Laughter was often heard, but no voice was raised in quarreling, indeed I neither saw nor heard any objection to the presence of women.
A cultured Christian gentleman, a leader in the Presbyterian church, whose office sought him, who did not solicit a vote nor make a campaign speech, but who in this formal statement not only urged cooperation and work from the citizens of Macon, but prayed to the Lord Jehovah. Hon. Luther Williams was chosen mayor. The people chose good men for aldermen.
Of unusual significance was the election of Mrs. Helen Shaw Harrold, a faithful mother, wife and homemaker, an intelligent Christian woman, a prohibitionist, prominent in club circles, of remarkable initiative and executive ability.
The evening following the election immense crowds, in which ladies and children moved freely, gathered to hear the victors announced officially and to join in the great celebration.
The crowd was hilarious but good-natured, no evidence of drinking, no bitter arguments or arrests.

When Macon Had 85 Saloons.
THEN, More than a dozen years ago, when Macon was cursed with sixty-five saloons, happened a visit to the city on election day. So great was the drunkenness, brawling, fights, offensive language and disgraceful scenes, in the day even, that only necessity caused the few ladies to appear on the business streets, although under the protection of a male relative. The jail was filled to overflowing, many beautiful voters were hauled home to distressed wives and mothers. A group of high school boys were led staggering to their homes.
The contrast between these two elections in the same city was a powerful tribute to the benefits of the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and to women's helpful activities, beginning in the home as center of interest, and enlarging the circumference to include the church, the school and the state—every institution which touches the home.
"Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet. Let us forget, lest we forget!"

COLUMBUS W. C. T. U. CELEBRATION.
In the elegant home of Mrs. J. B. Knight, Jr., in Columbus, on Thursday, the Theresa Griffin Woman's Christian Temperance union celebrated the thirty-eighth anniversary of its organization.
Attractive formal invitations in rhyme were issued and accepted by more than two hundred ladies, who declared the affair to be one of the most enjoyable ever given in that city of charming hospitality.
No less a personage than Grace Frances Willard, "America's best loved woman," organized this union. All through the intervening years it has worked to promote the common joy, and has grown to be the largest woman's organization in the city, and one of the most potent influences for good.
Of course no one attends a birthday party without carrying a gift. On this occasion the gifts of cash were placed in a cash register operated by Miss Mary Cotton.
Guests were greeted in the hall by the president, Mrs. S. T. Whitaker, and Mrs. T. D. Power, Mrs. J. E. Minter, Mrs. J. B. Huff, and Mrs. W. G. Griffin.
Miss M. Theresa Griffin, known and loved by white ribbons all over the state for whom the union is named, received in the parlor, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Watson, Mrs. J. E. Knight, Jr., Mrs. Columbus Roberts, Mrs. C. M. Trulock, Mrs. J. J. Gilbert, Mrs. Ed Roberts, Mrs. A. F. Berry, Mrs. Jesse Beard and Mrs. J. B. Griffin.
Everyone present brought a previously written good wish for Miss Griffin, which was placed in a prepared receptacle.
The entertainment committee, brated the thirty-eighth anniversary of its organization.

Learning Value of Organization

Knowledge among women of the value of organization is a thing of the past. It took the very keen far-seeing woman to see its strength as long as its achievements had to be measured by means; as long as the influence of organized sentiment was an instrument with which to get results.

Now, practically all women are coming under the banner of some organized group.

So rapid is the growth in appreciation of the value of organization that it may be said that it will bring women back into a realization of what they lose, even as individuals, when they forego the strengthening power of that best of all organized influences, the church.

Because there are so many women going into organization who are new to organization method it would seem that an occasional talk by members experienced in organization would not be amiss at organization meetings.

There might be pointed out, first, for instance, that in organization, the individual merges her interests with the whole body, and the interests of the body are paramount to those of any individual within it.

That in organization compromise is not only oftentimes essential, but that sometimes compromise accomplishes more in the long run than persistence in one's own convictions.

The woman who knows how to yield at the right time; how to bow gracefully to the will of the majority; is the woman who comes to be looked upon as the woman of judgment, the woman of wisdom.

Disension is contrary to the very spirit of organization. Where there is factionalism, there is division of effort. Division is directly contrary to the leading principle of organization, which is founded on the strength that lies in unity. Where there is division of effort, moreover, there is duplication, and where there is duplication there is confusion.

The best interests of the individual, of the minority group within an organization rests, therefore, on harmony with the majority. Every woman, every group, has the right, within parliamentary bounds, to use every faculty to convince the other side. But once the die is cast, the woman who is mistress of herself will yield with the best grace she can command.

To be a good sport is no mean virtue—in organization; in fact, it is one of the first things a woman should learn, and once learned, she will find it one of the greatest treasures she can hold to in her organization life.

President of State P.-T. A. Will Serve on Commission

Mrs. Charles M. Hilburn, of Macon, president of the state organization of Parent-Teacher associations, has accepted an appointment to serve on the women's commission of the Bankhead highway, and will speak through the associations and schools to interest the children throughout the state in the work of the commission, especially with regard to beautifying the highway and educating the people to the opportunity afforded thereby from a historical standpoint.

The highway is an open book to the children of Georgia, states Mrs. Hilburn, "from which they can learn about the plants and the birds and the trees and the history of their state and section when the memorials, lovely groves, monuments, etc., shall be in place. An interest in all good roads, which play such an important part in the progress of the country, is especially true in the rural or agricultural sections.

"The children should know that during the world war, before the highway was completed, it proved of inestimable value to the United States government as a military road. It passed at that time through thirteen of the army camps; and after the war the government made a survey of the highway, to learn of its future possibilities as a military road and as a great benefit to the citizenry. The highway begins at San Diego, and its advantages are considered so great that the city of San Diego has a committee from the association to extend the road to that point, where it will end, at the same spot on which the Lincoln highway ends.

It has now also been decided to extend the highway to Mexico, the Mexican government having appropriated forty million dollars to complete the highway to the Mexican border. The highway will go to Mexico City next February, upon special invitation of the Mexican government, to confer with officials regarding this project. The governors of the various states in Mexico through which this commission will pass will provide military escort.

State Street Club Holds Monthly Meeting

The initial meeting on Friday of the Parent-Teacher association of State Street school assembled a large number of both old and new patrons.

Unanimous endorsement was given the proposal to secure reduced car fares for school children set forth in a communication received from the president of the Forrest Avenue association.

Short and illuminating talks were made by each member of the group. On the general theme, "How the Home Can Help the School," a most timely subject for consideration at the threshold of a school year.

Emphasis was given to the importance of the quiet study room for the young students.

Mrs. W. M. Alorick's class had the largest number of mothers present.

During the "get acquainted" half hour, ice cream cones were served. Among those present were: Mrs. John H. Childress, Mrs. Richard E. Jones, Mrs. L. A. Crockett, Mrs. C. W. Bowers, Mrs. O. L. ## Food and Cookery Discussed By Miss Cone in Article

Miss Cone, head of the home department of the Georgia College of Education, has written an article on "Food and Cookery" for the October issue of the Georgia Parent-Teacher Journal.

What should a housekeeper gain from a study of foods and cookery? In addition to food selection and food combination, there is that most important study of food preparation. How much food is to be prepared? What is the best method of preparation? What is the best method of serving? What is the best method of cleaning up?

Get Rid of Fat Where it Shows

Do you realize that nothing but good substantial food and plenty of it will build muscular energy and that you must eat and eat heartily in order to maintain your strength?

Dieting weakens you and over-exercise tires you, because too much exercise retards the development of muscular energy and the latter consumes too much energy. That is why you find the old-fashioned method of fat reduction such a hardship. Why not get rid of your excess fat in the harmless, scientific, easy way by taking a harmless Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime? Marmola Prescription Tablets are prepared in exact accordance with the latest scientific knowledge and have been used by hundreds of persons in this country with wonderful success. Within short time you can be getting rid of two, three or four pounds of fat a week. No starvation diet, no strenuous exercise, no need to be uncomfortable and you can enjoy the food you like and want. Even after taking Marmola Prescription Tablets there will be no flabbiness or wrinkles remaining and you will feel 100% better.

Cocconut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

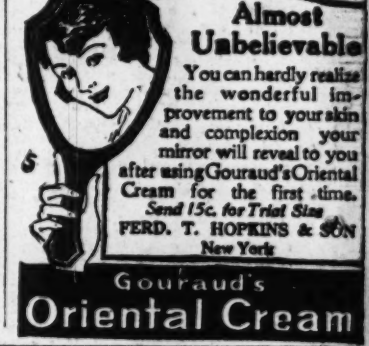

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multifield cocconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonful of Multifield will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multifield cocconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your drugist gives you Multifield—(adv.)

Constitution's $1,000 Snap-Shot Contest Entries Must Be In By Midnight, October 15

Only Twelve More Days Remain in which to Enter Big Picture Competition—A Page of Entries Are Reproduced in Today's Magazine Section.

The Constitution's competition for amateur pictures, in which 118 prizes, totaling $1,000, are being offered, will close October 15 at midnight. All pictures taken by amateurs since July 1, 1921, reaching The Constitution before this time will have an equal chance to win one of the prizes.

SAMPLE PICTURES IN MAGAZINE.

A page of the best pictures submitted to date are reproduced in The Constitution's new 24-page Magazine Section today. Turn to these pictures, and you can readily see that though some excellent pictures have been entered, you yet have a chance to win over the first prize.

If you feel that coaching would assist you in producing better pictures, drop into one of the stores whose names appear elsewhere on this page and they will gladly give you every assistance in making prize-winning pictures.

SEE THE PRIZES AT GLENN'S.

The Glenn Photo Stock company is showing many of the prizes that are to be awarded as soon after the close of the contest as possible. Those who are awarded prizes will be notified by mail and through The Constitution as soon as the judges make their decision.

Things You Should Know About the Picture Contest

$1,000.00 worth of Kodaks and Cameras will be awarded, as prizes for the best amateur pictures taken since July 1, 1921, and submitted according to contest requirements.

All pictures must be submitted in duplicate—one print and one enlargement, or two enlargements preferred—and mailed or delivered to the Contest Editor of The Constitution.

All amateurs, except employees of The Constitution, are eligible to enter as many pairs of pictures as desired.

Each pair of pictures must be accompanied by the information requested in "entry blank" found elsewhere on this page.

Contest closes at midnight, October 15, 1921, and prizes will be awarded as soon thereafter as possible.

No pictures will be returned under any circumstances.

Factors to be Considered by the Judges.

All photographs, to be eligible for prizes, must be clear and distinct. The prizes will be awarded according to: (1) Interest. (Will it interest others? Does it tell a story? Is it good to look at?) (2) Appropriateness of setting and composition. (Does the arrangement of the background and the objects produce a pleasing effect?) (3) The quality of the photography from a technical standpoint. (4) Novelty. (Is it different?)

Sale of Tickets For Veteran Aid To Open Monday

Contest is Arranged Between Children—"Experience" to Be Presented.

Sale of Howard theater tickets by members of the Confederate Veterans' aid will start on Monday. It was announced Saturday by Mrs. A. O. Woodward, chairman of the Confederate Veterans' aid of the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

These tickets will be sold at the regular price of $1.00, but will be sold at a liberal arrangement with the theater by which the ticket money will go for the assistance of Confederate veterans. They will be good at any performance and for any seat, except in the lower boxes, on October 10 to 15, inclusive. Each ticket will admit one adult, or may be exchanged at the box office for two children's admissions.

Members of the committee of which Mrs. Woodward is chairman will canvass office buildings throughout the city and will have subcommittees in the larger stores for the sale of the tickets.

A contest in which three prizes, totaling $120 in gold, will be awarded, has been arranged. The first prize, $100 in gold, will be awarded the boy or girl selling the largest number of tickets; the second prize, $40 in gold, will go to the boy or girl selling the next largest number, while the third prize, $20 in gold, will be given the boy or girl selling the third largest number of tickets.

Boys and girls who wish to enter the contest and who are properly identified may make arrangements by calling Mrs. Woodward at Main 3177-3.

"Experience," a picture play with a strong moral, will be presented at the Howard during the week instead of the film which was originally planned. It is a screening of the play by the same name which had such a tremendous run. It is spectacular, brilliant and colorful.

"Experience" is the silver sheet story of a boy who heard the call of pleasure and trod the road to destruction, and the girl who brought him back again to the path of love and happiness.

According to the arrangement made between all confederate organizations in Atlanta in forming the confederate society, all tickets must bear the name of Mrs. Woodward and must be indorsed by the name of John Ashley Jones for the confederate society.

Church Building Campaign Planned By Local Syrians

A systematic campaign for soliciting funds for the building of a church will be started this week by Atlanta Syrians of the Greek Orthodox faith, according to an announcement made Saturday by D. E. Nour, president of the Saint Elias Syrian Greek Orthodox society.

Site for the proposed church has already been purchased at 256 East Hunter street and $10,000 is needed for the building. To help raise this sum the Orthodox Syrians will during this week call on their friends in Atlanta for aid. Contributions can be mailed to the treasurer, Moses S. Dake, 256 Hunter street, or to the Atlanta National bank to the credit of Saint Elias Syrian Greek Orthodox society. Information regarding the campaign can be obtained by telephoning D. E. Nour, at Main 3588.

There are thirty families of Syrians in Atlanta who are affiliated with the Greek Orthodox church. They number between 150 and 200 persons. Arabic is their native language and they desire to build a church where services will be conducted in their mother tongue. As soon as the funds are raised and the church built, a priest will be engaged. Sunday schools started and other forms of religious activities engaged in.

Will Name Officers of School Teachers

Annual election of officers of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' association will take place at the meeting of that organization Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the Commercial High school. President E. Phillips, whose successor is to be elected, has been removed to another city.

Several teachers have been prominently mentioned for the place. Among them are Mrs. Annie Wise, principal of Commercial High, Miss Mary Baker, principal of Ivy Street school; W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High school, and Miss Myra Graves, director of physical training in the schools.

M'PHERSON OFFICER CALLED TO CAPITAL

Major Thomas L. Clear, of the inspector general's department of the army and now stationed at Fort McPherson, has been selected for appointment as treasurer of the United States shipping board, Emergency Fleet corporation, and will resign from the army to take up that work. It has been announced.

Major Clear served the U. S. F. for about one year during the war, rendering service in several counties in connection with the financial operations of the American forces. He resigned immediately upon his return to the United States, in September, 1919, and returned to the Panama Canal, from which he entered the regular establishment of the army less than a year ago.

Prior to this time Major Clear was in charge of the finance department of the Panama Canal, where he achieved a success in formulating and installing a commercial method for the financial operation of the Panama Canal with the shipping company.

Major Clear is a member of the East Lake Country club and the West End Golf club.

"Can't you lend me a 10 spot, old man?" remarked Black, who had chance to meet White at the corner. "I'm dead broke. Been writing stories for the magazines and haven't made a cent!" "What became of the $5,000 your uncle left you?" "I used that up for postage!"—Wayside Tales.

Atlanta Is Headquarters For Cavalry of State

Major J. O. Seamans Is Named to Command Central Unit—Served During World War.

A signal honor has been conferred upon Atlanta by the militia authorities of the state in making it the headquarters for the state for all the cavalry troops. The headquarters detachment is composed of four officers, a major, a captain and two lieutenants, and twenty-one enlisted men, out of which is formed an orderly section, a radio section and a wire section.

The United States government equips these headquarters with thirty-two horses—two for each officer.

Atlanta is not only fortunate in being selected as headquarters for the cavalry troops on account of the large amount of money which the government will spend here from year to year, but it will add to the city and county police force a reserve force of twenty-one mounted men and four officers who are subject to call under any circumstances, when they might be needed by the city or state.

Dr. J. O. Seamans has been selected to command the headquarters detachment, and has already been commissioned with the rank of major, cavalry, Georgia national guard. He has also been commissioned a major, cavalry, United States army reserve corps. Some years ago, Major Seamans joined the Governor's Horse guards as a private, and was promoted to corporal, then sergeant, lieutenant and captain, and was major of cavalry at the time troops were sent to the border, and at the time they were mustered into the national army.

Stationed at Gordon.

Major Seamans and his squadron of cavalry was stationed at and was in command of Camp Gordon during the course of its construction in 1911. When the camp was near completion, and the troops were mobilized, Major Seamans was relieved and ordered to march his squadron overland to Camp Wheeler, making the march by way of Fayetteville, Grifton, Barnsville and Foreyth, in all of which places his squadron camped en route, and were given a most enthusiastic reception and royally entertained by the citizens of those towns.

District 2, in charge of Commissioner A. J. Stitt, will meet at Moreland Avenue school, at corner of Euclid and Austin avenues.

District 3, in charge of Commissioner Arthur R. Dyer, will meet at Lee Street school, near the corner of Lee and Gordon streets.

District 4, in charge of Commissioner B. D. Edwards, will meet in the parish house at St. Phillips cathedral on Hunter street, near corner of Washington.

At these rallies scouts of the districts will be informed of the program which will be put into effect by the Atlanta council this season.

In addition plans will be laid for the district field meets, which every troop in Atlanta is expected to participate in. These field meets will be held the latter part of October.

During the past week the four district commissioners have each held conferences with their troop leaders in preparation for the rallies and plans are well made for the auspicious opening of the work of scouting.

At the rallies different troops will demonstrate phases of scouting in which they are proficient and ranking officers of the Atlanta council will speak to the scouts. It is planned to have every scout who is a member of any troop under the Atlanta council attend these rallies.

Arkwright Speech To Carmen Is Printed In Oct. 1 "Snap Shots"

The October 1 issue of Snap Shots, the house organ of the Georgia Railway and Power company, was out Saturday carrying pictures of many employees and stories about their vacations, marriages and children.

There is one story about a conductor who held a street car for a lady to get on. The story found that he and she were equally well known in the world; another wherein one of the employees describes her trip to Alaska.

The issue carries as a supplement the speech of President F. M. Arkwright, in a banquet of the seventeenth session of street car employees recently held in Atlanta.

In this speech, which he called "The Battle of Atlanta," Mr. Arkwright recalled the first battle of Atlanta when the federal troops sacked and burned the city.

He then spoke of the battle waged by the street car men against the unorganized association to gain a foothold here. This was the second battle of Atlanta.

Mr. Arkwright then challenged the street car men everywhere to battle again. In concluding his remarks, he said: "We are going to make the street railroad in Atlanta the best street railroad in the United States."

"I challenge you to battle again! This battle we will not fight as for. We'll fight as friends, as allies, as comrades in arms, side by side, to make the street railroad industry everywhere take the place it's entitled to have. We'll call it the third battle of Atlanta. You won't have to come to Atlanta to fight it. You can fight it where you are, because it's going to be a battle not in Atlanta, but a battle to excel Atlanta in street railway service and the spirit of co-operation between company and men."

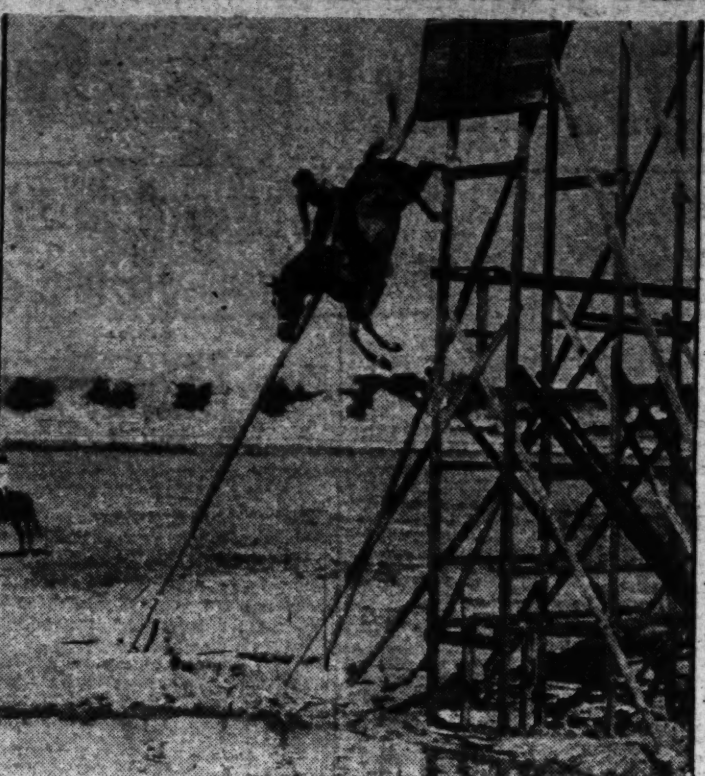

GEORGIAN IN CHINA WRITES FOR MEDAL Among the applications for victory medals that have been received at the marine corps headquarters in Atlanta is one from George W. Schultz, formerly of Waycross, Ga., but now residing in Peking, China. The letter took forty-five days to reach its destination.

Schultz received recommendation for valor in the battle of Chateau Thierry. He was a member of the famous fifth regiment of marines.

BLACK TO ADDRESS SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET Eugene R. Black will address the regular meeting of the Baptist Sunday school association Sunday afternoon at the Georgia Baptist Orphanage home in Hapeville. Children of the home will render musical selections. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Free Health School. The regular meeting of New Thought Free School of Health will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce building. Community singing will be held from 3:30 to 4 o'clock. The subject for discussion, "Constructive Co-operation," and will be led by Robert Bryan Harrison.

'Girl in Red' and Horse to Dive 40 Feet at Southeastern Fair

"Klatawah," Dr. Carver's famous diving horse, will headline the vaudeville program in front of the grandstand each afternoon and night at the Southeastern fair, October 13 to 22. Klatawah dives from a 40-foot platform with a girl on his back into a tank of water eight feet deep, as shown in the picture above.

Atlanta has seen many thrillers, mostly of a mechanical nature such as "looping the loop" in an auto, leaping the gap with bicycles and of late years astounding aviation stunts, but of all the many acts of this kind none has taken or produced a more sensational, picturesque and thrilling performance as does "the girl in red," who will ride Dr. Carver's wonder horse.

"Klatawah," when he dives off a 40-foot water tower into a tank of water only 8 feet deep as the feature attraction on the amusement program of the Southeastern fair October 13 to 22.

The well-known trainer and original of diving horses, Dr. W. Carver, with the vivacious and attractive Miss "Jack," known as "the Girl in Red," with their wonderful horse "Klatawah," will give their splendid exhibition every afternoon and night of the fair, starting down in front of the grandstand. Miss "Jack" gives a splendid exhibition of fancy diving and swimming in the opening of the performance.

Following her swimming performance Miss Jack ascends to the top of the diving tower and there awaits "Klatawah," as handsome a piece of horseflesh as Atlanta ever saw. He is turned loose by Dr. Carver at the foot of the long incline and up he goes until he passes the well-trained animal does not stop, but goes straight to the edge of the platform and there he pauses merely a second, adding a spine-chilling thrill to his already thrilling performance, then, without the slightest bit of coaxing, he does a most graceful dive.

The spectators get a glimpse of a pretty sensation as can be imagined, through the dark night, and as the horse has a great head known to display, with a pretty girl on his bare back clinging to his long mane. There is a splash and after a moment's silence the horse's nose comes to the surface, his head and then the girl, still on the noble animal's back.

The horse's reward is a lump of sugar. The girl is a big salary.

TRUSTEES ARE NAMED FOR NEW UNIVERSITY Twenty-three prominent citizens of nine states have been selected to constitute the board of trustees of the new Lanier university for the ensuing year. Nathan Bedford Forrest, secretary and general manager of the institution, announced Saturday. Several other members will be announced later.

Formal organization of the board will take place at its first meeting, which is to be held at an early date to prepare for the next year and arrange for the beginning of new buildings at Lanier about December 1.

The list made public by Secretary Forrest consists of John Glen Locke, M. D., physician of Denver; Robert A. Gunn, banker of Chicago; General A. B. Booth, adjutant general of the Confederate Veterans, New Orleans; Rev. A. D. Ellis, D. D., Episcopal clergyman, Beaumont, Texas; Thomas J. Shirley, chief of police, Birmingham; Judge W. W. Brandon, Tuscaloosa; C. L. Harrell, Columbus, Ohio; Arthur W. Abernethy, D. D., Cincinnati; Rev. W. J. Mahoney, D. D., Gulfport, Miss.; F. C. Handy, Raleigh, N. C.

Rev. A. W. Lamar, D. D., Ellijah Dr. Thomas M. Green, Chattanooga; William Joseph Simmons, Atlanta; A. T. Davis, sheriff of Fulton county; A. M. O. Wilson, Atlanta; Dr. Harry G. Montgomery, Atlanta; Paul S. Eldridge, Atlanta; Hon. Frank Hooper, Atlanta; Rev. Caleb A. Bell, Atlanta; Rev. Robert L. Reid, Atlanta; Nathan Bedford Forrest, Atlanta; Dr. Marion T. Benson, Atlanta.

SEVEN ATLANTANS NAMED RED CROSS MEET DELEGATES Credentials have been issued by the southern division of the American Red Cross to seven Atlanta people to attend the first national convention of the Red Cross to be held in Columbus, Ohio, from October 4 to 10.

Those selected to attend the convention are Eugene R. Black, League Drive, Harry L. Hopkins, Miss Loomis Logan, Miss Helen Galarath, Miss Jean Harrell and Miss Jane de Vreede.

The south is to be largely represented at this convention. Special trains will carry the delegates from Dixie to Columbus, where they will take an active part in the deliberations and the inspirational work of one of the greatest assemblages of thinkers and doers of world-wide reputation that this nation has known.

Atlanta Business of Dozier & Gay Paint Co. Bought by S. L. Dickey

Announcement has just been made by the Dozier & Gay Paint Co., on South Broad street, that its Atlanta branch house has been purchased by S. L. Dickey, well-known business man. It states that the Atlanta organization will be maintained practically as in the past, that the Dickey Paint company will handle the complete stocks of the Dozier & Gay lines, and assures patrons and friends of the same splendid service as in the past.

Besides Mr. Dickey, who will give his personal attention to the business, the same sales force will be continued. These are F. B. Arrington, C. L. Dickey and J. L. Aldred.

"Cyclone Mack" To Open Today At Tabernacle With a corps of choir and music directors and fresh from one of the greatest evangelistic meetings ever held in North Carolina, "Cyclone Mack" McLendon, famous evangelist and minister, arrived in Atlanta Saturday to open a four weeks' meeting at the Baptist Tabernacle, beginning at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

"Cyclone Mack's" real name is Rev. Baxter F. McLendon and his success as an evangelist in recent years has been the subject of nationwide comment. All preparations have been made by Dr. John W. Ham, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, for the four weeks' meeting.

The last meeting held by "Cyclone Mack" was at Spencer, N. C., and on the last day of the meeting there were more than 13,000 people present, according to Dr. Ham, who visited Spencer to hear the famous minister speak.

So great was the success of the Spencer meeting that arrangements have been completed for a trainload of Spencer people to attend the McLendon meeting in Atlanta on the third Sunday. A special train has been procured through the courtesy of the Southern railway, which carries its shops at Spencer, a village of the North Carolina people.

Arriving with the famous evangelist was J. H. Jones, chorist, who will have charge of the musical program. With the Tabernacle choir as a nucleus he already started work of training of the most attractive choir of the McLendon meetings. Mrs. Vera L. Goode is pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seibert are also members of the McLendon party. Mr. Seibert is a converted Jew and is a well-known wind worker, according to all reports received here.

The meeting will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. On week days the meetings will be held at 7:30 o'clock every night with the exception of Saturday night. The McLendon engagement is for four weeks.
